

Do You Feel Dressed Up in a Soft Collar?

"A great demand for a smart-looking, starched collar for men has developed as a result of the war."

This statement is a quotation from an article that appeared recently in a magazine that is an authority for men's wear in the United States.

As a nation, the war taught us neatness. Men learned the value of trim dress. The passing of the soft collar and the popularity of the starched is a result of that object lesson. For it is a fact that no single detail of apparel adds so much to a man's good appearance as a well-starched collar.

Our services are especially at your disposal for this item of your dress. You send us your collars—we deliver them perfectly laundered, lustrous, immaculate, smooth and pearly, with none of the rough "saw" edges of the old stand-up of the days gone by.

Play fair with yourself in your personal attire. Telephone us. Then wrap your bundle securely and our driver will call for it.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

Open from 9 to 12, 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 week days. Located one block south of the Army and Navy Center.

The stability of any country depends on the stability of its people: in the education of our people, libraries are essential. The enlarged program of the American Library Association, a program which promises to the people of our country library service equal to that which the Association enabled the Army and Navy to have in war time, is full of tremendous and vitally interesting promises. It points to a time when books will be freely accessible to every man, woman and child in America. To us, to whom books are so vital a necessity and so easy of access, it is almost unbelievable that there are about sixty millions of people in the United States who do not have access to public libraries. There are hundreds of blind people who may not read because the books are not accessible in type for them to use. The American Library Association plans to remedy this, among other things, by providing the type from which the books may be printed so that small libraries may buy them, and individuals may own them. To carry out this work which is already going on, many noted writers have given money to have their own books put into type in this way by the American Library Association. Among them are Mary Roberts Rhinehart, Irvin Cobb and Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews. Funds are greatly needed for this wonderful work and anyone who would like in this way to help the blind people to greater facilities in available books, can bring or send money to the Highland Park public library for that purpose and it will be forwarded to the American Library Association headquarters. The work was originally started for blind ex-service men, but has grown to great proportions because of the tremendous demand. The European headquarters of the former A. L. A. war service will be maintained as a library center for people of the United States in Paris. Funds for this are also urgently needed, and many people have given substantial financial aid, but more is needed. The father of our post, Allan Seager, has contributed 50,000 francs for this fine library, in memory of his son.

The story hours are held at the public library every Friday afternoon after school.
MARGARET RIDLON, Librarian.

FEDERAL Electric Washing Machines

A child can run one. For such is its mechanical perfection that all you have to do is to run in some water and soap, start the motor and then, not wrench and strain and scrub, but just look on. The machine does the rest. It solves troubles in securing laundresses.

Electricity necessary to operate the machine while doing a week's wash will cost about five cents for a family of six
