ANOTHER CITIZEN MAKES A GOOD SUGGESTION

It has been suggested to The Press that the flag pole and fountain at the head of the Central avenue park way be repainted and made more presentable.

These two civic features were presented to the city by Mr. W. P. White and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Would it not be in order to keep them in proper repair out of compliment to the donors? The fountain can easily be made usable by cleaning the bowl and turning on the water.

JUST OFF THE BAT

Do you remember the cyclone that passed over Illinois a few weeks ago, destroying more than a million dollars worth of homes, businesses and telephone property?

Elgin, Melrose Park, Wilmette, Joliet, Manhattan, Morris and others about that territory suffered considerably — alright.

There were some people in the community who stuck to the call of Duty, standing and sitting among broken glass, plaster and bricks, trying to bring succor to the stricken communities.

Telephone operators and plantmen worked like demons. Hours didn't count, either. But dismiss the loss of material, although it costs up, by the way, and just let us realize what the disturbance meant to the community at large and the shutting down of telephone facilities.

Everybody breathed more freely when all the telephone lines were restored and service resumed.

Are those girls and plantmen not to be paid equal wages, or more, for that matter, than in other channels of commerce?

It is a small item to each subscriber that makes up a living wage to these people who are of our own flesh and blood, live in the community, spend their money in the community and help keep the town going.

It is not all profit in the telephone business, by a long chalk. Wages eat up more than half of every subscriber's monthly bill, and if the telephone company can't afford to pay them, they go where they can earn it.

Telephone expenses have increased by hundreds of thousands of dollars but service is but a few cents a month more.

There is justice on the telephone side, justice to the workers as well as to those who have lent the public the money. Interest in the latter is a very small fraction in the big business of the industry. The bulk of the money earned in the telephone business circulates around your own town.

RAVINIA PARK

operas, it is fitting to give first place to the list of singers. It reads: Sopranos, Florence Easton, Edith Mason, Consuela de Castro, and Margery Maxwell; mezzo sopranos, Alice Gentle and Mary Kent; tenors, Charles Hackett, Morgan Kingston, Pilade Sinagra, and Giordano Paltrinieri; baritones, Antonio Scotti, Renato Zanelli, Millo Picco, Louis D'Angelo and Graham Marr; basses, Leon Rothier and Paolo Annan; conductors, Gennaro Papi and Richard Hageman, assisted by Giacomo Spadoni.

This list reads of course like a page from the Metropolitan prospectus, and assures the star worshipper a summer of content. Miss Easton, who is by no means unknown to Chicago opera patrons, comes with increased reluctance due to recent marked successes at the Metropolitan, where her Kundry in "Parsifal," her Butterfly, and her Rezia in "Oberon" have won her high critical and general approval. She will be at Ravinia throughout the ten weeks and will appear the opening night in the title role of "Tosca," playing opposite the Scarpia of Mr. Scotti.

Edith Mason, whose recent successes in Paris at the Opera Comique and at the Opera have brought her the prominence her voice and talents deserve, but which she could not win here in her native land, comes directly from Paris, solely for the Ravinia engagement. She will debut the second night of the season, singing Maubon in the Massenet opera, having as her colleague Charles Hackett, who as Des Grieux will then be heard for the first time in Chicago.

Miss Mason gave up a chance to sing in Buenos Aires for the summer in order to come to Ravinia. In a letter telling of her having been offered the South American engagement she adds the significant comment: "You see it is no drawback in Europe for me to be an American!" Would that the same could be said by singers here in the United States.

The coming of Charles Hackett will permit acquaintance with the work of an American tenor who, having won high position in Italy, was therefore acceptable in New York, and at the Metropolitan has in one year made for himself a place second only to that held by Mr. Caruso.

The new Soprano, Consuela de Castro, is Spanish, and has not yet been heard in the United States. She sang, however, in Mexico City last season with Ruffo and comes accredited with pronounced success.

New Operas Here
Of the operas promised four will be new to Ravinia and two new to Chicago. These are "Don Pasquale" and "La Sonnambula," in which Miss De Castro will sing principal roles, and "La Forza del Destino" and "Zaza," neither of which has been sung here.

The other of the twenty-nine works will be in French—"Mignon," "Martha," "Tales of Hoffman," "Carmen," "Thais," "Faust," "Manon," "Romeo and Juliet," and "Lakme"; and in Italian, "Traviata," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Rigoletto," "Aida," "Lucia," "Pagliacci," "Butterfly," "Tosca," "Jewels of the Madonna," "Boheme," "Secret of Suzanne," "Trovatore," "Barber of Seville," "Elixir of Love," "Love of Three Kings," and "L'Oracolo."

Announcement is also made that the transportation facilities to and from Ravinia will be better this season than they were last. The Northwestern road has restored its former schedule and a train will leave the Chicago station nightly at 7:30, reaching Ravinia just before the performance and returning immediately after it. The electric line also promises quicker and more ample schedule.

4 Minute Talks on QUALITY by L. D. ROBAR

The Fifth of a Series
Talks on the Question of Quality Bread Making

One of America's great food authorities says that bread should represent at least one-half or more than one-half of the food which children eat.

For this reason every mother should appreciate the important part that bread plays in developing the health of her children and should know whether or not the bread her children eat is of the highest quality money can buy.

I want you housewives of Highland Park to know that Federal Bread is a quality bread through and through. You can give it to your children with the assurance that it is a better baked bread and made from the Federal standard bread making formula, which calls for only the purest of ingredients.

I know that there is not a mother in town who would not pay a few pennies more for a quality loaf of bread. In times like these when the market prices of baking ingredients are so high, there is not a baker who can offer a standard quality loaf at old time prices, and must either sacrifice the size of the loaf or substitute for quality ingredients.

I do not need to appeal to you further about buying quality bread for your children. You are the best judge of what they should eat but I feel it my duty to tell you that Federal is a 100% quality bread.
