is "waiting for something to turn up." About all the exercise it gives is greater ability to wait some more.

The man who knows he needs a bank account but who "waits" until the time seems more opportune; who "waits" till this or that takes place, handicaps himself mightily in the battle of life.

Any time soon is a good time to open an account with this bank — today is especially good.

SUMMER TIME IN HIGHLAND PARK

These are the days for profitable idleness, when it is well, in the words of good gray poet, "to invite one's soul and loaf." Days full of sunshine and warmth which the wise transmute into health and strength, and lay up in store against the evil days to come, even as the ants and bees garner the riches of the summer against the storms of winter.

Now Highland Park is at its best with its wide lawns and shady trees, its deep ravines and winding roads, with its wide prospect eastward over the blue waters of Lake Michigan and westward over the Skokie marshes toward the summer sunsets.

There are few regions in the middle West so fortunate for situation and so favored by nature as the North Shore, and no suburban district anywhere in our country more distinguished for its comfortable homes and its great estates. Situated on the crest of the great terminal moraine that follows the western shore of the lake we are lifted high above the level of the waters and of the low lands beyond, and swept by every breeze that stirs. While the dwellers in the crowded city swelter in the heat the air of this favored region is fresh and full of energy and there are few days when the breath of the lake does not temper the heat of the too ardent sun.

We are at the very gateway of the second greatest city of America and all its advantages and opportunities are at our disposal at the cost of a journey of less than an hour by train or trolley or motor car, and yet we are so remote from its crowded, noisy streets that we have all the peace and quiet of the country with its clear air and open spaces.

There is the lake with its wide, sandy beaches, for bathing and the country clubs with their beautifully kept golf courses for those who want to forget the cares and distractions of business, and perhaps best of all, there is Ravinia Park at our very doors where during the summer one may enjoy the works of the greatest masters of music rendered by famous singers and by an orchestra which ranks with the most finished and artistic in America. It is hard to imagine a more delightful place than Ravinia of a summer evening with its broad sweep of lawn and its masses of bright blossoms, its stately trees and its winding paths, and over all the clear summer sky and as the darkness falls, the twinkling lights and gay lanterns of the pavilion open to the air and the evening breezes. Here night after night one may listen to the great operas sung by great artists and given with every perfect detail of costume and scenery to which metropolitan audiences are accustomed, and accompanied by an almost faultless orchestra.

Like many other fortunate people we do not fully appreciate our opportunities and advantages and it is only when we go away in summer to crowded resorts and to less favored regions that we realize what a summer paradise we have here at home.

JAZZ

Speaking of Ravinia Park and its music, we are reminded of a short article in a recent number of The Living Age in which the author describes in moving phrases, the horrors of the popular jazz music, "Screams, moans, crashes, cow bells and tin pans fought desperately with each other, and something like a tug boat siren cried ghastly at the night, and a booming bass drum carried one back to the kraals of Africa." It is the barbarous music of the jungle and suggests a cannibalistic orgy.

Is it not a curious comment on the times we are living in that it should be the popular music of the day?

There is no surer test of civilization than the ability to produce and to enjoy great music, and notwithstanding the low standards which have prevailed among us, Americans have shown themselves exceptionally sensitive to the influence of good music, as the history of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra abundantly shows. We can only hope that the present vulgarism will soon run their course and give place to higher standards of taste. The work which is being carried on in Ravinia Park is missionary work of the highest order and cannot fail ultimately to develop a desire for better things than the abominable and indecent clangor of jazz, and relegate it to the jungles of Africa and the cane brakes of Arkansas where it belongs.

The very best time to plant Evergreens is right now. It only takes from four to five days and root action begins. By November they are well established, if planted from August 15th to October 15th. We bought several blocks of fine specimen Evergreens. They sell as low as $2.50 for five foot pines.

We are long on Colorado Blue spruce, having contracted for a block, containing between 500 to 900 trees, ranging from 2 to 6 feet in height. They show the true steel blue color, always admired, and every one has been dug with a good ball of earth, balled and burlapped. Our clients always get the benefit of our wholesale buying.

Holland bulbs in a wide range of colors and genus have been bought in large quantities to lower the price for them. Since the fall planting for trees, shrubs, perennials and vines is the acknowledged best time on account of the fall and winter rains, we will have a full assortment of flowering shrubs and perennials on hand by October 15.

We will on request prepare a planting plan, do the actual planting at cost, and guarantee free replacement. Call or phone and our representative will call and give you a correct estimate. We are as ever at your service for good landscape gardening and more of it.

Yours respectfully,

O. C. DOERRIER, Landscape Architect, Forester, Mgr.

Our new WINNETKA BRANCH is conducted by John Ullian. Estimates will be furnished from the Highland Park office.

When a telephone is reported busy it means that somebody is already using the line with which you desire connection.

A busy telephone line is one of "life's little irritations." However reasonable we may be, we are inclined to resent the necessity of waiting until someone else finishes a leisurely conversation.

Not infrequently when a telephone is busy the line is in use by a child at home or some minor employe in an office who is taking advantage of the parents' or employers' absence to "visit" over the wire. Subscribers can help to improve their own service and that of all other subscribers by making reasonable rules governing the use of the service in their offices and homes.
