KEPT OUT OF WAR,
NOW SERVES COX

Publisher's Son Escaped Military Service Through Democratio
Nominee's Influence.

Young, able-bodied, rich, a strapping big fellow, who possessed all the physical equipment of an American soldier, save, evidently, heart, Robert P. Scripps was kept out of the war through Administration influences. He was exempted.

The local draft board of Butler County, O., rejected his plea and held that there was no valid claim for his exemption and that he should surely don a uniform and shoulder arms, but Secretary of War Baker's law partner, Tom Sldio, was employed to save the youthful slacker. Governor Cox took a hand in the case, and finally, by White House decree, he went scot free. His multi-millionaire father, E. W. Scripps, controlling owner of the Scripps League of Newspapers and the Newspaper Enterprise Association, a powerful combination, threatened to overthrow the Administration rather than permit either of his sons to answer the call of Uncle Sam.

Administration Exempts Slacker.
Having helped to re-elect Woodrow Wilson President on the issue, "He kept us out of war," the elder Scripps demanded that his sons be kept out of war. And the Administration kept them out.

Young Robert Scripps, who had never done any real newspaper work, was given the title of Assistant to the Publisher of the Scripps League of Newspapers to create an excuse for his exemption. Finally he was ordered home from Camp Sherman by Governor Cox, after he had been in uniform for ten days.

All these facts and more of an equally astounding and discreditable character were brought out by the Kenyon Senatorial Committee, which subpoenaed young Scripps to Washington to explain his activities in the present campaign.

Now Supporting Cox.
He is today editor in chief of the Scripps League of Newspapers and the Newspaper Enterprise Association and is putting out daily pink propaganda sheets of a lurid and sensational character in support of the candidacy of Governor Cox.

Samples of these sheets were submitted to the committee, and Senator Reed, Democrat, frankly denounced the propaganda as "rot" and manifested extreme impatience and disgust with the young man's loose talk about a "Senate oligarchy" and criticism of the Supreme Court.

Young Scripps, although he did not fight for his country in 1917-18, insisted that he was doing it all through love of country and in the "public interest," without any pay from the Democratic committee or thought of obligation for keeping him out of war.

The draft-dodging aspects of the case, as brought out at Washington, are not unlike those of young Bergdoll of Philadelphia, which resulted in a Federal prosecution for conspiracy to evade the draft.

Fifth Cousin Roosevelt devoted his speech at Providence, R. I., to a defense of eight years of Democratic administration. Six weeks is a very short time for doing much along that line.

The Cox slogan seems to be "Misrepresentation Without Relaxation."

103 YEARS YOUNG;
HE'S FOR HARDING

"If I should live to be another 100 years old I certainly would never vote for a member of the Democratic party for President or any other national office."

So declares "Grandpa" Albert Vogel, 103 years young, of Jeannette, Pa., who cast his first vote in a presidential election for Polk, voted for Abraham Lincoln and has voted the Republican ticket ever since. Next month he will vote for Harding and Coolidge.

"Tell the country I am for Harding and Coolidge and America first," says Mr. Vogel. "I want no Wilson League of Nations. President Wilson's autocracy and the wastefulness of those he gathered about him as his official family was to be expected. It has been a Democratic trait for years.

"Grandpa" Vogel takes a daily constitutional over streets near his home in Jeannette. Occasionally he preaches a sermon from one of the Western Pennsylvania churches with old time vigor. He started life as an assistant lamplighter in the Capitol grounds at Washington when he was fifteen years old. He often ran errands for members of Congress and can vividly recall the eloquence of Henry Clay and Daniel Webster and other famous statesmen of that period. He saw Andrew Jackson inaugurated in 1822. Later he became a Methodist minister

EDITORS PAY VISIT TO MARION STAR AND FIND A REAL PAPER.

"If President Harding is as big a success as Editor Harding he will go down in history in the Hall of Fame," writes J. Gabbert of Riverside, Cal., in an article just published on his return from Marion, where he visited Harding's paper.

"We found just the sort of a paper a future President might be expected to edit," says Mr. Gabbert, "and the visit to us came nearer to being an editorial conference than a political crusade."

"We found men working for Editor Harding who had been with him for periods varying from 20 to 35 years. We found that Editor Harding follows closely every detail incident to the publication of his paper. He knows what pay the helpers on the floor get. Just as he knows the amount he pays his manager. He can handle type like the rest of us, and it would keep my foreman busy to beat him on setting up a stick of 8-point type. He knows how to make up a paper like a veteran and he is just as much at home in the business office looking over the advertising accounts."

Below is an article taken from the Waukegan Daily Sun of Saturday, September 25th.

ALEX HEIN IS FIRST TO MAKE NEW PRICES HERE
Fall Stock Now Marked to Carry Pre-War Prices at the Alex Hein Store

his statements Mr. Hein took various articles of apparel — among them being women's silk hose, coats, suits and dresses — and compared the prevailing prices of the past few years with the prices at which they are marked for Fall. One particularly interesting item was a woman's fur trimmed suit marked to retail at $29.75, which is about $15 cheaper than last year's price. The reason for this marked lowering of prices toward a pre-war basis at the Alex-Hein Co. was explained by Mr. Hein who said that his recent trip to Europe delayed the purchasing of their Fall stock until a few weeks ago, at which time the new prices were being quoted, resulting in the saving of thousands of dollars on prices prevailing in July and early August when most merchants did their buying.

The article above tells an important and interesting story—

Hein's Prices Are Down!!

—a story of SERVICE—LEADERSHIP and ALERTNESS of a great store that should Interest the entire community.

PRICES!—that seemingly magic word is the basis of more thought and evokes more comment than any other one subject in the country today.

Prices were up — away up. Some people (among them not a few merchants) thought they were going to stay up or go higher. A very few merchants scattered over the U. S. thought prices had reached their peak and were ready for a drop, we were one of those very few.

Naturally we, as business men, vitally interested in the business well-being of the country as well as of our own individual community, bent every effort (actuated by purely business, not philanthropic motives), toward the lowering of the prices, as for instance witness our slogan of a vigorous advertising campaign of the past eight months—"In our drive for lower prices," a worth while slogan, indeed.

And now, fittingly, we are —

The First to Sell at Pre-War Prices

The Secret of our success — we are admittedly the largest retailers of women's and children's apparel in this community—has been our enormous volume of business together with our very rapid turn-over of stocks.

Because of the enormity of our operations and because we have — figuratively—our fingers on the pulse of the world's markets constantly, we know, often weeks in advance of forthcoming changes that to the ordinary merchant are only ripples on the surface or are entirely undiscernable. And so, naturally, too — the FINER and more serviceable things to wear — the CLASSICS in ready-to-wear — gravitate to this store as inevitably as the needle turns to the pole.

Signed, Alex. Hein
