SUGGESTS HIGHWOOD SCHOOLHOUSE BE SOLD

Would Have School Board Disposed of Old Building and Make Playground

This Highwood citizen is anxious to see some disposition made of the old school building in Highwood, and has written the following letter, suggesting that it be sold:

Editor, Highland Park Press.

I wish to call the attention of the taxpayers of Highwood to the old school house at the corner of Prairie avenue and High street. I believe that it should be sold to the highest bidder for wrecking, or sold in sections to be moved. As it is now, the building is fast going to destruction. The windows are broken, and the elements will in time destroy its marketable value. I would suggest that the school board talk this matter over, and come to some conclusion. The grounds could be fitted up for tennis courts and playgrounds for the children. The amount realized from the old building would go far towards keeping up the school grounds.

A Taxpayer.

Naturally the political campaign drags a little, as the politicians are holding on to their most damaging charges until about four days before election when it will be too late to answer them.
