When You Were a Baby

you had to toddle before you could walk, and you had to walk before you could run.

This principle of gradual development applies in most things. It's good to regard financial growths in the same light.

Start an Account in this institution with a small deposit if necessary and consider that your first "toddling" step in Saving.

You will find yourself "walking" easily, and before you know it you will be in the "running".

THE THANKFUL HEART

Thanksgiving day is one of the most significant festivals of the entire year, but one whose real meaning and purpose is often overlooked. To many people it is little more than an occasion for stuffing themselves with roast turkey and pumpkin pie, and perhaps for listening to a spread eagle oration on our national greatness and a vainglorious boasting of our national prosperity, considerations which tend chiefly to conceit and priggishness and a state of mind quite different to that spirit of thankfulness which brings peace to the soul and sanity and poise to the nation.

The thankful heart finds its blessings everywhere and makes the most of them. It is grateful for the good in human nature and quick to recognize it, and seeks to extend that good by creating an atmosphere of cheerfulness and good will.

We have read of a man who in a disgruntled mood, said to another "I could make a better world than this myself!" And his friend answered, "Jim, that's just what we are here for, let's make it better." The thankful heart is always trying to make the world better.

No greedy man is ever thankful, he is too busy getting all he can to say "Thank you." And no thankful man is ever greedy, the two tempers are mutually exclusive.

Nations, like individuals, have their characteristic tempers and mental habits, and we can wish for America no greater good than that it should acquire the spirit of thankfulness and cheerful kindness.

There has been among us recently too much suspicion and distrust and hate, too much class consciousness, too much greedy profiteering, these are the things which bring unhappiness.

If only the lesson of Thanksgiving could be learned and its spirit cultivated a new day would dawn and the world would soon become a safer and happier place to live in.

THE PROMISE OF THE NEW DAY

A hundred years ago a small group of crowned autocrats sat about a table and signed a treaty which came to be known as the Holy Alliance. The document began with the invocation "In the name of the most Holy and Indivisible Trinity" and was full of pious phrases and unctuous sentiments. It declared the purpose of the signers to be to uphold the principles of the Christian religion and to extend fraternity and affection among all men.

This was in 1815, when Europe was yet staggering from the effect of the Napoleonic wars and only three months after Waterloo. The intention of the signers was to reestablish autocratic rule on a firm basis and to quiet the existing unrest among the nations. The history of the Nineteenth Century with its wars and revolutions is a sufficient commentary upon this conspiracy against popular liberties.

A week ago the representatives of forty-one nations assembled in Geneva and organized the first assembly of the League of Nations. Great changes have taken place in the hundred years that separate these two assemblies. Then a group of monarchs plotted to maintain their personal rule, now the chosen representatives of the world's free peoples gather to plan for their common welfare.

United civilization undertakes the enormous task of making great wars forever impossible simply by providing the machinery for bringing together the nations and constituting a tribunal which shall settle their differences.

Mutual distrust and misunderstanding is the fruitful cause of war, and the first step toward abolishing it is to get people together upon a basis of international fellowship so that they may settle their differences in a sensible and civilized fashion.

America has no representatives at this historic conference, which we believe, marks the dawn of a new day for civilization. Along with Germany and Turkey and Mexico she waits outside the doors of the League.

It is a humiliating situation for those of us who are jealous for our country's honor and who "seek peace and ensue it", but it is a situation from which we have faith to believe the conscience and good sense of our fellow countrymen will soon rescue us.

"Standard" SPATS

A glance at her feet can very soon make a woman feel "out of place." But the glances are glances of admiration when her ankles are properly and trimly clad in the proper style of Standard Spats—the Standard "Trimline" for high heeled street shoes and the Standard "Sport" Spat (shown above) for low heeled sport shoes. We show both styles in the exclusive "Rautex" fabrics and all fashionable shades.

INFANT LEFT AT ROSE HOME IS ONE OF "PEAR"

When Forrest Rose returned to his home Sunday night at one-thirty, he was amazed to find on the doorsteps a basket carefully covered. Consternation filled the youth and feeling sorry to think any one would desert an infant he carefully carried the basket into the kitchen, cautiously uncovered, it and to his surprise the child turned out to be a basket of pears.

THE OPEN ROAD

The Bureau of Public Roads has arranged with the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois to keep their main trunk roads free from snow and open all winter. In some of the States snow fences will be placed for the winter 50 feet from the highway, to stop the snow from drifting.
