YOUR SAVINGS GROW

They Help When Misfortune Comes and When Opportunity Knocks.

By EDGAR TAYLOR WHELOCK. (Copyright, 1921, American Press League.)
For wage earners, professional people with moderate incomes and persons drawing small salaries as clerks, accountants, etc., savings banks offer the only safe means by which funds may be accumulated to meet emergencies or take advantage of opportunities.

The Mission of Savings Banks.
It is to encourage thrift and frugality that savings banks are established. In case of accident, sickness or death in the family, a savings account is indispensable. Also such an account may become available as a first payment on a home or an interest in a business venture which promises to be profitable.

For instance: By putting aside 54 cents each day a person can accumulate $10 each month; by depositing this amount in a savings bank monthly, at the end of five years the depositor will have accumulated $647.63.

At any time during the five years after $100 or more has been saved the depositor may convert his savings into dividend-paying stocks or interest-bearing bonds and thereby double the interest rate.

Not a Permanent Investment.
It is not intended that savings accounts shall be considered as permanent investments. There are industrial bonds and stocks of approved value always on sale which pay from 6 to 7 per cent. In case of necessity these securities may be used as collateral when applying for loans at your bank, or they can be sold outright at any time, as there is always a market for them.

No bonds or stocks should ever be purchased by a man of limited capital who cannot afford to take a chance without asking advice from an experienced, trustworthy banker, or an established, responsible brokerage house. They have a complete record of the history and financial standing of every corporation in the country offering securities for sale and they are in a position to protect investors from Blue Sky swindlers.

Beware of Irresponsible Stock Salesmen.
Too much importance cannot be placed on this fact. Several years ago the federal government issued a statement to the effect that each year more than THREE HUNDRED MILLIONS OF DOLLARS are collected annually in this country by irresponsible operators through the sale of fraudulent stocks. Practically all of this money comes out of the pockets of poor people who cannot afford to lose it.

A SERIOUS SITUATION

The American People Must Solve Their Housing Problem by Saving.

By EDGAR TAYLOR WHELOCK. (Copyright, 1921, American Press League.)
A news report printed the morning this is written announces that the senate committee on "reconstruction and production," of which Senator W. M. Calder of New York is chairman, gives especial attention to the housing problem. The report says the committee regards the situation as serious and believes "effective measures for relief must be taken at once, and that already the health and morals of persons living in large centers are affected."

How We Met Serious Situations.
Do you remember how "serious situations" were met during the war? Belgium and northern France were invaded by hostile armies and the people of those territories were in danger of starvation. Great Britain, France and Italy must have food.

Then came our own entry into the war and money must be raised to send an army across the ocean 3,000 miles; to arm, feed and clothe that army and keep it supplied with munitions. Surely, there were serious situations aplenty then.

An appeal was sent out to the American people to save—and they saved. In other countries citizens were put on food rations; in this country the saving was voluntary. With the exception of sugar and flour Americans could buy all they wanted and enough of those articles was permitted to meet all reasonable requirements.

Now Comes the Housing Problem.
And Americans did the world for years; Americans furnished money to raise, arm and equip an army of more than three million men and send them across the water; America loaned the allies something like ten billions of dollars.

Now comes a housing problem that is also pronounced serious and congress is considering taking steps to find a solution.

Same Old Solution—Save.
The American people must attend to the job themselves. They must save, as they did during the war period, and build homes. They must organize by committees for this purpose. It is not laws that are required, but foundations, walls and roofs—houses. Laws did not feed the allies and win the war. It was the savings of the people that did it.

There are ways in which individuals may use their savings in buying homes; any banker will furnish information as to how this can be done; all that is required is a steady occupation and a will to save. The rest is easy.

GETS INSIDE "DOPE" ON BUSINESS AFFAIRS

E. G. Brochu Returns to Winnetka from Furnace Company Service and Sales School

E. G. Brochu, of Winnetka, Holland Furnace company branch manager for this vicinity, who returned recently from the Service and Sales school at the company's general offices, Holland, Mich., makes an interesting report of conditions as the various branch managers find them throughout the Central West. Mr. Brochu's report follows:

"One of the most encouraging signs for the future, as our Company views it, is the almost unprecedented interest in better living conditions—in cheerier, cozier homes. As a basis for hopefulness the good home is looked upon as the stabilizer or balance-wheel of the nation, and what could better signify the progress of humanity than the Home?"

We are fortunate that our work keeps us in constant touch with the intelligent and dependable people who really love their homes, and it is these very people who are making definite plans now for home improvements or new homes. Nearly all of our branches are sending out the same good news,—that prospects for business are brighter than ever before."

Building and home improving have been retarded for so long that not only is every city short of homes, but the homes that we have can all be brightened up, made cozier, or more convenient. People everywhere are realizing more and more that it is today that they are living, and that Tomorrow depends almost wholly on how they live today.

At our general offices in Holland the splendid spirit of optimism reigns supreme. Our factories are operating full capacity, and more efficiently than ever, so that perhaps, for once, we may be in a position to supply the ever-increasing demand for the Holland Warm-Air Circulation System. With the standards of Holland Service reaching nearer and nearer to the goal of perfection, it is only to be expected that our entire organization should enjoy a keen satisfaction in the job of helping to Make Houses into Homes."

CORPORATIONS MUST REPORT BEFORE FEB. 28

Secretary of State Emerson Warns Firms Not to Be Late With Reports

Springfield.—An examination of the records of the Corporation Department in the office of Louis L. Emerson, Secretary of State, discloses the fact that many corporations required to file annual report before February 28th or suffer severe penalties, have not done so yet.

Under the provisions of the new Corporation Act every corporation other than banks, insurance companies and corporations organized not for pecuniary profit, must file in the office of the Secretary of State, during the month of February each year, an annual report, giving the names and addresses of the officers and directors, and such information as is necessary for the Secretary of State to determine the amount of franchise tax due from them in July.

These reports cannot be accepted by the Secretary of State after February 28th, without the collection of penalties due under the Statute, which penalty cannot be less than $21, and the amount thereof depends upon the capital stock of the delinquent corporation.

For instance, last year one of the leading railroad companies in the state was three days late in filing annual report and suffered a penalty of $135.00.

From a statement given out by Alvin C. Margrave, in charge of the Corporation Department, it appears that delinquencies are due largely to the fact that corporations receive their
