MILK IMPORTANT ITEM IN DIET HINTS FOR CHILDREN

A good breakfast to start them off—milk, corn-meal mush, apple sauce. It makes them fit for school and fit for play, say home economics specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Milk, and plenty of it, makes them grow—a quart each day; if possible, put it on their cereal, and in their cups. Make it into soups, puddings, or custards for them.

Whole milk is best, of course, but skim milk is good if there is a little butter in their meals. Cottage cheese is good, too.

No coffee, or tea—not even a taste. Leave them for the grownups. Milk, cocoa, not too strong, and fruit juices are the drinks for children, and plenty of water always.

Fruit they enjoy, and they need it, too—baked apples, apple sauce, thoroughly ripe bananas, prunes, oranges, etc. Give them vegetables, fresh or canned. Plenty of fruits and vegetables tend to prevent constipation. Use proper food and do not depend upon laxatives. The youngsters can't be well unless the bowels move regularly. Don't let them hurry off in the morning without attending to this duty.

Other foods a child needs: Good bread, whole-wheat bread, corn bread, well-cooked oatmeal, corn meal, and rice, are all excellent for children. They help make strong boys and girls. Fats they must have, too. None is better than butter. Besides the butter on their bread, do not overlook the fat on meats, or in gravies and other food. An egg is good, too, or they may have a little meat or fish, but they do not need much.

Sweets are good for them—the right ones at the right time. Dates, stewed fruits, simple puddings, and sugar cookies are especially good. Give sweets at meal times.

Between meals let them have bread and butter, a cracker or fruit. They won't spoil the appetite and sweets will.

START PLANNING FOR PAGEANT OF PROGRESS

WILL BE HELD IN CHICAGO

Expect Millions of Visitors To Attend Monster Exhibition July 30 To August 14

Millions of visitors are expected to be attracted to Chicago this summer as a result of the interest already displayed in the Pageant of Progress Exposition, to be held on Chicago's $5,000,000 Municipal Pier July 30 to August 14. It will be the greatest event in Chicago since the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893.

The idea of the pageant was conceived by Mayor William Hale Thompson. At first he contemplated an exposition of the products manufactured and distributed in Chicago, with the aim of stimulating business, advertising Chicago as a world market, and giving employment to thousands of men and preventing a bread line.

This idea he submitted to a group of representative Chicago business men. Their response was instantaneous and enthusiastic. It was given publicity. The response from business men in general was as enthusiastic as that of the first small group, and the mayor said:

"The idea is good, but we haven't taken in enough territory. Let's include the whole Middle West, the territory from which Chicago draws."

Governors of twenty states were invited to send representatives to a dinner given at the Hotel LaSalle by the Hotel Men's Association a week ago. A dozen were represented and promised to co-operate. All lines of industry were invited to be represented. More than 600 business and professional men responded, and the enthusiasm was so marked that the mayor said again:

"We must expand again. Let us take in the whole country," and that is now being done. Inquiries have already been received from every large city in America, and the Pageant of Progress Exposition will present exhibits showing the progress made in every important industry and business for many decades.

For exhibition purposes the Municipal Pier, extending into the lake more than 3,000 feet, has been divided into sixteen sections, allotted to various industries. A chairman of each section has been named, and is now busy distributing the space among exhibitors. As an indication of the interest that already has been created, the building and material men held a luncheon at the Hotel LaSalle Wednesday, March 2, and after a twenty-minute talk by Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner, oversubscribed the section allotted to them by several spaces.

David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois, has accepted the chairmanship of the educational section, and is not only preparing an exhibit showing the great strides education has made, but is naming sub-committees to co-operate with each other section, to show manufacturers and business men how they can make their exhibits generally educational as well as informative about their own businesses.

Clothing manufacturers will exhibit the style developments of a century; a transportation exhibit will trace progress from the days of the two-wheeler or cart to the modern motor car and aeroplane; and machinery, leather, furniture and other manufacturers, the packers, the dairy interests and hundreds of other lines will be represented.

John Wahl, vice-president of the Wahl Manufacturing company, has taken a large space and will set up a miniature plant which will manufacture Eversharp pencils in full view of the crowds. He has also purchased 35,000 tickets and will send one to each of his agents. Dr. Robertson, who is in charge of the ticket distribution has promised to sell a million tickets before the doors are opened.

Although the Pageant of Progress Exposition is designed primarily as a business exposition, plans are being made to present an unrivaled program of amusement and entertainment. Athletic sports both on land and water, an Indian village, bands and groups of singers, and naval maneuvers by the naval militia of all the lake states are among the entertainment features already being arranged, and many others will be added.

The American people are sending over $33,000,000 to help the starving people of Europe, but they are not contributing a cent to feed the federal office seekers.

According to the book agents, all you have to pay for an illustrated history of the war is $2.00, and the fact that you have to put up $3.38 a week for 20 weeks is of course a negligible consideration.

A lot of the people who are hollering to have houses built, are not saving a cent to help build them.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

The doubter who questions the value of advertising will find an infinity of proofs of its effectiveness, if he will study business history. For instance—

An Atlanta soft drink concern increased its assets $1,370,000 last year by advertising. It originally had only $50,000 capital.

An automobile corporation reports increased sales of $18,000,000 last year due to advertising.

A cereal company reports a gain in gross earning of $1,356,972, in two years, due to advertising.

A food producing company which reduced its advertising last year, shows profits dropped 40 per cent.

Human nature is just the same in all its relations, whether in the purchases made of these great concerns, or in those made of the ordinary retail store. If the big concern can get people to send across the country to buy its product, known only to them through publicity work, surely any store can go on to much larger sales, by telling its home folks and its neighbors what it has to offer.

PROGRESS OF MINING IN ALASKA

To provide fuel for the use of the Alaskan Engineering commission, coal mining was continued in 1919 in the Matanuska field, Alaska, on about the same scale as in previous years. Near this field and also tributary to the Government railroad, is the Willow Creek, gold district, where large auriferous lodes are being exploited. These mining developments are described in a pamphlet by Theodore Chapin entitled "Mining in the Matanuska Coal Fields and the Willow Creek District, Alaska," just issued by the U. S. Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, as Bulletin 714-D.

COPPER MINING IN THE CHITINA VALLEY, ALASKA

The copper mines of the Chitina Valley are the largest and richest thus far developed in Alaska. Their successful development has been made possible by the completion of the Copper River & Northwestern railroad, which affords transportation to tidewater. The recent mining progress in this district is shown in a report entitled "Mining in the Chitina Valley, Alaska," by F. H. Moffit, issued by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, as Bulletin 714-C.

School pupils deny that they are not interested in geography, as the book of maps is a fine thing to put up between them and the teacher.

"That Entrancing Washer"

That's the way it's designated by the heroine of a certain recent popular story.

The male partner in the domestic firm who generally is called on to extend his approval to its purchase probably won't use that feminine expression, but he will see that the machine knows how to perform its job.

Here's an item for said male partner: The saving made in the wages of a laundress by the machine will pay for it in less than a year.
