Often the taking of such an inventory shows clearly that too little fire insurance is carried.

EASTER

We cannot think of Easter as coming at any other time than in the spring, when the yearly miracle of nature's resurrection is manifesting itself, when the buds are swelling and the grass is growing green again, and the tender shoots are pushing up through the earth to the sunshine, and the birds are coming back from the south and are filling the air with their songs of rejoicing.

Easter is rightly called the Queen of Festivals, for it is the festival of life and light and immortality, and it has been kept at this season, under this name or some other, by the men of every religion since the earliest dawn of civilization.

The name Easter, like the names of the days of the week, is a survival from the old Teutonic mythology and is derived from "Eostre," the Anglo-Saxon goddess of spring to whom the month answering to our April was dedicated.

The festival is of very ancient institution and has from the first been the chief of Christian holy days because it commemorates the triumph of Christ over death and the assurance of personal immortality, which is a doctrine central and essential to the Christian religion.

The particular event which Easter commemorates, the resurrection of Christ, is one which has been vehemently attacked and stoutly defended, but the observance of the day is not affected by the argument but is so deep rooted in human nature that it is unlikely ever to be forgotten, and so long as men crave life after death they will keep Easter.

Whatever may be said about miracles in general and this miracle in particular it is plain that something happened on the first Easter day which is hard to explain if Christ did not rise from the dead. It is something which turned the despair of the disciples into rejoicing and their timidity into boldness.

The Christian Church was founded upon the doctrine of the Resurrection, a doctrine which was never disproved in those early days when alone the testimony of competent witnesses could have been produced. Such testimony was never produced and the continued existence of the Christian Church and its unbroken testimony to the resurrection is the best argument for the fact as it has been received and believed by Christians from the beginning.

B. L. T.

With the passing of Bert Leston Taylor something has gone out of our lives which leaves them poorer. When we tired of the vapid and sensationalism of the morning paper, its commercialism and ill natured comment upon men and things we turned to B. L. T. and found a kindly spirit joined to a high intelligence which was always quick to respond to good causes, which invariably put the right emphasis upon passing events, which under the motley of his professional livery showed a fine appreciation of beauty in nature or in art, a gentleness toward human weaknesses and a literary sense and power of expression which never degenerated into buffoonery or silliness.

Mr. Taylor was a literary artist of high order and his love of nature found expression in those charming verses which appeared first in his "Line o'type or Two" and were afterward collected into "The Pipesmoke Carry," "Motley Measures" and "A Line o'Verse or Two."

As one of his friends wrote, "To whom shall I go to share subtle breaths of whimsies? Who is there left who possesses complete understanding? Music, art, literature have lost something in his passing. I gave him all I could, but he gave me more in return and his richness has given me courage, cheer and comfort."

"Peace to his luminous spirit."

NO CHANGE OF VENUE IN BIG LIBEL SUITS

Judge Edwards Grants Change Only in Rev. Nelson's Case Against Voliva

Sparring for position in the huge alleged libel suit against Wilbur G. Voliva, attorneys for the Overseer of Zion last Friday argued motions before Judge C. C. Edwards, in the Lake county circuit court, in an effort to get a change of venue, and there is a possibility that the case will be tried in some county other than Lake.

While Judge Edwards granted a Thos. H. Nelson, pastor of an change of venue in the case of the Rev. Thos. H. Nelson, pastor of an independent church in Zion, against Voliva, he refused to grant it in the two cases of Charles Warren and another of Richard Murdoch against Voliva.

The effort being made to get a change of venue is reported to be due partly to the activities of the Hon. Edward D. Shurtleff, who as member of the state legislature was instrumental in bringing about investigation of the manner in which Voliva conducted his Zion estate.

Voliva and Judge Welch of Rockford also are not any too close it is said, because of the fact that it was Judge Welch, who ordered a special session of the Lake county grand jury, which brought about the recent indictment of Voliva.

The principal argument, however, as set forth in the reasons for a change of venue is to get the cases out of the county on the ground there is too much prejudice here to give Overseer Voliva a fair trial, due to the fact that it might be impossible to get an unbiased jury.

The people of Europe feel embittered toward this country, for making money out of their misery. But several millions of young folks, saved by this gift, will say, "No, it is not true that America cares only for dollars. They gave me my life when they had nothing to gain by it."

The Bible says: "Cast thy bread upon the waters and it shall return unto thee after many days." The people along the North Shore who have contributed toward this noble cause will never regret the sacrifice.
