

The "Week's Work" Outdoors No. 2

No-better time than the present to loosen up the soil of the bare spots in the lawn and re-seed them and apply a good dose of Fertilizer (Blood and Bone)—Grass needs Food in order to do well.

Just a few days more and it will be too late to plant shrubs for this spring, but it can still be done and thereby gain a whole season's growth. Lilacs, Honeysuckle, Syringas, Golden Bell, Bridal Wreath or Japan Quince, all are desirable varieties.

Plant Hardy Phlox, Columbines, Larkspur, Canterbury Bells and other Perennials now, plant Gladiolus Bulbs and Dahlias and see to it that they go fully 4 inches below the surface, plant some of those beautiful Japan Lilies (hardy).

You can cut Roses all summer by planting now some of the Hybrid Tea varieties, Killarney, Ophelia, Columbia and Mylady, but you want strong pot plants, planted out now they will start to flower by early June.

Repair that driveway, get ready for the filling of your Window and Porch boxes and maybe a few Hanging Baskets. Make the surroundings of your home attractive this summer—how about a Flower Bed or a Border?

What about a few fruit trees? No home ground is complete without a fruit tree or a few berry bushes.

Call up $5 when in doubt as to what to do — to us there is more to it than selling stock, we want you to have results and be successful, while we like to sell you everything you may need in the way of Fertilizer, Seeds, Plants and Shrubs, if you can do better elsewhere, we don't mind. We are in business to serve you and don't carry a grudge against anyone who buys elsewhere. It will always be a real pleasure to answer any and all questions pertaining to Gardening. This has always been our policy and combined with courteous treatment, has resulted in our being buisier than ever today.

RAVINIA GETS OPERA'S STARS

Singers from Chicago Organization Will Be Permitted to Appear at Ravinia Park

The bars are down between the Chicago Opera and Ravinia. The shoot-to-kill policy that has existed in times past between these two generators of opera which made it impossible for the artists of one organization to appear in the other, has been utterly squashed by Mary Garden. She has sent word to Louis Eckstein, the musical czar of Ravinia, that he may engage her stars and henceforth there will be no objection made to any singers that may be selected for both seasons.

It should be recorded that Louis Eckstein never laid down this policy nor sought it. It was the late Maestro Campanini's idea that singers who were heard at Ravinia for less than winter prices would not draw in the Auditorium. Then Manager Gatticazazza came along from the Metropolitan and permitted any of his brightest satellites to sing under the Ravinia shell, with never a thought that this western escapade would make them less valuable to his golden horseshoe at the Metropolitan. And it didn't! Many a big role was tried on Ravinia in the gay old summertime, that in the winter led its interpreter to fame and new fortune.

So the entente cordiale between Miss Garden and Mr. Eckstein is a good thing. "The more opera the people have, the more they will want," says the astute Mary. "And I shall do all I can to boost the winter season," says the genial Mr. Eckstein. So there you are, or rather, there we are. Opera going and coming will be Chicago's reward. Moreover, opera that will be better patronized at both ends of the line. And after all the patronage is at the bottom of opera success. Ricardo Straciarri and Mario Chamlee are among the singers engaged for Ravinia. Chicago Journal of Commerce.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

Beginning with May 1st, new readers cards will be placed in use at the Public Library. A slightly different system of charging or recording the books borrowed will be used. The new readers' cards, which will be of a different color than the old ones, will remain on file at the Library all the time. When books are borrowed by a card holder, the proper card will be found and the date stamped upon it once for each book borrowed. When books are returned, the card will be found and the date cancelled for each book returned. In this way the number of uncanceled dates on the card will always indicate the number of books "out" on that card. The person returning the book should wait to see the card stamped off, as this will make it possible to know for just how many books he is responsible.

Keeping the cards always in the library file is expected to be a great convenience to readers as they may drop into the library at any time and take a book home. This privilege and that which places no limit on the number of books which may be taken by an adult borrower, carries with it some responsibilities, however, and patrons of the library will be expected to guard against the danger of taking out so many books that they will lose track of them. To help them in doing this, the Library will adopt the policy of sending out fine notices on the fifth day after a book becomes overdue. The receipt of an early fine notice is therefore to be regarded as a distinct favor, and a speedy response to it will be considered as a favor to the Library.

Children's cards will be of another color than those issued to adults, and only two books at a time will be permitted on the children's cards, except where books are needed for study work. Pictures may be taken in addition to books as heretofore.

If caged canaries can sing, free man may at least smile through his troubles.

The man who harbors great ideals cannot be happy unless he trains himself to be impervious to disappointment.
