If Congress finally decides that beer cannot be prescribed as medicine, a lot of people will find that their health is not as bad as they thought.

FERTILIZER FOR THE HOME GARDEN

Nitrogen, Phosphorus, and Potassium are Absolutely Necessary for Vegetables

The best all round fertilizer for the home garden is well rotted horse manure. Manure not only conserves the moisture and adds plant food to the soil, but loosens it up making it easier to work and for the plants to grow. Rotted manure releases the substances in the soil so that they are in a form that the plant can use. For example, your soil may contain an abundance of potash, a food which all plants must have, but in a form which the plants cannot use. Plenty of manure makes it possible for bacteria to act upon the potash and change it into a form so that the plants can use it. Well rotted manure and not fresh should be used.

The three elements which are present in the soil but in insufficient quantity are nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. These three elements are absolutely necessary to all garden vegetables. These are found in manure and in commercial fertilizers which are called complete.

While the complete fertilizer adds these three elements to the soil, it has no power to release the unavailable substances already present in the soil. The exclusive use of commercial fertilizer makes the soil less able to hold moisture and resist drought. The commercial fertilizer should be used with stable manure. The quantity of manure to use is 4 inches spread over the ground before spading.

It is a good plan to add lime to the soil as it helps to release plant food, and corrects the sourness that may exist in the soil. The best form of lime to use is ground rock lime. The quantity to use is one pound to every 10 square feet.

Coal ashes adds nothing to the soil as a fertilizer, but it helps heavy clay, sticky soils by making them more porous.

WOMAN KILLED IN CRASH AT WAUKEGAN

One Dead and Four Injured in Toll of Auto Smashup Sunday Night

Dazzled by the bright lights of an approaching automobile, Frank Velkovrk, a tailor living at 2126 South Sheridan Road, North Chicago, lost control of his car and drove it into the ditch near the "S" turn south of the Durkin farm, North Sheridan road, just north of Waukegan Sunday night. Mrs. Elizabeth Velkovrk, wife of the driver, was almost instantly killed. The four male occupants of the car were cut and bruised. The accident occurred about 11:30 o'clock Sunday night, as the party was returning from a pleasure trip.

The victims were as follows:
The Dead
Mrs. Elizabeth Velkovrk, aged 40, of South Sheridan road, North Chicago; neck broken.

The Injured
Frank Velkovrk, aged 37, her husband; severe cut on leg and bruises.
John Leskovec, aged 33, of 1016 Lennox avenue, North Chicago; chin cut, leg and arm bruised.
Frank Smrtnik, aged 32, of 1436 Adams street, Waukegan, chin cut and bruises to body.
Frank Nagode, aged 29, of 1431 Wadsworth avenue, Waukegan; lip and arm cut.

The occupants of the Velkovrk car all bear out the statement concerning the dazzling lights from the other machine. They assert that the lights were so bright that they could see nothing.

Mrs. Velkovrk was sitting beside her husband when the crash came. The driver was not thrown out because he was pinned behind the steering wheel.

he was given a salute of 19 guns. The sailors formed in line both sides of the road from the main gate to the administration building, saluting as the party passed along the route. The secretary was escorted to the administration building where he delivered a short address upon the opportunities in the navy. He said that Great Lakes is and will continue to be the world's greatest training station. His address was heard by the members of 53 companies of recruits, and three companies of hospital corps men. The three station bands in one formation played several rousing airs.

At 4 o'clock the secretary's party returned to Chicago on a North Shore train, where a reception and entertainment was given in their honor at the Union League club headquarters. Several thousand sailors participated in this event.

"ANCHOR INN" OPENS; A DELIGHTFUL PLACE

Many Prominent Women are Behind the Project; Sorority is in Charge

An interesting event Monday was the opening of "Anchor Inn" on Sheridan Road in Evanston. Many persons know the shelter close to the roadside at the turn where Ridge Avenue joins Sheridan Road. This is now Anchor Inn, as the modest sign will tell you. Although it is located on the grounds of the Evanston Community Golf Club, all who wish are invited to drop anchor and stop at the Inn for food and refreshment. Luncheas, dinners and cold drinks will be served daily during the summer. The location and appointments are ideal and arrangements for special dinners, dances and the like may be made by calling Dorothy Gates.

The committee in charge is Mrs. Herbert Pope, Mrs. Walter S. Vose, Mrs. Carl Latham, Mrs. Harold J. Clark, Mrs. Walther Buchan, Mrs. Edwin Austin and Miss Mildred Moore of Evanston, Miss Edith Cochran of Lake Bluff, Miss Margaret Thompson of Glenoco, and Mrs. Ross Stewart, Mrs. Barrett Scarborough and Mrs. Thomas Thompson of Wilmette. The management of the tea-room has been granted to the Delta Gamma sorority and the proceeds will go toward the chapter house building fund. For the active chapter the committee is assisted by Miss Grace Carqueville of Highland Park, Miss Martha Wilson, Miss Henrietta Oliver and Miss Polly Crawford.

"RED" MAY DAY WAS QUIET IN WAUKEGAN

Circulation of Radical Literature Was Only Activity of "United Communist"

The "May Day of Revolution" advertised on handbills bearing the name of the United Communist Party of America and distributed freely in various parts of the city of Waukegan failed to start any disturbance, and outside of the fact that a number of merchants were compelled to wash "Join the Reds" stickers from their windows there was no trouble of any kind.

Several of the handbills contained the words: "We must destroy the United States Government; We must put in its place Workers' Government and uphold it with a strong army, to crush the bosses and all who support them."

"Let us proclaim our solidarity with the revolutionary Workers of Germany and Italy, and of the entire world."

No arrests were made either by the Waukegan or North Chicago police and Sheriff Elmer Green reported "All quiet."

Among the stickers was one bearing these words: "Rejoice with the Reds May first. International Labor Day. United Communist Party."
