BODY FOUND MONDAY
NEAR LIBERTYVILLE

HAD BEEN SHOT TWICE

Automobile Tracks Leading to Fence Indicated that Slain
Man Was Thrown Into Field

The body of a prosperous-looking man, with a bullet hole in his head and another through his abdomen, was found Monday morning on the John Wolf farm, seven miles southwest of Libertyville, just inside a fence on Milwaukee Road, by Wolf.

Robbery was not a motive because in his pockets was found $50 in cash, and on his left hand was a heavy solid gold signet ring, bearing the initials, S. M. The ring was set with a diamond.

Automobile tracks leading to the fence, indicated that the body was thrown into the field. The body is that of a man weighing about 200 pounds, 6 feet tall, dressed in dark suit of expensive material. A card in his pocket bore the address of a Chicago Optical firm. His age apparently was 40 or 45 years.

The body was taken to Libertyville at noon. The body was covered with blood; one bullet entered just above his right eye, and the other entered his back and lodged just under the skin in the abdomen almost completely penetrating the body. The bullets were of .38 calibre. The face was also badly bruised, marks indicating that brass knuckles had been used. Gus Hertel, son of Henry Hertel, of Aptakisic, saw the body lying in the field Sunday morning while driving to Libertyville with a load of milk, but thought he was sleeping. When he passed there again this morning and saw the body still there he investigated and made the gruesome find, reporting the matter to Wolf. The card found on the body bore the name of Robert J. Hlavaty, special representative of the Optical Sales Corporation, 14 W. Washington St., Chicago. Additional description is as follows: Brown hair, blue eyes, silk shirt with blue stripes, black hose, and black belt with silver buckle.

No hat could be found in the vicinity.

PLENTY OF JOBS BY FALL IS PREDICTION

"There is every indication that by fall the industrial situation will be so relieved that the present rising tide of unemployment will subside," Barney Cohen, director of the middle west department of the United States employment bureau, department of labor, made this forecast in commenting on the national report of the bureau for June.

The report is composed of statistics garnered from 65 industrial centers, containing 1,428 firms, each of which employs more than 500 workers. It shows an average decrease in employment of June over May of 2.9 per cent. The total decrease since February 1 is 6.2 per cent.

The protracted industrial depression and unemployment are due to transportation, freight rates, lack of the normal foreign market, low value of farm products, stagnation of iron and steel, the high cost of construction, and the general dullness of the retail trade, the report says.

POSTAL SAVINGS SYSTEM

The high rate of interest has been one of the factors that has tended to projects for developing the country can not be worked out because of the lack of loanable capital. Meanwhile great numbers of people keep large sums of money in hiding places about their homes because in their ignorance of business they distrust all banks and savings institutions.

Postmaster General Hays believes a good deal of this money could be coaxed out of its hoarding places, if the government offered more liberal terms to postal savings depositors. But as long as but 2 per cent is paid on such deposits, and no interest is paid unless the money is on deposit a full year, this form of investment will be discouraged.

These deposits ought to go on interest at least every quarter, and it might be a far-sighted policy to make the interest date every month. Under present conditions it would seem as if the government might well pay four per cent. Liberal treatment of these depositors would encourage thrift, which is what the country needs at this moment.

town all the time, are reminded that trains are leaving the place daily and it does not make much difference in which direction they go.

The people who can't go to church on account of the hot weather seem to prefer the sunbaked motor roads to the cool and quiet sanctuary.

Many ailing citizens have been looking for a prescription of beer, but it'll be'er long time before they get it.

Some people kick because it is not so easy to dispose of a wife and acquire a new one, as to sell their automobile and get the new one registered.

Some folks who don't dare drive an automobile or go in swimming are dying in their chairs for lack of exercise.

FARMERS BATTLED WITH SHOTGUNS

Fight Started over Cattle; Two Participants Severely Wounded; Are in Hospital

A feud over stray cattle, broke loose at dusk Sunday near Libertyville. A farmer and his son are in Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan, with shotgun wounds, after a shotgun and automatic revolver battle which lasted for more than an hour, and in which many shots were fired. A score or more neighbors were attracted to the scene.

The battle took place on the farm of Ed Sage, west of Five Points, on Buckley road, it was said, when Charles Flament, aged 60, and his son, Peter Flament, 31, residing on the A. F. McKeown farm, adjoining attempted to get several head of cattle that had strayed to the Sage farm several days before, and which the Flaments told Sheriff Elmer Green of Waukegan Saturday. Sage refused to give up unless settlement was made for alleged damages. There had been "bad blood" between the principals for a long time. Sage claiming that Flament's cattle had strayed upon his premises at various times.

Practically every window pane in the Sage house was smashed. It is charged the elder Flament broke them with the butt of his gun.

Sage was armed with a shotgun. He shot several times, the buckshot penetrating both of Charles Sage's legs below the knees, and his son has numerous buckshot in his right side. They were also badly cut on the hands and face by flying glass.

Flament charges that Sage had stolen his cattle and penned them in his barn. He stated Monday that when he and his son went to the Sage farm Sunday night and demanded the cattle Sage ordered them off the place threatening to shoot them. Young Flament told Sage to go ahead. The elder Flament claims he broke the windows to get his son who ran into the house, followed by Sage.

CONCERNING MISFORTUNES

The other day a man entertained me with a long tale of woe. He had suffered many things that must have been hard to endure; had had more than a fair share of unlucky ventures, opposition, neglect, betrayal of confidence, etc.

But as he talked it seemed to me his greatest misfortune was that of have been born with too little doggedness, too little ambition, too little I-don't-care-a-damn-what-you-do-to-me, I-am-going-to-die-trying, get-out-of-my-way-or-suffer-the-consequences spirit — the spirit that neither knows nor will yield to any discouragement.

You can't throw a cat into the air in any manner that it will not land on its four feet. But circumstances throw some men into the air and they not only fall flat on their backs, but lie there howling!
