

The Secret of Summer Comfort

There's nothing more comfortable and cooling these hot days than fresh, crisp clothes.

And it cost very little to keep garments sweet and clean, our modern wash way.

Because, you see, we sell you cleanness — the real cleanness of bubbling suds and crystal clear water and pure, fresh air — by the pound. Get our modern pound rate.

You can send everything and yet save money. Have your whole family enjoy an abundance of spick and span clothes — it's the secret of summer comfort. You'll find it easy to keep them that way if you'll let us help.

Have us send our driver to-morrow for your family bundle. We'll have everything back again all clean and sweet in just a little while.

Presbyterian Church

Next Sunday morning, Mr. Thomas speaks from Daniel 6, "Daniel among the Lions". This is the fifth address from this great book.

Next Thursday afternoon the Missionary Society will meet at the Community House. All the ladies are asked to bring some young lady along as the work will be especially interesting to the young people. Refreshments will be served.

The new church and community paper known as the "Deerfield Messenger" is ready for the printers and will be issued within the next ten days. Be sure to get a copy of the first issue.

The Sabbath School continues to grow. New faces are to be seen nearly every Sabbath morning. To attend once is to be a constant booster of this church school.

About ten young people meet Mr. Thomas each Sunday evening at 7 o'clock for forty five minutes of study in the methods of personal work.

A number of new faces were seen Sunday morning in the P. A. B. class of young women.

The Mysterious Hand

Rev. M. L. Thomas, Deerfield, Ill. "In the same hour came fourth the fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaster of the King's palace — mene, mene, tekel, upharsin — numbered, numbered, weighed, found wanting" — Dan. v.

These words fell like the flash of the lightning and the clap of thunder upon a crowd of godless, dissolute, lascivious sports nearly 2,500 years ago. Among the gang was the king's son, the crown prince, the commander of the remnant of the defeated Babylonian army. Feasting with a thousand of his lords, their wives and concubines while the Persian army clamored at Babylon's gates, remind us of Nero who played his fiddle while Rome burned and the German crown prince who drank wine at the general headquarters while two hundred thousand men died around the walls of Verdun. It can only be explained upon the maxim, "that whom the gods wish to destroy, they first make mad."

The immediate cause of this mysterious hand upon the wall was the profanation by Belshazzar of the sacred cups and dishes which had been stolen from the Temple at Jerusalem 70 years before by Nebuchadnezzar. Some times this hand writes out the fate of the blasphemer immediately — still at other times the writing is gradual from day to day but none the less real. It can be said of the government or nation who prostitute the lives of the peoples given into its charge that it is numbered; it may also be said with equal emphasis toward those men and women who willfully ignore the claims of God upon their lives and who turn their backs upon all that the Father has done for them that they have been weighed in the balances and found wanting.

Compare the actions of Belshazzar

as he faced the crisis of his life and the life of his nation, as he ate, drank and gormandized himself, making not only himself but his officers unfit for the battle of their lives, then compare this man with that other man, Jesus Christ as he too faced a similar crisis. He must make the fight not only for his own life, but for that of the entire world. Instead of spending it in eating and drinking, He spent it in fasting, instead of lewdness, He prayed for strength to meet the foe. One life has come down the centuries as a warning to all ages, the other life has come down the centuries as an inspiration for all ages.

One was intemperate, the other temperate; one was haughty and proud, the other was meek and humble; one drank wine, the other fasted; one cursed God, the other prayed to God.

These two lives represent the men and women today. Some are pleasure-seeking, idle, un-Christ like, the other is concerned regarding the future condition of his own soul and the souls of others. Take your choice, behold the man!

"I walk down the Valley of Silence— Down the dim, voiceless valley—alone! And I hear not the fall of a footstep Around me, save God's and my own; And the hush of my heart is as holy As hovers where angels have flown!"

Do you ask me the place of the valley, Ye hearts that are harrowed by care? It lieth afar between mountains, And God and His angels are there; And one is the dark mount of Sorrow And one the bright mountain of Prayer."

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday morning only the adult classes will meet at the Bible school, all other departments discontinuing for the present.

SOCIAL ACTIVITY

An unusually attractive wedding was that of Miss Gladys Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Tucker, to Mr. Harry Markell of Chicago, which took place last Thursday evening, August 11, at 8 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Frank Fitt officiating. The bride was attired in a gown of white satin and shadow lace, and tulle veil, and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Ruth Schaefer acted as matron of honor and was attired in Harding blue canton crepe and carried pink roses and baby's breath. Miss Bernice Tucker, served her sister as bridesmaid and wore orchid canton crepe and carried pink roses and baby's breath, while Edith Tucker in a frock of net over pink taffeta and carrying a basket of pink roses, served as flower girl and scattered rose petals in the path of the bride. Russel Markell acted as best man, and Earl Tucker and Sutton Laing were ushers. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, after which the young couple left for a wedding trip to the Yellowstone National park.
