Come on, Johnny, There's the Bell!

LOOK at the new teacher! She's got Willie Reed by the ear. Gee, let's run. She'll get us, too, if we're late.

I don't want to have to stay after school, because I'm earning money to put in the bank. Sure — I'm saving my money this year, and I'm going to save it every year from now on. Some day
I'll be mighty glad I did.

PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL

Professional baseball is losing caste, much as we may regret it. As a game on which the multitude is gambling its money, it is coming into disrespect, not to say disrepute.

The Chicago Tribune has announced its intention to clip the news of the professional game and enlarge its space and interest in amateur sports in which the people may participate.

The approval that newspapers are according the idea is rather surprising in view of its novelty and the suddenness with which it was launched.

The professional game has degenerated into a gamblers' paradise, says the Springfield Journal. Horse racing pools never had the vogue that the baseball pool enjoys today. It flourishes in every city, village, and hamlet, wherever a cigar stand, drug store or meeting place of men will handle it. It possesses rare possibilities as a game of chance. The initial investment is small. The returns may be large. So far the integrity of the games as played is not strongly suspected. Those who play it have a reasonable faith that the contests on which they have placed their money have been played honestly, but that faith may not endure. Faith in honesty or sincerity is not one of the virtues of the gambler. He is perfectly willing to stake his all that his gamble may be the same as that of the crook who is manipulating the cards, but he is never deceived by false pretenses as to squareness.

Professional baseball must therefore soon take its place with horse racing and other sports which gambling has besmeared with tar.

The plea to substitute amateur sports in which the people themselves may be flesh and blood participants produces a responsive reaction.

INCREASE IS ENCOURAGING

The increase in the number of students enrolled at Deerfield-Shields high school is indeed an encouraging sign. Even during this period of business depression when times are hard people everywhere realize that education is necessary for full development of the individual.

Many books might be written on the subject of the necessity of popular education. In it is found the only key to the success of the nation as well as of the individual.

Let it suffice to say that the increased demand for high school education is a very optimistic sign. Deerfield-Shields is one of the best high schools in the state of Illinois, and young people in this vicinity are indeed fortunate in being allowed the privilege of attending so well equipped and well managed an institution.

A REAL "GOAT-GETTER"

Speaking of "goat-getters," there is one that never fails. It happens when you are driving a car across the railroad tracks where the Chicago and North Western and the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee have a joint system of gates and a shanty on stilts between the tracks. After you have crossed one right-of-way seeing no trains approaching on the second, you are about to cross it. Then away down the line a train comes up on the railroad you have already crossed. The gateman clangs his bell loudly, and you are scared green until you discover the reason for all the hubbub.

Seriously speaking, however, it surely would be much better if the gatemen would wait a few seconds when a car is between the two railroads. Frightening him by clanging the bell is liable to confuse an inexperienced driver, and, befuddled by the noisy warning he may even back into an approaching train. The chance may be small, but the danger is there. Often this confusion could be entirely avoided if the gateman would watch the traffic more closely, and bide his time a few seconds before ringing his bell.

"BARNYARD GOLF" TO BE REJUVENATED

To Form Community Horseshoe Pitching Association. First Meeting Sunday

Local devotees of horseshoes, commonly known as "barnyard golf," will meet Sunday morning at the fire station at 10 a. m. to effect the organization of a local community horseshoe pitching association for the purpose of holding tournaments with other cities, and becoming affiliated with the national association. The meeting is being called by A. L. Herring, of Community Service, and Ed. Hoskin, chief of the fire department. Already a challenge has been received by Mr. Herring from the Lake Forest team, and at the meeting Sunday morning plans will be made to hold a tournament immediately to select the best players to represent Highland Park in a tournament with Lake Forest. There are two good sets of courts now in Highland Park, one at the fire station and a set of four courts at the Community Center. There are many splendid players already known here, among them William Cummings, Mike Dugan, Ed. Hoskins, Jno. Scheskie, and Thomas Brew. They have all expressed great enthusiasm over the idea of a real organization and team for Highland Park. No doubt there are many other good players here and all who are interested at all in the game are requested to attend the meeting Sunday morning at the fire station.

SAFE BLOWERS ARE CAPTURED BY POLICE

TAKEN FRIDAY MORNING

Highland Park Officers Get
Three Men Who Are Wanted
For Many Crimes;
Held in Jail

Capture of three men by Officers Maroney and John Sheehan of Highland Park Friday morning has brought to light news of the strange disappearance of a Sioux City, Ia., man named J. H. Martin, who, according to the license number on the automobile which the trio occupied, is the owner of the car.

About two o'clock Friday morning four men drove through Highland Park at high speed in a new automobile bearing an Iowa license. Maroney and Sheehan followed, and found the men camped near the Pick home in South Sheridan road. On seeing the police they fled, but three stopped when the officers began firing. They were brought back to the car.

At the police station search of their outfit revealed an acetylene torch and practically everything needed to open a safe except explosives.

One of the three gave his name as Ray Lewis, of Sioux City. At first he declared that the car belonged to him, and that he had purchased it from a man named Martin. Search for Martin to get additional information revealed the fact that the latter had mysteriously disappeared, and members of his family are conducting a statewide search for him.

The other two men, Sidney Mansfield, Wichita, Kans., and John Bigstoft, Clinton, Ia., were identified as safe blowers with long prison records.

Detectives from Chicago came to Highland Park and took the men to Chicago, where their measurements were taken. They are believed to have had some part in several safe blowing "jobs" in Minnesota. They are now in the Highland Park jail.

PEASE'S QUESTION BIRD

My hair is having a falling out
with my head -
what shall I do?

Answer: -

Directions on and bottle - Come in and read 'em!

WHEN YOUR HAIR begins falling off your head it denotes a lack of exercise and nourishment — not of the grey matter but of the scalp that tops it. We have the proper food with which to feed the impoverished hair roots and the proper brushes with which to enliven the pores of your head.
