

WHAT CAUSES THAT elusive squeak? From whence cometh the hidden rattle that yieldeth not to lubrication? These are questions that the average car owner is not prepared to solve.

Still the squeaks and rattles endure. Nothing is so disquieting. Nothing takes so much out of the pleasure of motoring, or is more embarrassing to the car owner.

Rattles and squeaks are not always due to incorrect or insufficient lubrication. Often the trouble is mechanical, and requires the attention of an expert mechanic.

If you have squeaks or rattles that you can't find, bring the car to us. We have made a study of such things and can help you.

Motor repairing, too. And vulcanizing, And a full line of really good accessories.

STATE AUTO OFFICER WARNS VIOLATORS

VISITED COUNTY FAIR

Investigator D. C. Merritt Here to Enforce Law Requiring Licenses for Cars and Chauffeurs

Under the new law which gives Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson authority to appoint investigators with power to make arrests for violation of the automobile laws, a round-up of violators was begun in Lake county last Friday. Investigator D. C. Merritt of Lake county is in charge of the survey.

While these investigators have power to arrest for violation of any of the automobile laws, they concern themselves particularly with violations of the law requiring licenses for automobiles and chauffeurs. Their purpose always is to co-operate with the local authorities in every way.

Mr. Merritt was at the county fair on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The principal violators he found at the fair were men who were driving taxis, etc., without chauffeur's licenses.

"The public is very generally observing the law requiring the obtaining of license plates," Mr. Merritt said "but other sections of the automobile laws are not being so strictly complied with. This is true especially of the chauffeur's certificate requirements. In most counties where investigators have been sent to date, they have found great laxity in the observance of this section of the law. Under the law no boy under eighteen years of age is permitted to drive a car or truck for hire, and all persons who drive cars or trucks for hire must obtain a chauffeur's certificate from the secretary of state. This applies to drivers of delivery trucks as well as to drivers of taxi cabs, service cars or private chauffeurs. The owners of the truck not operated for hire, of course, is permitted to drive without a chauffeur's license, but anyone driving a car not his own for compensation must have a chauffeur's license."

"Another violation of the automobile laws which is very common is the operation for hire by automobile dealers of cars equipped with the regular dealers' license plates. The dealers' license plates properly can be used only on cars for sale or used for demonstration purposes. A service car or car let out for hire must be equipped with individual license plates.

"The law also is very strict in requiring two license plates on every car, one in front and one in the rear. If a license plate is lost, application for a duplicate to the secretary of state must be made at once."

Mr. Merritt explains that in communities visited by investigators since the new law went into effect on July 1, the number of applications for chauffeurs' licenses and for the issuing of duplicate plates where plates have been lost has increased nearly 100 percent. It was estimated when the act was passed that these investigators would be able to increase the revenue from automobile licenses and chauffeurs licenses to the extent of at least $250,000. Results up-to-date it is declared, indicate that this figure will be exceeded. The cost of sending out the investigators is only a small percentage of this total.
