IN MEMORIAM
Edwin and Mabel Benson
In loving memory of Edwin and Mabel, who died, Sept. 17 and 27, 1918.
The happy hours we once enjoyed. How sweet the memory still. But death has left two vacant chairs. No one on earth can fill.

WORE "PEEK-A-BOO" WAIST; ARRESTED

ZION CHIEF COMPLAINS

Fourth Arrest for Violation of Dress Ordinance; Other Items of Lake County News

Another warrant has been issued for violating the Zion dress ordinance. This time it is a member of Voliva's church and an employee of a Zion institution. Miss Amy Frederickson works at the Zion Handkerchief and Apron factory. She was seen wearing a low-neck pink Georgette waist. The waist is said to have been a violation of the ordinance in that it was transparent, without sufficient covering underneath, and too low in the neck. Chief Becker saw the defendant in church, and filed the complaint. This is the fourth arrest for violation of the ordinance.

The sanctity of a priest's home meant nothing to the burglar who entered the parsonage of St. Bartholomew's church, Eighth and Lincoln streets, Waukegan, early Saturday morning and robbed the Rev. John B. Kloris of $240 in cash.

Plans are already under way for a 75-foot paved road through the business district of Zion. W. Hurd Clendenin, mayor of Zion, has instructed James Craig, city engineer, to draw up specifications and plans at once for this half mile stretch. For at least one block there will be a center parkway which will add greatly to the beauty of the street. As soon as this stretch is completed there will be concrete pavement from Waukegan to Milwaukee. Work is to begin next spring. The other two pieces of Sheridan road through the city have already been completed.

The body of Joseph Kornein, 45 years old, was found in a ditch by the side of the road on Grand Ave., Waukegan, just east of the Lake county general hospital early Monday morning. It had been there all night. There were no marks on the body to indicate that he had been struck by a passing vehicle. Kornein was a widower and had six children. He was employed by the M. H. Hussey Lumber company.

Marengo, McHenry county, will have no more Sunday baseball games. The council of that city has amended what is known as the city nuisance ordinance and included baseball as a nuisance if played within the municipal limits on Sundays hereafter.

Thirty-two players entered the junior and senior tennis championship matches held at Foss park under the direction of the North Chicago Community service.

Y. M. C. TAKES POST SEASON GAME, 4-3

Win in Close Contest with Highwood North Shore Pen-nant Winners

There has been considerable rivalry between the local Young Men's club and the Highwood pastimers during the season just ended, and the winning of the pennant by Highwood did not settle the question of local pride to the relative merits of the two teams. So a post season game was arranged and played last Sunday at the West park grounds. Although the Young Men's club were returned victors the narrow margin of one run the question is not entirely settled, for it was any man's game until the last man was out, and the race will have to be continued next year.

The home boys started out aggressively in the first inning, and before Pitcher Shannon of Highwood could get his bearings the Gladerites had gathered gobs of singles and three rallies were over the pan. Shannon settled down from that time on and was mighty stingy with his offerings. At that, Shannon had an even break for his gang got a bit familiar with Elmer Therrien's wares in the sixth and slipped over enough to tie the count. The game was lost for Shannon when his right fielder dropped Fred Glader's high fly. Glader promptly legged it to second, and George Rudolph came through with a clean single that scored the winning run. Shannon and Elmer showed the fans baseball as it should be pitched. The game was a credit to both teams. It was close, clean, unmarred by wrangles, and played in the fast time of one hour and forty minutes.

The American people claim to admire independence, and then they poke fun at a fellow if he wears a straw hat on a warm day after the bell rings.
The ringing of bells is supposed to express the joy of the people but so far none of the kids have showed any such signs of jubilation when the school bell rings.
So far neither Mexico, Turkey, nor Russia has offered to intervene to restore stable government in West Virginia.

There is a large number of people who do not seem to worry about the reported shortage of water supplies.

Chauncey Depew's First $100 Still in Bank Now $800.00

Chauncey M. Depew of New York — scholar, statesman, orator, financier, deposited in a savings bank, his first $100 the year before the civil war. The amount remained undisturbed. A few days ago, Mr. Depew was notified that the deposit with the earned interest had multiplied to $800.00.

Young man and woman, here is a great lesson and demonstration in thrift, namely, that the money saved and put to work in your youth is bound to bring returns and happiness in the autumn of life.

ELM PLACE SCHOOL

Editors, 8A's

Last Thursday and Friday Elm Place school held its annual flower and vegetable exhibit. Many beautiful asters, gladioli, a potted Chinese wool flower, cactuses, marigolds, a potted pepper flower and many others were exhibited. There were several fine bouquets of wild flowers.

Among the vegetables exhibited were fine specimens of eggplant, tomatoes, sugar beets, cabbages, carrots, celery, et al. Peanuts from the school garden were exhibited. Mr. Berg brought a large potted okra to show the children. Strawberries, paw paws, and persimmons were also displayed.

The judges were Mrs. George Green and Mr. Olaf Berg. The prizewinners will be announced at the autumn festival, the date for which will be announced later.

On the whole it was a very beautiful sight. The various colors of the flowers and fruit made the hall look like a flower garden.

This week some of the trees are beginning to change in color and are losing some of their leaves. The ashes, lindens, hickories and maples are the most noticeable. The witch-hazel is budding and will soon be in blossom.

The Elm Place school orchestra met Tuesday to talk over plans for the coming year.

Our enrollment is now 740 pupils. A class in "emergencies": "How would you teach a brother or sister to handle firearms?"

Pupil: "I would first take him out and shoot myself. Then I would tell him to copy me."

The annual promotion exercises will take place in the church at a special service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The Young People's society will meet at 7:15 in the manse. There will be a discussion on the plans of the society for the coming year.

Next Wednesday there will be a preparatory service in the lecture room of the church.

Next Sunday morning the communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning service. The minister will be glad to confer with those who desire to unite with the fellowship of this church at that time.

BOHL AGAIN MAKES DISPLAY OF APPLES

Former Resident Shows Eight Varieties Grown on His Michigan Farm

The following is a clipping from the Holland City News of Sept. 13, 1921:
The month of September has again rolled around and with it comes the time for harvesting of crops and picking of fruits.

Mr. Bohl, the horticulturalist, always has a little fair of his own, and while his products may not be found in the building where the fruit is kept at the fair, it is very conspicuously shown in the show window of Vauppell's drug store on 8th street and Central Avenue.

Fruit is a mania with Mr. Bohl, in fact he loves to create things horticultural. Among the varieties found in this miniature exhibit are the following: Snows, Wealthy, Golden Russets, Tallow Pippins, Fallowater, Hubbardston and Tompkin's King apples. He also has on display 15 small Tallow Pippins from blossoms that appeared in the latter part of June and two sprigs of 26 Snow apples showing how they grow on the tree.

Mr. Bohl's farm on the North Side Drive is called the Highland Park Villa orchard, and visitors are always welcome to give his farm a thorough inspection.

WASHBOARD ROADS

The above named phrase is being used to describe a type of highway that is becoming very common. It is applied to a road which has been surfaced with some hardening material, but which has become all worn out into little hollows.

An automobile bumps along over such a road in a constant succession of little jolts. None of these is severe, but the incessant shaking of a car is wearisome to the occupants, and it creates a lot of wear and tear on a machine. An improved road that is permitted to wear down into this condition is little better than an undeveloped country road.

The unimproved road may be nearly impassable at some seasons. But when the weather is good at least, if it has been properly dragged it may be fairly smooth and comfortable. But the washboard road has cost a lot of money, and then for lack of care and attention and proper surfacing, it is going to pieces and rapidly becoming impassable. It does not pay to put in a lot of money hardening a road, unless its surface is going to be so protected as to become rather permanent.

SALVATION ARMY IN 7,000 CITIES

Trained Workers Keep Vigilant Watch for Those Who Have Disappeared

Chicago, Ill.—The Salvation Army is said to be the most extensive detective bureau in existence — operating in 7,000 cities. Trained workers keep a vigilant watch for those who have disappeared throughout the United States. This service extends to the outposts of civilization in India or Africa.

By means of a more extended organization working through advisory boards in each city, 548 missing were restored to their homes and friends last year.

The appointment of the local advisory boards has resulted in greater economy and efficiency in the administration of Salvation Army affairs as the figures testify regarding the lost.

Numerous inquiries for the missing are made in various parts of Illinois every week. Many families were re-united and persons found in this state last year.

The Salvation Army is asking Illinois to contribute $225,000 between Oct. 22 and 31 with which to "carry on" and extend this branch of work together with 15 other branches in the state.

BUREAU TO AID IN FINDING LOST CARS

Secretary of State in Charge of New Service for Police Departments

Springfield, Ill. — To aid police authorities in finding stolen automobiles, Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson has established a reporting bureau, and will issue a bulletin once each week which will be sent to every police department and sheriff in the State. This service is in compliance with the provisions of a bill adopted by the last General Assembly. The bulletin gives the name of the car, the model, the serial number, engine number, state license number, and style of the body peculiarities of the car, such as special equipment, kind of tires used, defects or marks on the car, etc., in order to aid in quick detection of the car.

The service started some weeks ago, and is now fully established. Recent bulletins carry from 60 to 75 car descriptions. Several stolen cars have already been located through this means.

In case a stolen car is found, a report by the police officer finding it is to be made at once to the secretary of state, who will notify the police authorities in the city from which the car was taken. Reports of stolen cars for use in the bulletins are received from police authorities and sheriffs from all parts of the state. Secretary Emmerson believes that this system will be of great benefit in securing the return of stolen cars and in apprehending automobile thieves.

The people who have got used to pitching up and down while riding in an automobile over many of the roads of Illinois have not declined to cross the ocean for fear of seasickness.

The teacher shortage is greatly felt by the young men who are looking for a place to call around evenings.
