body takes place, the spiritual forces of God take charge of the soul or not? Certainly conditions there are not static, if there is life, there must be growth of some kind and what would be more noble than that mother should be given a child to teach and train which she lost in this life. The children must be trained and whom would God naturally call upon than upon the mothers. Or, it might be that the child who has made great progressive knowledge would be called upon to teach the parent something of the great eternal truths of the universe.

After the general resurrection and judgment takes place, then those within the intermediate state pass into the final place known as Heaven. Jesus taught and certainly the early Christians taught that Heaven was a place. The character of the Greek word used in describing Heaven in the fourteenth chapter of St. John's gospel leads us to believe that Jesus understood Heaven to be a place. If it is asked where Heaven is, we can only reply that it might be all of the stellar systems and the planets which revolve in space. Science teaches us that these bodies are cooling at a very rapid rate and we are quite certain that the planet Mars at the present time can maintain even human life in its present form. These are but human conjectures, which may or may not have a reality. However, the spirit of the deceased and carry it into the unseen world. Scripture seems to teach that consciousness remains and to some extent at least knowledge of events are known. This leads us to the next thought which naturally follows, if consciousness remains what of the occupations in the intermediate state? Charles H. Spurgeon, the great London preacher said that he expected to preach the gospel in the next world. And why ever, one fact of which we are sure and concerning which the Scriptures speak in no uncertain tone and that is that Heaven exists and that it is being prepared for the people of God. Our Master tells us that he "goes to prepare a place for us" and that if He goes and prepares that place He will come again and receive us unto Himself. With such assurances for the future, no man or woman need despair of the life to come. We may trust the great God of the universe to take care of those who place their trust and hope in Him.

Deerfield Presbyterian Church

Well, here we are again doing the same thing which we did last week and the week before, viz. trying to inform you of what is going on. Kindly remember and act upon it.

Were you one of the fifty which were present last Sunday evening to hear the address upon "Heaven"? If you were, then you know about the big musical to be given next Sunday evening. If you like music, you know where you can find it.

We wonder if the people of Deerfield realize that within the confines of our village there is a big orphanage of forty children and that two women have all the responsibility of mending, patching, making, fitting, baking, sweeping, dusting and a thousand and one things.

A delegation of Deerfield women expect to go every Wednesday afternoon about 2 o'clock and help these two women patch and mend a few of the hundred stockings and suits of underwear before the cold winds and snow comes. If you are interested, call Mrs. Becker or Mrs. Patterson for details.

About ten of our teachers in the church school expect to take an eight week course in child psychology and pedagogy which the Deerfield Township Sunday School Association is putting on. The classes will meet in Highland Park beginning next week. Each Tuesday evening will be devoted to this most interesting work. The Northwestern school of Religious Education is furnishing experts to lead the classes. We shall be glad to have any young mothers who care to register and go with us. We will arrange some means of transportation.

We wish the mothers and wives of the village would kindly prod very gently their illustrious husbands about 8 o'clock next Sunday morning and remind them that a men's Bible class is meeting in the Village Hall at 9:30 a. m. and that their presence is essential. This Bible class is unsectarian and undenominational. Rev. Thomas will lead the meeting next Sunday morning. The subject will be "Booze." A most interesting subject.

Every man, woman and child of one year of age and upward ought to set aside Thursday evening, November 10 as the red letter day of the year because the Glee Club of McCormick Theological Seminary will be in Deerfield at the Grammar school. Many critics consider this Glee Club the best in the United States. We expect many people from surrounding towns will come to hear them. The price per ticket is only fifty cents, so back up the people who have had faith enough to bring these men here with the purchase of tickets. All members of the choir have tickets for sale.

Where are the Sainted Dead? Rev. Martin Luther Thomas
Where are the Sainted Dead? This is a question which challenges our best thought. What becomes of the father, mother, wife, husband and child which passes out? Do they pass immediately into what is generally spoken of as Heaven or do they remain in an intermediate state?

The latter is the truth. The church has taught and rightly so that an intermediate state exists between the earth plane and the final abode of Heaven. When the dissolution of the
