SEVEN DEERFIELD BOYS "ALL STARS"

STEPHENS PICKS TEAM

Chicago Daily News Expert Announces All-Suburban Football Players for 1921 Season

BY ROCKWELL R. STEPHENS

The 1921 football season in the Suburban league saw the development of a remarkable array of school-boy gridiron talent. Both in the backfield and in the line players who began their high school careers three years ago and even two years ago have reached a high degree of ability and can be counted among the best ever developed in the league. Not only do these players stand out in their league, but they would be strong material in any interscholastic football company.

In choosing an all-star team from such material, Deerfield's team, the league champion, had to be drawn upon heavily for players. The Highland Park team as a whole was superior to any other in the league, and three of its players in the backfield, with four more in the line, were named with little estimation for first team position. Not only against Chicago teams did these players stand out, but against one of the most powerful teams in New England as well, and their record throughout the season clearly entitles them to honors on the mythical team.

Two from Oak Park

Oak Park's eleven, its full strength seldom exercised during the season because of injuries to its best men, is represented with two men on the first and four on the second team, while La Grange and Evanston fill the other two berths on the first team and with Proviso have places on the second.

In the choice of ends the qualifications thought most essential were intelligence to break up interference and turn plays into the line, aggressiveness and sureness of tackling and ability to cover punts and receive passes. These qualities are amply represented in Sandwick of Deerfield and Lewis of Oak Park. Sandwick's teammate, Seymour, ran him a close race for the place, and was deemed a better receiver of passes but not as fine a defensive player, nor as steady. Lewis had almost no competition, and although he was kept out of many games because of injuries, he is rated as one of the best ends in the country.

at Deerfield, was named for the same position on the all-star eleven. He weighs 165, has made only one or two bad passes throughout the season, with wet and slippery balls, and

Competition Among Tackles

There was more competition for the tackle berths. Vogell of Evanston, however, did such outstanding work throughout the season that his selection was sure. He weighs 164 and is one of the hardest-playing tackles ever seen in the league. Active and aggressive, a sure tackler and possessed of ability to analyze an attack no play in which he does not take an active part goes through the line. First choice for the other tackle lay between Watt and Spellman of Deerfield, both of whom have in abundance the requisites for the position, but Spellman was taken for the place. He is experienced and steady and weighs 170 pounds.

Left guard went to Wolf of Deerfield, without competition. His weight is 160 and he is a charger whose work always results in a hole for the backs. Kennedy, center and captain of the La Grange team, took the other berth on the strength as an all around linesman, excelling at a defensive game. His work in Philadelphia against an unknown attack was remarkably fine, and all season he has been the strongest man on his team on both attack and defense.

Proctor is Captain

"Red" Proctor, center and captain makes tackles from all over the field on defense. He is a good leader and a fine sportsman.

The backfield is composed of McBride at quarter, Stewart and Robinson at the halves, and Baldwin at fullback. McBride, Deerfield's quarter, is a fine field general and an accurate passer; Evans of La Grange ran him a close second, but is more of an open field runner than a keen thinking pilot. His work with the complicated plays used by his team, however, insured him second choice.

Stewart, Deerfield's star half, is one of the cleverest runners ever developed in Chicago. He is extremely fast and has a disconcerting sideways run which makes tackling him a difficult matter. He weighs 152, and is alert. Robinson of Oak Park is a hard plunger who gained remarkable yardage throughout the season and Baldwin of Deerfield is of the same type. Both men are heavy and play strong defensive games.

The Christmas service of "White Gifts for the King" will be celebrated on Sabbath afternoon, December 18, at four o'clock. It is based on Phoebe A. Curtis' story in legendary form in which is pictured the beautiful celebration of the King's birthday.

His subjects, loving him, prepared long in advance for the White Gifts, which they brought out of the pure, unselfish love of their hearts of the White Feast. When all came together — young and old — rich and poor — with no distinctions made. "Nor doth the King regard one gift above another, so long as all be white."

Gifts of SELF — SERVICE — SUBSTANCE, brought in the spirit of love will be acceptable white birthday gifts for our King. At the White Gifts Service an opportunity will be given for every member of the congregation to present the White Gift which he feels will best express love for the Christ child.

Christmas Tableaux and the singing of Christmas carols will be features of this service. A full rehearsal of the chorus will be held Sunday at 4 p. m. in the church and with organ accompaniment.

GREAT LAKES BULLETIN HAS BEEN DISCONTINUED

Order from Bureau of Navigation Stops Publication of Famous Paper

The Great Lakes Bulletin is dead. This news will cause hundreds of thousands of boys and former "salts" a pang of regret as it was one of the most unique publications in America, and its fame world-wide.

An order from the Bureau of Navigation Saturday caused all papers published on shore stations of the navy to be discontinued immediately. An issue of the Bulletin Saturday morning therefore did not materialize.

The Bulletin was established five years ago and during the war some of the most noted newspaper men of the country were editors or contributors. The editor in chief when "30" was written was Logan E. Ruggles, nationally known as a writer of historical navy stories. Chas. H. Maughan was associate editor, Lieut. Commander J. H. Ingram was supervisory officer.
