H. Hanson wishes to announce that during the month of January a Special Sale of Fine Hand Embroidered Real Madera Linens at very reasonable prices. Will be pleased to call with sample line by appointment. Phone H.P. 1014 or same will be on display at 576 Laurel Avenue.

Present outstanding bonds of this district amount to $20,000, and will all be retired by 1932. Bonds as they mature, and annual interest charges are paid out of our building fund.

At the recent election held, the rate for our District fixed its revenue so that no additional taxes will be necessary for the new building.

The election to decide the questions involved in this letter will be held on Saturday, January 21st, 1922, or as soon thereafter as possible, at Elm Place school, from one until six o'clock in the afternoon. The issue is of grave school importance. Let your vote guide your Board.

The new so-called "Workers Party" claim they are going to overturn the government. What they need is to go out in the country next spring and overturn some sod in somebody's corn field.

ADDITIONAL SCHOOL BUILDING NEEDED

spent at Elm Place. This is possible first, because of the obvious duplication of equipment. Involved in the building of a separate school, and second on account of the economies to be gained in the operation of a unified school plant. Moreover, by building now at Green Bay Road the outlay for these necessary improvements at Elm Place would only be postponed.

For the benefit of those tax payers who are not closely in touch with the affairs of the School Board, or with the work of the Parent-Teachers' Association, let us examine in more detail the possibilities of the proposal to build at Elm Place. A new building at Elm Place would constitute, in conjunction with the present building, a complete, modern elementary unit. There would be the kindergarten primary (the present annex), the intermediate school (the present Elm Place building), and the new building for the seventh-eighth grade groups which might be called the "Junior High", this name being generally applied to buildings exclusively occupied by such pupils. These three buildings could be structurally while needed to give a certain unity while preserving a desirable group isolation. All the grades would share in the auditorium and gymnasium facilities and to an appreciable extent in the shop and laboratory facilities. The possession of so complete a school plant would place District 107 in the front rank as to school equipment.

In addition to these structural advantages there are important economies and efficiencies to be gained in the operation of a complete elementary unit as against a divided school system. For example, if the District is divided by hard and fast lines as would necessarily be the case with two separate schools, the relief of an overcrowded room in one school can be accomplished only by the employment of an additional teacher in the case of the same grade whereas in the case where all the rooms are on one school site pupils may be transferred to a room of similar grade with lower enrollment. These are items of expense which the Board thinks should be avoided, if possible, for the next few years.

There is another important phase of the matter which involves the question of the progressive development of the Elm Place school. If a new building is put up on the Green Bay Road site now, the necessary diversion of funds would mean that the modernizing of the Elm Place plant would need to be deferred for some years. The citizens of Highland Park and more especially those in District 107 before consenting to such a program of postponement, should consider well its consequences. The City Beautiful plans of Glencoe and Winnetka, to use our neighbors for illustration, specify the early addition to the schools there of the type of equipment described above, an equipment which can be made available within one year if our voters authorize the erection of a new building at Elm Place.

The architectural problems at Elm Place, we have been assured, admit of easy solution. The new building, for example, might extend north from the annex into the tennis court. The main entrance to the new auditorium would then be north of the ravine, and the recreation grounds for the seventh and eighth grade pupils would extend beyond that. The building would occupy in large part the portion of the Elm Place grounds of least value as playground space, and the erection of the building would be accomplished without disturbing the forest cover which screens the Sheridan Road frontage of the property. The new building would be scarcely visible from Sheridan Road in summer.

Summarizing it all, the Green Bay Road site stands available for a new and modern school building which can be operated at the same high standard that has characterized the Elm Place school. The proposal to build here, however, has the disadvantage of not meeting fully the needs of the district. On the other hand a new building on the Elm Place site would fully meet the needs of the district by providing at the same cost not only the additional space required for our now over-crowded and growing classes but many additional advantages for all the children now in school or who will enter for some years to come. Your Board, after a careful study of the situation, feeling it to be its duty to give you the results of its conclusions, recommends the creation of a new building at Elm Place. Now the correct legal procedure as the Board has been advised by as competent authority as it can find is to submit one building site for approval or disapproval at an election. If the site fails of approval, another site can be submitted at a subsequent election. Acting upon this advice, the Board will submit the Elm Place site for approval. If this is not approved, the Green Bay site will then be submitted.

It will be necessary for the District to issue Bonds to build this building. We are able at this time to issue bonds to the extent of $115,000 bearing 5% interest which, with what balance would accumulate in our building fund, would be ample for the purpose. These bonds will be paid in 20 years, beginning in 1927. This plan would retire about $8,000 per annum.
