AN INVITATION

Come out of the ice and the cold and the snow, Come where the southern breezes blow, Where the air is filled with sweet perfume And the nights are bathed in the light of the moon. Where the sky bends low to kiss the earth And the days are filled with joy and mirth, Where the mocker sings from his perch on high And the sea-gull wings his way in the sky. Come from the land where the chill wind sweeps, Come to the south, where summer keeps.

NOTE:—The above was sent in by one of our citizens wintering in the south.—Editor.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH

The question has been asked "When are you going to commence building your new church?"

For years this enterprise has been suggested, and at one time plans were drawn, and a beautiful water color picture was painted showing what was somebody's dream. Well, it is still a dream. It may come true. Some day the need is going to find expression and an adequate structure will be in place. But at this writing the greatest need is faithful service on the part of members and friends. More devotion to the cause the church stands for and a clearer conception of personal piety. When enough people show sincerely that they really want the life the pure religion represents; and when there is an enthusiasm for her services and institutions, coupled with a willingness to make sacrifices for their success, the question of a new church will not be so difficult to solve. The present pastor very much prefers to preach in a small church comfortably filled than a large, beautiful structure in which there are but few worshippers.

We now have an Intermediate Epworth League. About twenty young people from 10 to 15 years of age have banded themselves together for study, play and general good times in a healthy, normal fashion. Their first devotional meeting was held last Sunday afternoon, and first party Tuesday evening of this week. They have large plans and, with confidence expect to do some very important things.

The Epworth League gave a surprise party on Miss Erma Dick Monday evening, January 23, at the parsonage. She expects to leave in a short time to make her home with her parents in Crystal Lake. This was a farewell event and was hilarious enough to satisfy the most exacting.

Several soldier boys are attending all our services, including prayer meetings. We wish more would come.

Mr. W. E. Bletsch, the Sunday school superintendent was a happy man last Sunday. It was the occasion for the distribution of awards for faithful attendance. There were twenty-two recipients. There was one boy who had not missed a single Sunday for nine years. Others who had been on hand every Sunday for all the years below nine. There were twenty-two who had not missed a session during the past year, and there was also the distribution of testaments to the graduating class. Say, beloved, if you have an idea that this Sunday school is not alive, come and see for yourself.

Our largest attendance at a church service came when the mercury hovered around zero, last Sunday night. For a while it looked as though we would not be able to accommodate the crowd, but they all got in. Most gratifying to the preacher is the fact that audiences are constantly growing.

At the Epworth League meeting last Sunday evening the request was made that every one present write on a slip their highest ambition and without signing hand it in. Their ambitions ranged from missionary, minister, mechanical and musical success to the ultimate expression of "real happiness." This furnishes the theme for next Sunday evening's sermon — "Real Happiness." Can you think of a more happy theme? Come. Have a happy time with us.

The school skating rink has been in excellent condition this past week and the children have made the most of their opportunity to enjoy the sport.

A week ago a large party of upper grade children in charge of Miss Goddard enjoyed a skating trip south on the Skokie.

The fifth grade held a candy sale last Tuesday and the proceeds which amounted to nearly twelve dollars will be used to buy library books for their room.
