OAK TERRACE SCHOOL

Margaret Gardini, Editor
Sixteen pupils of the seventh and eighth grades have subscribed for Current Events. This is a condensed newspaper, made so, for use in public and private schools.

Harry Hartwig of the second grade, is absent on account of illness.

A new scholar, Frank Silvestrine, entered the fifth grade Monday.

The fifth and sixth grade children made a skating party, during their art period last Monday.

Rubin Benson was a visitor at our school last Friday.

"Such a Little Queen" featuring Constance Binney, will be shown at the assembly hall Friday, Feb. 3rd.

LINCOLN SCHOOL

Many former pupils of the Lincoln school who are now attending the high school took advantage of the mid year half holidays last week and came back to pay a visit. They are always welcome and their visits seem to show a fine spirit of loyalty.

Ten of last year's class of 18 members were visitors in Mrs. Freeman's room last Wednesday afternoon.

The eighth grade gave an illustrated talk on astronomy at assembly last Thursday m. They are looking forward to the privilege of hearing two very interesting educational speakers in the near future. One is Miss Flora Cooke, head of the Francis Park school, Chicago, who is to speak before the Parent-Teacher association meeting next Wednesday at three o'clock; and the other is Mr. Frank Slutz, head of the Moraine Park school, Dayton, Ohio, who is to speak at an evening meeting of the P.-T. A. March 2nd. Both of these speakers are known for their splendid work along lines of progressive education and all of the parents who are interested in education should not fail to hear them.

A group of seventh and eighth grade pupils in charge of Mrs. Freeman attended the matinee performance of Robert Mantell's "Julius Caesar" at the Olympic theatre Wednesday.

RAVINIA SCHOOL

Mr. Herman Rosse gave a very interesting illustrated talk on Java, Monday evening at the Village House. This was one of the regular meetings arranged by the Educational committee of the Civic club for the parents and others interested in the school.

The eighth grade gave talks on history topics at Assembly last week. They showed some interesting slides on Historic Boston and New York and illustrated the period of settlement by the English, Dutch, French and Spanish.

This January thaw will put an end to the good skating which the children have been enjoying for the past two weeks.

We were happy last week to welcome many of the former Ravinia pupils who are now attending the high school. We are always glad to have them return whenever they find an opportunity.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

The many readers of the South Sea books of Frederick O'Brien will find enjoyment in the latest issue of the Mentor. It opens with an article entitled "The Lure of the South Seas" written by O'Brien himself. Further sketches of R. L. Stevenson, Jack London, and Capt. Joshua Slocum place for us these well known names in their relation to the romance of South Sea life. A brief account of Frederick O'Brien, and a picture showing him on the porch of Jack London's California home, adds an interesting personal touch.

Anticipating the interest aroused by the anniversary of Lincoln's birth, Feb. 12th, some of the most popular Lincoln books have been assembled near the loan desk. If you like personal recollections you will find on this shelf those of Ward Hill Lamon, and Henry B. Rankin, both of whom write of Lincoln from the viewpoint of life long friends. A recent volume of similar type is The boyhood of Lincoln by J. Rogers Gore. Mr. Gore has constructed an interesting narrative from the reminiscences of one Austin Gallaher, who played with Lincoln along Knob Creek, and was on hand to bid him good bye when the family left Kentucky. The picture of the father of the family in this book, shows the shiftless, "no-account" side of Thomas Lincoln,—for a more engaging view, read "The Matrix" by Maria Thompson Davies. Further and later developments of the family life are treated in "Abraham Lincoln" by Herndon & Wiek, an unusually well illustrated life in two volumes. "Lincoln the Master of Men", is rich in anecdote, and the author is an authority on American History and Lincolnism.

For the children, besides Putnam's Children's Life of Lincoln, there are short sketches in the following volumes:—
"Freedom Triumphed" by C. C. Coffin.
"Story of American History," by Blaisdell.
"American Hero Stories" by Eva March Tappan.
"Story of the Great Republic" by H. A. Guerber.
"American Leaders and Heroes" by W. F. Gordy.

Other Lincoln books including Lincoln's own Works and his Speeches, may be had on request.

LIONEL BARRYMORE IN "THE CLAW", FEB. 5

First Performance to be Given Sunday at Princess Theatre, Chicago

Lionel Barrymore and original cast including Irene Fenwick coming to Chicago, Princess Theatre, Feb. 5th.

"The lightning of really great acting does sometimes flash out of a clear sky." These are the words in which the eminent critic, Mr. Louis DeFoe of the New York World, begins his review of Lionel Barrymore's performance of "The Claw," which comes to the Princess Theatre, Chicago, Feb. 5th. It was Lionel Barrymore, he says, "who by the brilliant culmination of a performance that throughout was on a level now seldom found in the theatre, added new lustre to the family name."

"The Claw" is by the famous French dramatist, Henri Bernstein, and no writer of our time is a greater master of dramatic technique or knows better how to build on human emotions until every auditor in the theatre sits with bated breath waiting for the clash of the forces of fate in the climax of the story. This play tells of the infatuation of a mad of middle age, Achille Cortelon, radical leader and editor of a Socialist organ, for a bit of a girl, Antonette, played by Irene Fenwick, whom he believes to be all innocence and simplicity. But she is a scheming Circe, and plays the older man to the top of his bent.

The play takes us through 15 years of their life. Though he marries her and bankrupts himself to give every luxury, she has no gratitude or sympathy for him and bleeds him to the last drop. Finally, when he has incriminated himself by selling his vote in the Chamber of Deputies, she runs away with a wealthy lover, leaving him to face disgrace and death alone. The entire New York company will appear in Chicago with Mr. Barrymore and Miss Fenwick.

Fordson Tractor

New Price $395

F. O. B. Detroit
Reduced from $625

Again Henry Ford shows his great interest in the American Farmer by reducing the price of his tractor to a little more than the cost of a good team of horses, which the tractor will eliminate on any farm.

This is what the tractor will do for you, Mr. Farmer, and we can prove every statement:

It will enable you to DO YOUR WORK AT THE RIGHT TIME.
It will enable you to PLOW DEEPER.
It will enable you to DO BETTER CULTIVATION OF SOIL.
It will enable you to ELIMINATE HELP.
It will enable you to ELIMINATE HORSES.
It will enable you to ELIMINATE MOST OF THE HARD WORK.
It will enable you to INTEREST YOUR BOY IN FARMING.
It will enable you to WORK MORE LAND, because the tractor will do nearly three times the amount of work a team of horses will do.

All of the above means more profit to you. In fact, the FORDSON TRACTOR means making farming profitable TODAY for it cuts costs and enables you to produce more. DON'T DELAY ORDERING YOUR TRACTOR because we will never be able to supply the demand this price will create.

Plows and disc harrows have been greatly reduced also.
