WOMAN'S CLUB EVENING MEETING GREAT SUCCESS

Delightful Program Rendered Tuesday Evening in Presbyterian Lecture Room

Two young men of widely varying talents entertained the husbands and friends of the Highland Park Woman's Club last Tuesday evening in the lecture room of the Presbyterian Church. Ralph Leo, who appeared at the joint meeting of the Ossoli and Woman's Clubs in December came for a second hearing on the insistent demand of the many who were charmed with his manner, his art, and his selections, and requested an opportunity for the men to share in their pleasure, again demonstrated his ability to captivate. He sang long songs, short songs, light and heavy numbers, dialect and Italian with equal tonal purity and distinct enunciation. In everything he did he took his hearers into raptures and made personal friends of each and every one in the audience.

Mrs. Elizabeth Heath supplied Mr. Leo's accompaniments, which is only a short and decisive way of saying they were beautiful and fine in every way. She has played many times before Highland Park gatherings and always with great success.

Alexander Harford appeared for the first time in Highland Park—for the second time in the States, in fact. He gives impersonations with true dramatic fire and instinct. His characterizations of Urial Heep, Wilkins Micawber, Mr. Squeers and the rest were very fine. Mr. Harford is quite young, gifted in a manner peculiarly his own, and captured his audience entire by the force of the thing he does. To come before so informal a gathering as he had Tuesday night and immediately establish atmosphere sufficient to place the subtle character of Sidney Carton clearly and indelibly is no small achievement with equal skill and ease. It was clear that he had a 'Dickens' audience' so keen was the anticipation and so ready the response to the fine points in his work.

The next meeting of the Highland Park Woman's Club will be on Feb. 21, at 2:30 p. m., when Mrs. M. H. Lieber of Winnetka will speak on the subject of Citizenship and Woman's responsibility.

GIRL SCOUTS WILL GIVE PLAY TOMORROW

"The Play Room" to be Presented at Episcopal Parish House By Troop One

Troop 1, Girl Scouts of Highland Park will give an entertainment tomorrow evening, (Friday) at the Episcopal Parish house. An interesting program has been arranged consisting of an address "Girl Scouts" by Miss Florence Neil, director of the Chicago Girl scout office; Girl Scout laws by members of Troop 1 and a one act play entitled "The Play Room." Miss Gale Hathaway, teacher of dramatics at the D. S. H. S. is coaching the play.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Bible school will meet at 9:30. Mr. Jesse L. Smith will give an illustrated talk on "Abraham Lincoln."

The adult Bible class will be led by Rev. Frank Fitt on the topic "The Measure of the Stature of the Fullness of Christ."

Morning worship at 11 o'clock.

On Monday, Feb. 13, the annual meeting and praise services of the Woman's Missionary union will meet at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. C. A. Smith, 191 Belle avenue. The reports of the officers and committees will be presented and the election of officers will take place. Miss Faye Steinmetz, who is attached to the national board in New York City, will speak.

The Dorcas society will hold an extra meeting on Monday, Feb. 13, to sew on articles for the sale. Luncheon will be served and the meeting adjourned early in order to attend.

The Westminster Guild will meet Tuesday, Jan. 14, at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. Frank Fitt, 295 Prospect ave.

On Wednesday evening, February 15, Miss Marion Hawthorne, of the department of religious education at Northwestern university, will speak at eight o'clock in the lecture room on the topic: "Religion in the Home." See fuller announcement elsewhere in paper.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week there will be a Presbyterian exposition at the Buena Memorial church to which all Presbyterians are invited. The minister will be glad to give any further information desired.

The Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups will meet Saturday at ten o'clock in the parish house.

WHAT IS HONEY?
Honey is the nectar of flowers modified and evaporated by the bees. It is placed on the market in three forms: first, COMB HONEY as found in the small sections boxes; second, EXTRACTED HONEY, so called because large combs are whirled in a machine called a honey-extractor, until the liquid honey flows out, leaving the combs practically empty as they can be put back in the hives to be filled again by the bees; third, GRANULATED HONEY, extracted honey that has been kept until it solidifies. Granulation in no wise affects the quality, for nearly every kind of honey, if kept long enough, will solidify or candy. It may be reduced again to the liquid form by being placed in a can that is surrounded by hot water. The extracted or liquid honey is often sold at a lower price for the reason that the wax of which the comb is built is produced by the bees at the expense of many times its own weight in honey, and since in this form the combs are not sold, but are filled over and over by the bees, this amount of wax is saved.
