OAK TERRACE SCHOOL

Kenneth Hepburn, editor.
About one-third of the pupils of seventh and eighth grades have handed in their baskets which are a part of their art work.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. Trout last Friday to sew for the Dorcas orphanage at Peoria.

Miss Miller, teacher of sixth grade, was absent all last week on account of illness. It was at first thought that she would be unable to take part in the play that was given last Friday evening but she recovered enough to take her part.

New improvements have been made by putting in some new electric fixtures in the office, kitchen and basement.

Thomas Russel and Lillian Rasmussen have been absent on account of illness.

Leola Carlson, Ruth Roslund, Gustaf Holmberg, Loreen Wilson, Benedict Eiffler, Henry Englund, Marshall Gooch, Caiso Gentiline, Lloyd Leagler, Sam Phillips and Conrad Swan were perfect in attendance for the month just ended.

Irene-Lisa, who has been absent for three weeks, is in school again.

Mr. Simpson, county superintendent of schools, was a visitor last Friday.

The teachers of this school will attend the mid-year meetings, March 2, 3 and 4; consequently school will be closed Thursday and Friday.

Miss Carolan, teacher of first grade, enrolled a new pupil, Nello Silvestrine.

Miss Farley, the art teacher, gave a talk on designs last Monday.

Miss Keough, second grade teacher, visited her home at Half Day during the week-end.

The local talent play, given at this school Friday evening, was a great success and was fully enjoyed by everyone who attended.

The next great event will be the Firemen's dance at the school. Every one should buy a ticket to help them along.

1500 ACRES SWAMP LAND IN COUNTY

The Latest Government Report Shows Interesting Facts About Lake County

Out of the total of 291,200 acres of land in Lake County there are 1500 in drainage enterprises which is swampy, wet or subject to overflow. Thus it is seen that 7 per cent of the land is in drainage enterprises. The cost of these drainage enterprises up to December 31st, 1919, in Lake County was $140,650.

These figures have just been secured from the Department of Commerce, Bureau of Census, Washington, Samuel L. Rogers, Director. This department has just issued a leaflet giving preliminary figures for organized drainage enterprises in various counties of Illinois.

Up to December 31, 1919, it showed that the area in organized drainage enterprises in Lake County were as follows:

Total acres, 20,520; improved acres, 18,630; timbered acres, 390; Other unimproved acres, 1500.

Another interesting thing sent out by this department is a leaflet giving the number of farms by counties in Illinois for the year 1920, 1910, and 1900. These figures show that Lake County in 1920 had nine farms less than it had in 1900 and had 30 less than it had in 1910. The figures on the total number of farms in Lake County for these years are as follows:

1920	2,220
1910	2,250
1900	2,229

If the day looks kinder gloomy
An' your chances kinder slim,
If the situation's puzzlin'
An' the prospects awful grim,
An' perplexities keep pressin'
Till all hope is nearly gone—
Just bristle up and grit your teeth,
An' keep on keepin' on. Selected.

"BUSINESS OUTLOOK HOPEFUL"—HASTINGS

MAYOR SPEAKS IN PEORIA

Declares Problem Is Only to Shorten Delay in Restoring Normal Ratios in Industrial Lines

Mayor Samuel M. Hastings, of Highland Park, spoke on the subject of business conditions at a meeting of the Peoria (Ill.) Association of Commerce last week. An Associated Press report of the talk was as follows:

Peoria, Ill. — There need be no fear of the future—either of American business or American citizenship, Samuel M. Hastings, director and former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, said in an address before the Peoria association of commerce today.

"Our problems will be solved and normal ratios will be established," said the speaker, who is mayor of Highland Park, Ill.

"Our great concern should be that the time be not long delayed. I am convinced the greatest epoch of our history is just ahead. May its sunrise find us ready."

The speaker said he had been confronted with business problems since "I resigned at 19 from my job as clerk in a retail dry goods store, and entered into business for myself. I have never known anything else since that time and I do not expect to get rid of business problems," he continued.

"If we do not have these things confronting us, did not have something of this kind to worry over, what difficulties would we have to surmount? You know, of course, our real business problem today we think is taxes—local, state, and national. Tax problems started when governments were formed—but we have gone along and notwithstanding all of these business problems we have progressed from a little group of people, filled with that mighty spirit of determination that has continued right thru the years until today we are a mighty nation.

"We fear a great many things, and we worry over a great many things, but my observation shows me that we are going onward and upward, and that the difficulties disappear very much easier when we get up to them than from what we anticipated from a distance.

Individual Effort Needed
"I do not like much to talk about business problems, because any solution that one offers is only guess work after all. The difficulty is overcome by the individual effort of the person, firm, or corporation."

In picturing "the many things we have to be thankful for," the speaker named first "this great state of ours the industrial capital of the great wealth—mineral, agricultural and industrial—and with a citizenship of which we can all be proud."

Mr. Hastings said that at times persons living in Chicago criticized the state outside of Chicago, while some downstate residents found fault with the metropolis.

"This is all wrong, utterly foolish and should not be tolerated," he said. "I believe that the people of Illinois are wildly enthusiastic over this great metropolis, and I believe that the city of Chicago is proud because it is situated within the confines of the great state of Illinois."

In discussing the privileges of American citizenship, Mr. Hastings said:

"The privilege of American citizenship carries with it grave responsibilities. You business men cannot stand idly by and take no part in the conduct of this great nation if it is going to stand. If each of you will not do your duty as a good American citizen in holding public office, or doing whatever it may come to your attention to do that your ability permits, then you are a slacker in the very worst sense."

FILE PROTEST TO 30 PER CENT TAX

Attorney Homer Cooke last Friday afternoon filed a bill in the circuit court attacking the 30 per cent land tax raise that has been fought out in county, and supreme court, and which was upheld by the supreme court when Corporation Counsel Arthur Bulkley went to Springfield, and succeeded in having the decision of the county court reversed.

The new suit is filed by six complainants, Joseph Blaha, Nicholas Wetzel, William Wright, William Porter and Cohen and Serlin.

They claim that the raise in tax assessments was illegal, because the board did not order a complete special re-assessment of property before passing the resolution.

Former County Assessor B. A. Dunn and County Treasurer Roy Bracher are named as defendants in the suit. The objectors claim that the assessment was raised 18 cents more than it should have been, and that the assessments were boosted three times their normal size when the board ordered a re-assessment.

The motorists who tuck in some home brew before driving do not seem to worry much about the cost of gasoline and repairs.

After electing to office slick talkers who have no business experience, many people are surprised that government costs so high.

The people who can't pay their bills now because of the high cost of fuel, may not be able to pay them next summer because of their vacation expenses.
