WOULD HAVE GIRLS BETTER HOME-MAKERS

President Scott of Northwestern Says Most Schools Neglect Important Issue

Janesville, Wis.—Compulsory courses in "home making" for all girl students at Northwestern University—and for all co-educational schools, for that matter—was urged by Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of that institution, before a meeting of representatives of a Janesville woman's club and alumni of Northwestern this (Friday) evening. President Scott quite clearly indicated that he feels that girl students of today are being educated away from instead of toward the home.

"Very little has been or is being done for those who, after graduation become home-makers," he said. "Most women graduates of our colleges, five years after graduation, are found to be home-makers; but the training they receive in college has sometimes been such as to make them discontented and accordingly inefficient in the home.

"This situation is most serious and a change must be made. The women's colleges scarcely dare adopt a program different from that provided for men lest they be classed as inferior to men's schools. Co-educational institutions probably offer better training for women and certainly are in a better position to experiment and to lead the evolution of the education of college women.

"The home-maker is commonly the purchasing agent for the family. She hires the labor, assumes responsibility for food and clothing and for household decoration and maintenance. She is the nurse, the educator and the social secretary for each member of the household. She has the directing voice in the affairs of the church, the local schools, the city administration, the state politics, the national government and the league of nations.

"The numerous responsibilities devolving on the typical home-maker present more difficulties of administration than does the task faced by our men graduates who enter business or the learned professions. In importance of function and in difficulty of execution, the task of the home-maker must become more and more an object of consideration for the executive officers of co-educational and of women's colleges.

"The boards that administer these institutions should strive in every way to meet the needs of these college women who are to become home-makers. Northwestern University, I may add, is an ideal institution in which to achieve progress in this field and to make this possible the trustees have in mind various new buildings, including one for the home arts for women.

President Scott said that he advocated a course in home-making not in the sense of training "teachers in domestic science" but for all girl students throughout their college course on the basis of direct need. Among the studies he suggested were hygiene, nursing, physical education, literature, music, foods and cookery, household administration, child study, religious training, psychology and related topics.

U. S. FINDS WAY TO HALT LIQUOR FRAUDS

"Forgeries and alterations of liquor withdrawal permits must be stopped!" says Prohibition Director Haynes. And stopped they will be, for the Government has just adopted a means of protection that is expected to thoroughly choke off wholesale liquor frauds by permit-juggling.

The liquor permit swindler for many months has been as much of an annoyance to Federal Prohibition Enforcement Agents as check swindlers for years have been to banks and depositors.

Permits have been altered after leaving official hands to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The practice has been one of the most easily penetrated loopholes for the crafty bootlegger.

In a desperate effort to circumvent the clever bootlegging swindlers, Government officials recently conducted a lengthy investigation into the merits of scores of plans and contrivances to thwart license alteration.

At last the Prohibition Enforcement Service has found a solution of the problem that promises to block license forgeries. This is the employment of special permit-writing machines. Half a hundred of these have just been made for the use of issuers of liquor withdrawal permits.

These machines, while ingenious and thoroughly efficient, are small and simple in operation. They resemble a check protector made by the same manufacturer and employ the most modern protective principles of the safest possible check writer. The company making these devices for the Government has guaranteed not to manufacture any other machine of exactly the same type.

The words of the text stamped by the machines on the permits are diagonal. This permits writing more words on each line than any other machine can do, and prevents the insertion of interlinear words, which has been a common practice among permit forgers. The most important feature of the machine, however, is that the amount of liquor to be withdrawn is perforated entirely through the paper and also macerated, all in one operation. Alteration of permits is as impossible as alteration of checks written with the same machine.

ARBOR-BIRD DAYS NAMED BY GOVERNOR

Designates April 14 and Oct. 27; Natural Resources Should Be Fostered

Governor Len Small has issued the following proclamation for the observance of Arbor and Bird days on April 14 and October 27.

"The laws of Illinois provide that the governor shall, annually, in the spring, designate a day or days to be known as

"ARBOR AND BIRD DAY."

"The trees and the birds of any land constitute a part of its natural wealth, and their aesthetic value is highly as important to the people as their economic value. They minister to and delight the senses. Our trees preserve our lands from erosion, they furnish us with the fruits of the earth and with lumber to house us and with fuel to warm us, and their grateful shade shields us from the blazing sun of summer. Our birds, subsisting largely upon insect pests, protect the growing trees and crops and thus add materially to the wealth of the State, besides contributing to our pleasure by their bright plumage and sweet songs. It is quite essential that our youth from time to time be impressed with the necessity of propagating and fostering these important natural resources.

"Now, therefore, I, Len. Small, Governor of Illinois, by virtue of the authority in me vested by the statutes, do hereby designate Friday, April the fourteenth, and Friday, October the twenty-seventh, of the present year as Arbor and Bird days, to be observed throughout the State by planting and care of trees, shrubs, and vines about the homes, on the farms, along the highways, and about public grounds within this State, and as days on which to hold appropriate exercises in the public schools and elsewhere to emphasize the importance to our State of the propagation of trees, shrubs and vines, and the preservation of our native birds."
