THE BONUS AND TAXATION

If there is to be bonus legislation adding a huge sum to the obligations of the government, Secretary Mellon wants no deceit about it. Fairness to the service men and to the taxpayer alike demands an honest facing of the facts.

As to the proposal to use the foreign debt, either principal or interest, as a fund out of which to meet the claims of the soldiers, that project may be rightly called a fraud. If a bonus is to be paid, it must be met out of new taxation.

To leave no doubt Mr. Mellon says: "If there is to be a soldiers' bonus it is clear it must be provided for through new taxation, and through taxation in addition to the taxes imposed by existing law." The prospective Treasury deficit for the fiscal year 1922-23 would become $1,000,000,000 if these proposed bonuses are paid, and this sum is too large to be balanced except by additional revenue.

Congress, acting within the scope of its constitutional jurisdiction, has hitherto not been inclined to follow the advice of the country chief financial officer. But, though the advice is disregarded this in no way removes the hard facts on which it is based. Roundabout tactics will not put a dollar in the treasury, whether for a bonus of something else.

MADE IN AMERICA

The war and navy departments have virtually reached the conclusion that further experimentation with lighter than air machines shall be solely with those of American manufacture. A dirigible of American design and construction is now in process of assembly at Lakehurst, New Jersey. It is similar in size to the ill-fated ZR-2 that collapsed in England, but contains none of the structural defects that were responsible for that catastrophe. Furthermore, no more dirigibles will be sent aloft unless filled with helium. In this connection Secretary of War Weeks has taken occasion to refute the charge that has appeared in the press to the effect that congress refused an appropriation for the operation of a helium plant, and therefore should be held responsible for the wreck of the Roma. As a matter of fact congress appropriated $250,000 for the production of helium, all that was asked by the air service, and there was enough on hand to have filled the Roma. Just why that was not done is now a matter of investigation.

IMMIGRANT PROVISION PENDING

Many thousands of aliens are taking up their residence in Mexico and Canada for the purpose of getting across into the United States after they have established a year's residence in those countries, according to press dispatches. The immigration law provides that any one who has lived in either Canada or Mexico for a year may immigrate to the United States. The result is that many aliens who cannot get past the United States barriers in any other way are establishing a year's residence in these contiguous territories. It is proposed to strengthen the law making a longer period of residence necessary.

The emergency immigration law will expire July 1. It has been extended in operation for one year, however; otherwise immigration to the United States would be limited only by the capacity of steamships to carry the alien peoples.

When it comes to enact the permanent law congress should be impressed with the necessity of making the measure highly restrictive, for to permit the invasion of vast numbers of aliens would result in many serious consequences.

Pageant
 The annual Pageant of the Y. W. C. A. is in process of rehearsal and will be given soon after Easter.

JOHN FREBERG UP FOR RE-ELECTION

Announces Candidacy for Highway Commissioner at Election, April 4

I desire to take this opportunity to advise the voters of the township of East Deerfield that I will be a candidate for re-election to the office of Highway Commissioner at the coming election Tuesday, April 4th, 1922.

For the past forty years I have been a resident of this township and have taken a keen interest as a citizen in the Public Welfare of the community. During my last years in which I have been in public office I have endeavored to keep a strict accounting of all matters in which I know the taxpayers are deeply interested. I wish to ask that each and every voter consider carefully our recent improvements in bridges, new roads and maintenance and then judge for yourself if I have fulfilled my duties.

We have now nearly completed arrangements for the new road between Highland Park and Deerfield which was originally intended to be eighteen feet wide but by saving our funds as much as possible we have now arranged for a twenty-four foot right-of-way. We have also secured the granting of a new road starting three hundred feet this side of Skokie bridge on Deerfield road running west of Ridge road.

If re-elected to the office I promise it will have my earnest and best attention as in the past.

Respectfully yours,
 JOHN FREBERG.

Doing the new dances seems to be largely sitting down and trying to get your partner to explain how she does 'em.

Some folks need to practice cheek to cheek dancing, as their heads need support so that their brains won't rattle.

The kids who are now kicking on Saturday night bath, will soon be escaping from the house several times a day to go in swimming.

The man who writes for posterity gets ponderous with the weight of his responsibility, while the man is conspicuous for his lack of it who writes for money.

The be-flappers are making themselves conspicuous, but to get results they need to use rouge and lip sticks. At last reports the Italians were still fuming about Fiume.

Candidates for congress are being interrogated, and they should frankly state their opinions about the state flower, Paris fashions, and the baseball season.

There is a growing feeling that the president, in dealing with congress, has accomplished all he can with the sugar bowl, and should now reach for the shingle.
