SPRING BLOSSOM TIME

The great prodigality of nature in her efforts to supply man with food and with shade from the heat of the scorching sun is indicated with indisputable evidence by a glance at some of the trees as they now appear laden with spring blossoms. It is also self-evident that not nearly all of the blossoms with their promise ever mature. If they did, a tree which bears countless fragrant blossoms would not be able to carry the load of mature fruit. It would be a strange provision of nature that all apples born on a tree should mature, and, dropping to the ground, propagate other apple trees. Soon there would be a thicket of scrubby fruit trees and not one would bear full-sized fruit.

Beyond the material view of the blossoms on a fruit tree, the esthetic side has a strong appeal. The mass of delicate pink and white blossoms, almost hiding the limbs and twigs, delight the eye with their tints. Nature has outdone man with her color work. And the faint perfume which is so prodigally scattered on the winds, certainly in itself would justify the care of the trees. If one can breathe the entrancing perfumes from a wild crabapple tree, which in desolation is doing its bit to make the world a pleasant place in which to live, and think the tree is worthless because the fruit is small and the branches are protected by spines, then indeed nature is a closed book, and apples and other fruit need not exist outside of a fruit stand.

CLEAN-UP TIME

Spring is the time of new things, when the old and decadent give way to nature's new birth of foliage and plant life, and all the world puts on new raiment.

Spring also is the clean-up season, when man's habitation should be made to harmonize with nature.

Where there is filth there is nearly always disease. Disorder is accompanied by waste, danger and decay. Dirt and disorder are the greatest enemies to public decency, health and safety.

A few clean and orderly homes in a select residence district can never safeguard the entire community. A single, filthy home, dirty backyard or a stagnant pool may easily become the source of an epidemic. A trash pile may start a general conflagration.

Every thrifty housewife knows the need and the joy of household cleanliness. She has a general housecleaning twice a year, when she changes her furnishings, but she keeps her home immaculate all the time. No semi-annual clean-up for her home!

Every individual should be as proud of his city and his habitation and its environments as the most immaculate housekeeper is proud of her home.

LIQUOR IN THE PAST TENSE

Some critics think it strange that the newest edition of an American encyclopedia should refer to the liquor business and its appurtenances in the past tense. Why not? It is gone.

It might appear to some persons as curious that the editors of the publication should say in connection with the wine industry: "We had in the Eastern states and in California all the opportunities for success," or that "the whiskey upon which the reputation of Kentucky so largely depended, was that kind of liquor known as sour mash." But a second's thought shows that the book-maker was very much up to his job, and was guided by accuracy in stating the case.

Just why some persons think that the "old days" will return is not clear. Certainly the sentiment on the question, if changing at all, has not changed sufficiently to warrant any hope that the degree of the constitution will be upset. For one thing the mechanics of the thing are too difficult, and, more appropriately, there is not sufficient public opinion to get the mechanics into motion.

The real question is not the modification of Prohibition or its repeal, but its enforcement. There is a growing conviction that the job is not mountainous at all, if real sincere judges, prosecutors and investigators are on the job. The attack will not be on Prohibition. It will be on those charged with its enforcement.

FORMER HIGHLAND PARK BOY KILLED APRIL 25

Gordon Ewart Meets Death When Racing Car Goes Into Embankment

Rounding the curve, coming into the home stretch on the race track at Valdosta, Ga., late Tuesday afternoon, April 25th, the Grant Six, driven by Gordon Ewart, suddenly swerved and crashed into the infield fence and struck the embankment behind, overturning the car and inflicting injuries on the driver, which resulted in his death fifteen minutes later, at the Little Griffin Hospital. The fated car was owned by Dr. L. F. Owens of Valdosta, who appreciating the ability and judgment of the young man, asked him to test the car, which had been entered for the race the following day. The lower part of Gordon's body was severely mangled, but his face was practically uninjured. His father and brother were with him when he died, and his fiancé reached him soon after.

The funeral services which occurred from the family residence at 513 Floyd Street, were conducted by Rev. L. R. Scott, of the Presbyterian church, who, besides the usual prayers and scripture reading, made an impressive talk on the uncertainty of life, from the text: "In the midst of life we are in death." A quartet rendered beautifully two numbers, "Lead Kindly Light," and "Some Day We'll Understand."

The high esteem in which the young man was held was marked by the numerous floral offerings. Though a comparative stranger in Valdosta, having come here in 1919, he had made many warm friends, and was universally liked by all who knew him.

Henry Gordon Ewart, born February 3, 1901, twin of George Douglas Ewart, at Highland Park, Ill., coming to Valdosta the winter of 1919.

He leaves to survive him his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ewart, three sisters, four brothers, Mr. Douglas Ewart, stationed in California; Mr. John Ewart, of Torrington, Wyo.; Mrs. Frank Fuller of the Panama Canal Zone; Mrs. Isabelle Gould; Mrs. Thomas Taylor; Mr. Lloyd Ewart; Master Alpin Ewart.

The Ewart family were residents of this city for many years and are well remembered by residents here.

DEERFIELD BEATEN BY NEW TRIER NINE

Blue and White Boys Edged Out by 2 to 1 Score on Tuesday Afternoon

Deerfield-Shields was downed for the first time Tuesday afternoon when New Trier scored a 2-1 victory over the local high school nine at New Trier. New Trier scored one run in the first inning and one in the second. Deerfield scored once in the second. Each team collected four hits. The Blue and White boys were not playing their usual brand of ball, and their hitting was poor. The batteries were: Deerfield; Huhnke, Landis; New Trier; Siebolt, Kimball.

Last Friday Deerfield won from Evanston 8-2 at Evanston. In the sixth inning, Dyer scored with the bases loaded. Landis clouted a two bagger, scoring three runners. At the end of the sixth the score was 6-2. Deerfield scored two tallies in the seventh. Landis and Baker made two-base hits. Glader struck out 9, and Kassel 5. A feature of the game was a catch by Dyer in the first inning in right field.

Deerfield will play Waukegan this afternoon (Thursday) at Waukegan. This will be the last game of the first round.
