

WHAT CAUSES THAT elusive squeak? From whence cometh the hidden rattle that yieldeth not to lubrication? These are questions that the average car owner is not prepared to solve.

Still the squeaks and rattles endure. Nothing is so disquieting. Nothing takes so much out of the pleasure of motoring, or is more embarrassing to the car owner.

Rattles and squeaks are not always due to incorrect or insufficient lubrication. Often the trouble is mechanical and requires the attention of an expert mechanic.

If you have squeaks or rattles that you can't find, bring the car to us. We have made a study of such things and can help you.

Motor repairing, too. And vulcanizing, and a full line of really good accessories.

Public Service Co. Figures Indicate That Prosperity Is Increasing

The Public Service Company, which supplies electricity for lighting and power and gas for fuel throughout the great industrial zone extending around Chicago, reports that its contracts made for additional electric power during the first four months of 1922 are far in excess of those for the same period of 1921. These figures in fact are the largest for any four months since the boom year of 1920.

The same approximate figures are noted as to the Company's contracts for wiring houses. They are nearly 300 per cent above those of January, February, March and April, 1921.

The industrial district referred to is one of the most remarkable in the world with respect to the number of manufacturing plants in it and the diversion of products. Some of the plants are immense, employing small armies of workers and demanding electrical energy and gas to the extent in the first case of as much as six and seven thousand horse power daily in individual cases and in the latter to the extent of nearly one million cubic feet per day.

"Our men out through the district which extends from Waukegan southward through the towns to the west of Chicago, Maywood, Melrose Park, Cicero, Clearing, to Blue Island, Harvey, Chicago Heights, Joliet and on the south as far as Kaskakee and Streator" said an official of the Public Service Company. "They see the operators of many of the plants not occasionally but almost daily and so we are enabled to keep in close touch with the situation. The figures of our new contracted business are the best possible indication that the tide has turned and that prosperity is coming back. A year ago there was very little encouragement given us. The owners of the factories were pretty gloomy in a great many cases. It can be stated now that even in the instances of plants that are not yet in full operation, plans are being carried out for an enlargement of productive capacity. There is no doubt in my mind that we have not only turned the corner with respect to the revival of industry but have gone a considerable distance on the road to it. Our Company is calculating on a heavy increase in both its power and gas business."

The sermon theme for next Sunday morning will be "An Ages Old Prophecy; Its Fulfillment."
