

Seasonable Suggestions

For the Garden perhaps no other plants have become more popular of late years than the Perennials. This class consists of such as are usually cut down by frost in late Fall, with little or no protection will over-winter in the open and start into growth again the following season.

Phoenix-like they arise, just as the last snow has disappeared to greet us with beautiful foliage and later on with blossoms of an endless variety of shapes, shades and colorings, more abundant and showy by far than they were the previous year.

After the long Winter months we look forward to the first Virginia Blue Bells, the Primrose, the Iceland Poppy, the Columbine or the brownish tips of the Peony to break through the soil, Spring is here, Summer on the way and with each coming week we have the pleasure looking forward to new buds to form, develop and unfold into lovely blossoms up to November when the last Anemones, the Moonpenny Daisy and the Ponpon Chrysanthemum hang their little heads to go to sleep. After all, doesn't that go far to prove as true what John Burroughs said that we can find happiness right at Home—surely you can if you have a little Garden.

By planting Perennials or so called old fashioned hardy border plants and selecting the right varieties it is possible to have some of them in bloom from early May until snow flies and the fact that most of them will improve from year to year is really what makes them desirable. We have just published a list of over 60 varieties, the very best and latest sorts and such as are especially to be recommended for our soil and climatic conditions, the height, color and flowering period of each variety is given and what purpose they are best adapted for. Don't you want us to send you one? We like to.

Whether you have space to lay out a one hundred foot long border for the planting of Perennials or can only give up a small bed, a nice showing can be had in either case, or a start can be made with just a few plants and more added from year to year.

Most varieties don't cost more than 25 cents per plant and if planted this Fall will bloom freely next summer, what could you plant less expensive, what could be considered a more profitable investment, what could add more to the attractiveness of your Grounds, what more delightful to possess and enjoy for such small outlay?

Even if your Grounds are small there is room for a few stately Larkspur with their azure and turquoise flower spikes, a few of the new double Moonpenny Shasta Daisies, the showy giant Marshmallows in Rose and Salmon pink or Oriental poppies of the same shade, Artemisia with their graceful stems covered with hundreds of small creamy white airy blossoms, the delicate gentian blue Salvia or the golden yellow Rock Rose. All of these and many others are perfectly hardy with us, thrive in almost any soil and need but little attention, you should have them all in your Garden, you need their companionship, enjoy and profit by their association.

All over the country east and west, north and south, do we find men and women taking a deeper interest in gardening, in beautiful home grounds, new and still more beautiful grounds are springing up and old ones are being remade or remodeled and the owners think more of their homes on account of it, they enjoy life more and live longer. Don't you want to follow suit, don't you want to plant just a few Perennials this Fall and spend happy moments by the fireside this Winter thinking about the coming Spring, when with Nature born anew you can welcome your friends in the hardy border? Of course you do for if you didn't you miss a whole lot being blessed with living in beautiful Highland Park where to possess a Garden is made possible.

If there is any way in which we can assist you laying out a Perennial border or letting you know what will do best in the sun or shade, where and how to plant, what your grounds need, your lawn, trees, shrubs, or driveway, in fact if there is anything pertaining to your home grounds you feel as if you should have expert advice on, all you have to do is call up 85. On new grounds in particular the owner often could avoid expensive mistakes, that is what we are here for, for 27 years we have been here on the job and busier today than ever before. We want to serve you, assist you with your outdoor problems and you will always find us ready to do so. It is a pleasure.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH

Corner of North Ave. and Lauretta Place.

William E. Grose, Pastor

The work of the church officials is now at its highest point. There is much to do in closing the conference year, and preparing for the new. Every member and friend is requested to co-operate as far as possible in making the finest possible showing. It has, in many respects been a good year, and Grace church has the hopeful outlook that is the result of the new accessions and greater activities shown by older members.

The Epworth League is preparing for a get-together, get-acquainted party to be held Friday evening September 29. All young people, of the old League, and those who would find pleasure in the activities of the new organization are urged to be present. The committee is preparing an unusually fine program.

Every member and friend of the church is urged to attend the service next Sunday morning. The theme will be "God's Storehouse." In the evening the pastor will give a lecture-service. Theme, "Shifting Sands." Come. Bring your friends.

That was an interesting meeting of the Ladies Aid Society last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Bell. The same can be said of the session of the W. F. M. S. at the home of Mrs. F. W. Scharon on Tuesday afternoon. Our women-folks are active and full of good works.

Our people were delighted to have Rev. H. D. Dick, former pastor, make several calls on them last week. Misses Ruby and Irma Dick remained over Sunday.

Grace M. E. Sunday School sent a fine delegation to the Township Sunday School convention last Sunday afternoon. The reports from all the schools were very fine. We were rather proud of our showing along all lines.

Be sure to go to church Sunday. If convenient, and you are not a member elsewhere, you will find a cordial welcome at the little white church, corner North Ave. and Lauretta Place.

Come, you need the church and the church needs you. On Sunday morning, October 1, Rev. C. A. Koten will preach and conduct the communion service. Shall we not look forward to that blessed service with great anticipation.

H. M. SHADLE, Minister.
