

HIGHWOOD WALLOPS NORTH CHICAGO 11

Defeat Visiting Team 28 to 0 in One-Sided Game; Play Modocs Next

Highwood trimmed North Chicago Sunday afternoon at the home field, 28-0. The game was one sided throughout. Highwood scored a touchdown in the first few minutes of play on long forward passes by Lauridsen. Another was made before the close of the first quarter. The lightweights were then substituted for the first string and they held the visitors well but no scores were made.

In the second half the first team were again put in and new plays and formations were practiced. The field was in good condition although a drizzling rain kept up during most of the game. The visitors fumbled frequently but Highwood held the ball well considering.

Next Sunday Highwood will meet the Modoc A. C. of Chicago at Highwood Field. The Modocs have not been defeated this season so a game well worth seeing is expected.

"DEAR BRUTUS" IS OPENING FEATURE

N. SHORE THEATRE GUILD

Barrie's Greatest Play to Be Given by This Organization; 1st Presentation Nov. 14 at Lake Forest

In all north shore cities much interest is being manifested in the opening feature of the North Shore Theater Guild's season, "Dear Brutus," Barrie's famous play, to be presented by the Guild players first on Tuesday evening, Nov. 14 at Lake Forest and on succeeding days of the week at New Trier and Evanston.

The North Shore Theatre Guild has chosen "Dear Brutus" as the only revival to be given during the year. While making no pretense toward approaching the standard of the professional production, the Guild confidently believes that, given this beautiful play, a well-chosen cast and a competent director, the result will win the approval of the patrons.

The play is a comedy, interspersed with high lights of pathos, sentiment—farce, almost, at times, that it never approaches a monotone. You are amused at one moment, deeply touched the next. Only Barrie could present such truths in such a whimsical way. The play is not in print and has only recently been released to amateurs. It was only by special arrangement and special price that the rights of production were granted the Guild by the Frohman interests.

Miss Fitz-Hugh Stars
"Who is going to play the part of the child?" is often heard. Miss Virginia Fitz-Hugh of Lake Forest. And beautifully it will be played. The funny little old Lob, the Puck who forgot to die—will be played by Dr. Oliver Farnsworth of Evanston. A difficult role, and most sincerely acted.

The play is being coached by Raymond O'Neill, who was for a number of years director of the Cleveland Little Theatre. He has a deep and natural love for and understanding of the theater, and is especially skillful in technical direction. Those in the cast feel that they are having an unusual experience under his coaching.

Where Play is Given
The performances of "Dear Brutus" are to be given as follows:
Lake Forest, Tuesday, Nov. 14; Evanston, Wednesday, Nov. 15 and at New Trier on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 16 and 17. Members may attend any one of the performances, their tickets admitting them in either Lake Forest, Evanston or New Trier.

The people who step on the gas are working more with their feet than with their heads.

Over 2,000 school children of Berwyn township, Cook county, will be benefited by the recent employment of full-time health officer and public health nurses.

DEERFIELD WINS FROM WAUKEGAN 11

HARVEY'S PERFORMANCE

Makes 3 Touchdowns; Other Players in Good Work; Second String Men Have Chance

Playing mostly second-string men during the greater part of the game, Deerfield-Shields last Saturday easily defeated the Waukegan high grid-ders, 39 to 12. Though outclassed by the heavy Deerfield eleven, Waukegan put up a game fight and scored two touchdowns.

Deerfield made gains in both open and straight playing and Waukegan could not withstand the smashing attacks of the home team. Half-back Harvey of Deerfield was in the game only for a half, but made three touchdowns, Steele, Dyer and Allan carried the ball for gains, Watt, Bolan and Reichelt played a good defensive game.

Second-string men who played during the game are Simmons, the two Scholz, Mitchell, Johnson, Dever, S. Rogers, Redmond, Abbott and Hoffman.

Deerfield Scores First

Deerfield scored early in the first quarter when Steele made a touchdown on an off-tackle play and kicked the extra point. Shortly afterward, Harvey, who was substituted for Steele, broke through Waukegan's defense for the second touchdown, but try for goal missed. In a few minutes, Harvey made another touchdown when Waukegan fumbled. Procter passed to Sandwick for extra point. The quarter ended 20 to 0.

In the second stanza Waukegan's defense stiffened and their offensive work also was better. Deerfield scored first when Harvey and Dyer smashed through tackle for first down and Harvey followed with touchdown, but Dyer missed try for goal. Near end of the half Waukegan punted to the 50 yard line and succeeded in following with a touchdown. Score, 26 to 5.

Second Half
In the third quarter Deerfield was penalized twice for holding and Waukegan scored first. On a fumble by Waukegan the ball was Deerfield's on the five-yard line and Dyer passed to Johnson for touchdown, and Steele kicked goal. Score, 33 to 12.

In the last quarter Reichelt blocked Waukegan's punt and ran for touchdown, but Steele missed place kick. Toward the end of the game Deerfield was penalized 15 yards and no more scores were tallied.

Deerfield-Shields plays Evanston next Saturday.

The Lyons Gazette says: "The baby feeding and care clinics held at the Health Center continue to be popular. Many minor defects are found and mothers are advised as to how to care for the little ones. A capable physician is on hand at each meeting, as well as our efficient nurse."

"Public health and schools," says the Peoria Transcript, "will work together under the direction of Miss Georgia Yates, superintendent of the Public Health Nursing association, and Dr. J. M. Furstman, school physician. The city will be divided into nine districts with a nurse assigned to each district."

Sixty-two schools in Cook county, it is announced, will serve milk at recess to all pupils.

Guess What They Are Talking About.

Richard Lloyd Jones tells About Future Supplies.

A SCHOOLBOY whose awakened conscience and interest in the world as it is, mixed his arithmetic and geographic knowledge into a long list of interrogations that perplexed him.

"What are we going to do for shingles and boards when the trees are all cut down?"

"What are we going to do when the coal is all burned up?"

"Where are they going to go when the land is all owned and used?"

It is a wise boy that puts such questions to himself. He is thinking in terms of conservation. That young chap is going to be a useful citizen. He is not going to be a waster. He is to help solve our conservation problems.

Thank goodness, the world is full of just such boys who do not wish to live a Nero life, to spend what there is now and let those who follow suffer the Deluge. Such boys are going to save the needs of life from devastation, and long before a need is exhausted they will find its substitute.

We thatched our roofs with straw before the shingles came. Because we have the shingles we now burn the straw. When the trees are all gone we will make a better shingle from the straw.

Geologists tell us that there is coal enough to last through several centuries of time. Already we are toying with great condensers that gather many sunbeams into one strong ray of heat.

We have found it possible not only to get heat from the sun, but to store it. Its only impracticability is the cost of operation. The same genius that found the process will cheapen it. We have found the radio wave carries the sound. Physicists tell us that same wave will carry heat.

Long before the coal is gone we will cease to mine it. A cheaper and better process of heating our furnaces will come direct to us from the sun whose flames rise above its molten mass surface to the height of the circumference of this earth. That old ball has been burning a long time, and mathematics haven't ciphered enough to calculate the endurance of its flames.

And what will we do when the land is all owned and used? Look upon so rich a state as Oklahoma. Only one-thirtieth of its tillable land is now under the plow. There is Florida, a tangled mass of verdure. A peninsula warmed by the sun and cooled by the sea, moist and temperate where everything will grow. Yet only one-third of its tillable land is under the plow. Ninety-seven per cent of its acres have not yet felt the harrow. It will take several centuries before even our good country will be crowded.

As our great interior desert has been brought to bloom, so will the mammoth Isle of Australia flower. Africa will be gardened. The lowlands of the Amazon and the highlands of the Himalayas will be farmed. And as we close in, we will learn how to grow more in less space.

This is a good old world we are in. It meets our needs as our needs appear. It meets them because we always have boys who grow to manhood with the inquiring mind that wonders how they can help the good old world to make all things better for man.

On the day of the opening of the public schools of Quincy two well developed cases of scarlet fever were found. The afflicted pupils were promptly quarantined, and prompt action by Dr. Pollard, health officer, and five graduate nurses, prevented the spread of the disease. Medical and nursing service in the public schools is a good investment.

URGES GENERAL ATHLETIC PLAY

FOR MASS DEVELOPMENT

Hugh Fullerton, Noted Sports Expert, Declares Country Needs More Out-Door Recreations

Advocating a public movement that would mean more general participation in amateur athletics by our young men and women and deploring the trend in the United States toward professionalism in sports, Hugh Fullerton, for thirty years a sports-writer in Chicago and New York in an address recently to students of the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University called upon the newspaper fraternity to lend a stronger hand in developing constructive sports sentiment.

In outlining the gradual growth of out-of-door sentiment in the United States, Mr. Fullerton said that of late years this country had been falling behind sister nations.

U. S. Lags Behind

"The United States," he said, "boasting itself the greatest athletic nation in the world, has fallen to fourth, and perhaps fifth, place in athletic training and development. Our boasts received a rude shock during the war, when, in the selective draft, with only 54 per cent of the men of supposed athletic ages chosen for the service, competitive trials showed that fewer than 46 per cent of these could leap a six foot ditch.

Sacrificing Mass Development

"We are producing champion athletes, record breakers, in almost every line and neglecting the great mass of the people. The desire to win overshadows the athletic development of the nation, and organizations, colleges, coaches, devote themselves to intensive work on the super-athlete, instead of mass athletics.

"Commercialization of sport, even of amateur sport, has worked to handicap mass athletics. Coaches, seeking personal reputation must say the mea culpa, but we sporting writers should, in all fairness, add mea maxima culpa.

"There is nothing standing between the worst phases of commercialization of sport—both amateur and professional, excepting Judge Landis, Major Griffiths and the sporting writers and we sporting writers must plead guilty to having failed of our duty in enlightening the public and arousing public sentiment to the dangers.

"Too many of us sporting writers become press agents for amusement enterprises instead of reporters for our own papers and for the public."

Urges General Participation

Mr. Fullerton outlined his personal experiences of more than thirty years describing the evolution of sporting writing, and of sports in the United States, closing with an argument for mass athletics for all the youth of the nation.

NORTH SHORE FIVES TEAMS CHALLENGED

Waukegan Basketball Squad Wants Games with Teams in Shore Cities

Town teams, clubs and other basketball teams along the north shore and in Wisconsin are challenged by the McCann-Billiken team of Waukegan. They want to secure traveling dates for any night and are ready to accept six games a week.

They particularly want to hear from the following: Winnetka, Gurnee, Antioch, Libertyville, Lake Forest, Young Men's club, Racine, Kenosha, Milwaukee, Beloit, Janesville, Grayslake, Wauconda, Lake Villa, McHenry, Highland Park, Evanston and others who think they can defeat the Billiken combination, or who have figured in previous games with them. They want to start the season the first of November.

The Billikens have massed an all-star lineup this season. Their average is above the 125 mark, probably 136, but are willing to give weight. Address Henry Wallenwein, 1805 Washington street, Waukegan, for games.
