DEPENDS ON HOSPITALITY

Leonard Day, San Francisco Author, Visits Highland Park on Unique Walk-Trip

In an effort to prove his contention that a man can tramp 11,000 miles, clear around the United States without a cent, depending wholly on the inherent generosity of the American people, "Penniless" Leonard Day, San Francisco author and newspaperman arrived in Highland Park at noon last Thursday, on foot, accompanied by two members of the Evanston fire department, and was the guest of the Highland Park firemen until Saturday morning, when he left for Waukegan. He remained there until Monday, as guest of the Waukegan firemen, and then departed for Kenosha. At Waukegan he was given an Airedale dog for a companion.

Entertained by Firemen
In Highland Park, Day was fed and lodged by the firemen, as in several other cities, and he said that nowhere had the hospitality extended him here been surpassed. Soon after his arrival here he and his escorts were given a dinner. In the evening Day was entertained by the members of the department at their headquarters and given a bed there. Day is an interesting character, and his stories of his experiences on his unique trip are interesting. Hatless, costless and penniless he is making the long trip depending entirely upon the hospitality and generosity of the American people to see him through. He cannot accept money, and can not ask for food, shelter, necessities, luxuries or pleasures. He must depend upon his new friends each day to volunteer aid.

Since leaving Washington, D. C., he has only missed his meals 31 times. Only three times since leaving San Antonio, Tex., has he slept out of doors.

Started in November
Day started out from San Francisco, November 20, 1921, without a cent in his pockets. He agreed to make the freak journey in an effort to prove the unsolicited generosity of the American people. A book publishing company had refused the publication of one of his books, because the publishers declared it did not ring true to the actual conditions. It was the story of a man, who penniless, traveled the country and was cared for unsolicited. If Day proves that his story is correct, he says, the book will be published and he will be $6,500 richer.

During his trip, which, when he reached here, had consumed 7,094 miles, Day has worn out nine pairs of shoes, and three dogs. His fourth pal, an airedale named "Radio" was struck by an automobile in Cleveland a few weeks ago.

Says North Most Hospitable
"The hospitality of the northern states is much superior to the much talked of hospitality of the south," Day declares. "I expected to find the southern folks more warm hearted than the New Englanders," he said, "but actually it was otherwise. I find the fine boys all over the country wonderful entertainers and the Highland Park firemen are no exception. I am certainly enjoying my stay here."

ADJUDICATION NOTICE
Public notice is hereby given that the Subscriber, Executrix of the last will and testament of Samuel Levin, deceased, will attend the County Court of Lake County, at a term thereof to be holden at the Court House in Waukegan, in said County, on the first Monday of April, next, 1923, when and where all persons having claims against said estate are notified and requested to present the same to said court for adjudication.

Y. W. C. A.

Annual Meeting
An unusually large attendance greeted the Y. W. C. A. annual meeting at the Community Center Tuesday evening.

Mrs. F. C. Noerenberg president pro tem presided and read a message of greeting from the absent president, Mrs. W. A. Alexander who is in Belleaire, Florida. Rev. Keagle opened with prayer.

A most interesting program was given in the yearly reports.

Ethel Brewer and Maddalene Bock reporting for the Girl Reserve, a demonstration of their flag salute, purpose, slogan and code followed.

Katherine DeYoung reported for the Friendship club, Esther Krueger for the Aster, Mrs. W. E. Holland for the Mothers, Mrs. L. R. Rigdon for the cafeteria, Mrs. F. M. Ingalls for the house committee.

Mrs. Fred Clow for the treasury and Mrs. Searcy giving general secretary's report.

Interpersed was most enjoyable music furnished by Mrs. Dickinson and Mrs. C. G. Alexander.

A demonstration of the junior dancing class gave a bright fantastic touch to the whole evening's program. Dainty little dances of the children always give pleasure to all.

The names of Mesdames John Russell and H. N. Holabird, Jr., were added to the Board of Directors.

Ice cream and cake were served by the Girl Reserves.

Mothers Club

The next meeting of the Mothers club will be held Tuesday evening, Feb. 6th. The entertainment will be provided by a group of Y. W. C. A. members from Chicago who will give a musical and dramatic sketch.

Mrs. John Dingle is responsible for the program and all are urged to attend whether or not members or not.

Shower

A most enjoyable party was given Wednesday evening when the Friendship club planned and carried out a birthday surprise on Miss Elizabeth Williams who leaves for her home in Oklahoma for a few months stay.

A bountiful dinner was spread at the conclusion of which a mysterious basket was handed the guest of honor and upon investigation was found to contain a handkerchief and an appropriate verse from each guest present.

The surprise was complete and enjoyable adding one more event to the many enjoyed by the Y. W. C. A. girls.

Wise folks keep in mind the difference between admiration and flattery.

PROVE VALUE OF TELEPHONE SERVICE TO THE FARMER

Novel Tests Demonstrate Large Saving Both in Time and Money—What It Would Have Meant Without the Telephone

Some of the rural subscribers to the Golden Valley Telephone Company of Beach, North Dakota, having protested that their telephone service was not worth what they were paying for it, the president and general manager of the company made up his mind to show them by actual demonstration that the telephone service was saving every one of them many times its cost in time and travel, to say nothing of its social value and its protection in emergencies. He did this convincingly by an investigation along novel lines which showed some surprising results.

In order to get an idea of relative values between subscribers, the size of the farms was considered, also the average distances from town. One subscriber who was farming 160 acres and living five and one-half miles from town was selected; another who was farming 320 acres, living four miles from town; a third who was farming 960 acres, living seven miles from town.

Unique Test Made

Arrangements were made to have these three subscribers keep track of all of their calls for a period of thirty days, entering them in books furnished by the company for that purpose. These books were ruled to permit the recording of the date, the call, the telephone number called, and a notation as to whether it was a social or business call.

The day was of no particular value, except as a matter of record. The telephone number was very necessary, as it was from that the company got the distance. In order that business calls only might be considered it was necessary that calls be classified into business and social.

The subscribers were requested to register in the business column only those calls where a trip would have been made to the telephone number called, had they not had a telephone. All other calls were to be placed in the column headed "social calls."

On examining the records at the expiration of thirty days, it was found that subscriber No. 1, farming 160 acres, had a total of thirty-nine business calls and twenty-two social calls. Subscriber No. 2, farming 320 acres, had a total of twenty-seven business calls and fifteen social calls. Subscriber No. 3, farming 960 acres, had a total of ninety-one business calls and sixty-one social calls.

As previously mentioned, for the purpose of determining the value of the telephone to the farmer, no value was placed on social calls. Neither were they considered in this report, although they have a value, no one can deny.

In order to determine the saving to the farmer in time and traveling expenses it was necessary to arrive at a cost per mile, which should include both of these items and at the same time be made low enough so as to not permit any argument as to its being too high. Finally the company decided to use the very low figure of five cents per mile and up to the present time no one has said that the figure was too high.

Result Was Surprising

The final result was a surprise to everyone concerned as it was much greater than anyone expected. It made the farmer's side of the case look like a proffiter several times magnified in comparison to the company's little monthly rate which was the purchase price of traveling expenses saved for thirty days for these three particular subscribers. And these were no different from the company's other rural subscribers under like circumstances.

Subscriber No. 1, farming 160 acres, had thirty-nine business calls which produced a mileage one way only of 153 miles, computed at five cents per mile, amounted to $7.55. Subscriber No. 2, farming 320 acres, had seventy business calls with a mileage one way of 216 miles, which computed at five cents amounted to $10.80. Subscriber No. 3, farming 960 acres, had ninety-one business calls with a mileage one way of 444 miles, which computed at five cents amounted to $22.20.

It will be noted that the actual dollars and cents saved to the farmer in time and traveling expenses on business calls is the only thing considered in arriving at these figures. Furthermore, that the mileage is only figured one way and not on a round-trip basis, because if a person had no telephone and had to make these trips personally, he would perhaps make several calls in one neighborhood on one trip. For that reason the mileage on the telephone calls was figured only one way.
