AN APPRECIATION

The "Christian Advocate," the eastern organ of the Methodist Episcopal church, north, under date of March 29th has the following editorial concerning the late merger of the Evangelical churches, which will be of interest to many.

JOINED WITHOUT A SEAM

When a way is found to reunite a divided family or a divided church all Methodists must take notice. Such a reunion has been consummated between the Evangelical association and the United Evangelical church. The association began more than one hundred years ago among the Germans of Pennsylvania who responded to the preaching of the Rev. Jacob Albright and formed a church not unlike our own in doctrine and polity. Thirty years ago it was cleft in twain. It has taken three quadrenniums to heal the breach. But it has been done. The young people began it. The plan of union received every vote in the annual conferences of the association and eleven out of twelve in the united church. The joint session of the general conference at Detroit ratified the action joyously and without a dissenting vote. The new body has started on its way rejoicing with 260,000 members, and 2,431 ministers.

This is an achievement in applied christianity that may well be emphasized. It is true that the problem of unification in this case was not complicated with sectional or racial prejudice. Neither is the problem of British Methodist Unification which makes slow progress toward solution. The determination on the part of leaders and people to minimize differences and stress likenesses in the interest of strengthening the christian forces, was the controlling factor in producing the happy result. We Methodists have an immensely more difficult problem. It is complicated by the hold-overs of history, by the appeal to slumbering memories of things said and done in another period, by the gritty by-products of competition, by racial questions for whose existence neither party is to blame. But if we are determined to live and work together for the good of America, we can find a way. To the joint committee of both churches which is dealing with this knotty question in Saint Louis this week should go our earnest prayers. Every minor unification, like that achieved by our Evangelical brethren, increases confidence in the ultimate success of the major unions.

Since the above editorial was written the joint committees mentioned in session at Saint Louis, agreed upon a basis for the merger of the two great bodies, the M. E. church north and the M. E. church south, and the said basis will be submitted to the various annual conferences and the respective general conferences for ratification. The Evangelical church is to be congratulated in setting the pace for the other demoninations in the great work of bringing in the Kingdom of Peace.

REMOVALS PLANNED BY BUSINESS MEN

Two in East Central Avenue Are To Seek New Locations; One to Quit

Boosting of rents is the reason given for the prospective removal, May 1, of E. Nelson, tailor; Ray Schneider, jeweler and the retiring from business of Frank Reetenwald, all of whom occupy store buildings in East Central avenue, owned by McGuire & Orr. The tenants report that rents have been increased to $125 a month. Mr. Reetenwald says he plans to retire from business. Mr. Nelson will remove to rooms over Pratt's store, St. Johns avenue, and Mr. Schneider will seek temporary quarters until William Pearl's new theater building is erected, when he expects to have a location therein.
