

ARDEN SHORE DRIVE FIRST WEEK IN MAY

FUNDS TO MAINTAIN CAMP

Resume of Life at Winter Camp
Taken from Superintendent's
Diary Explain Work

The annual drive for funds to maintain the Arden Shore camp at Lake Bluff will take place the first week in May. In view of this fact the following extracts from the diary of the superintendent, giving, as they do, an intimate picture of life at the winter camp may prove of interest to North Shore readers.

Oct. 25, 1922. Winter camp opened with 18 boys. My, but they are a skinny bunch! Arden Shore will soon change that.

Oct. 31. 14 more boys, all 14 or 15 years old. Every one has been refused a working certificate because he is undernourished, yet every family needs the boys' earnings. Harry S's father and mother are both mutes.

Nov. 3. Admitted 2 little Bohemian boys who landed only two months ago in New York. If ever there were war victims, these are. Frank is 15 and weighs only 63 lbs. Their mother had to kidnap them to get them out of their country.

Nov. 9. Dr. Brannick made her weekly visit. Boys making good gains. Camp full to capacity—40 boys.

Nov. 13. To-day's program described by Alex is typical: "Bang! Zang! Zang! Bang! rings the bell at Arden Shore at 6:30 a. m." "Look out!" "Gangway!" "One side!" cuts the crisp air as 40 boys spring from bed. After we are washed and dressed Mr. Palm, our director, makes us all go out and take our morning exercises. Oh, man, its fierce on a cold day. After exercises we have breakfast and it sure does taste good. At 8:30 we go to manual training and then to school we go. It's the Berries at school, and we have lots of fun everywhere. We can smell the dinner from the playground and that makes us run all the faster when the bell rings. Our nurse makes us sleep or rest from 1 to 3 p. m. She says that rest and plenty of milk make boys gain weight. She gives us a lunch every morning and afternoon of milk and crackers. We hike or go to the beach before supper and play games or read afterward."

Nov. 29. Had a birthday cake with candles for Andrew J. It was his first. He has done practically all the house-keeping and cooking for his family for several years. It is an inspiration to watch his rejuvenation.

Nov. 30. Thanksgiving Day. If you want a real thrill preside over 40 boys facing a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. 24 boys have never had one before.

Dec. 10. Received a fine donation of books for boys. Judging from the way the boys devour books I imagine they have rarely known the luxury of reading a book in peace and quiet.

Dec. 15. Peter Z. has gained 10 lbs. in 3 weeks. He will soon be ready for a job.

Dec. 25. Breathless but happy! Four days of Christmas and forty boys are a great combination. All the North Shore seems to love the Arden Shore boys. A S. S. program and treat; a real party by real Camp Fire girls; breakfast at the Nurses' Home at Great Lakes; stocking over-flowing with useful and attractive gifts; all these fill the camp with joy to the brim.

Dec. 31. Monthly visiting Sunday for the boys' families. In obedience to his instructions Slim's family arrived showing evidence of violent scrubbing and scouring.

Hyman's father agrees to buy milk for his son and to let him have the window open at night.

William N's mother, shedding tears and smiles, alternately hugged and kissed her son, exclaiming, "How you get like that, so fat!"

Feb 6. A day of real grief. Pat has left us. Looking like a young prince in the good-looking clothes donated by the mother of a son who had outgrown them, he went back to the city to take a job at $15 per week. There wasn't a dry eye in camp when he broke down on leaving the only real home he knows.

Feb. 19. Slim graduated to-day. We wonder who will take his place in breaking in new boys. "Yes", he was overheard to remark, "they learn you manners here. You got to use the right tools at the table. Don't never eat your pie with a spoon."

April 9. A letter from Gus, graduated Feb. 25, bears testimony to the success of our efforts. "I made my mind up that I was not going to write to Arden Shore till I made myself somebody. Last Saturday my boss asked me where I got my manners. I told him at Arden Shore Camp. During the day he promoted me from mail boy to file clerk. I will make from $58 to $61 a month."

BELGIAN CONSUL TO TALK HERE IS PLAN

To Lecture in May Under Auspices of Community Service

At a meeting of the board of directors of the local Community Service organization late last week it was reported that the Belgian consul at Cincinnati, who last week visited President McBean of the Community Service, had agreed to return here probably in May to give a lecture on "Why the Belgians Are in the Ruhr." This address will be given under the auspices of the service organization and promises to be highly interesting. It was also reported at this meeting that the Young Men's club had decided to stage a big local show to put on a home talket show this year, and Director Walkup of Community Service therefore is at Ravinia theater. A high grade, popular musical comedy will be offered, and the proceeds will go to provide funds to pay a playground worker here this summer, if the project is successful.

Community Service has received announcement of the plan to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the first singing of John Howard Payne's "Home Sweet Home" in public, and which occurs May 8. On May 8, 1823, the famous old song was first sung in a musical production in a London theater, the information states.

MYSTERY SHIPS THAT SAIL THE SEVEN SEAS

DERELICTS ROAM OCEAN

Forgotten Wrecks That Are Seldom Seen Like Flying
Dutchman Adrift on Watery Waste

"Mystery ships" have sailed the seas for centuries. Now the hull of a vessel lost years before appears in some strange out-of-the-way place; now a familiar piece of deck work washes ashore in the night to tell of disaster and of lost hopes. All are tragedies, like these two cases that Chambers's Journal describes—mysteries that probably never will be fully explained.

Caught in Iceberg
In 1911-12 the captain of the French barque, Emille Galline, homing from New Caledonia, reported on reaching Bordeaux that when rounding the Horn the ship had run into a vast field of great icebergs, and that while groping her way into the open she had passed a gigantic berg that to the amazement of all hands was carrying in a cleft on its crest a large three-masted schooner, partly dismantled but otherwise apparently intact with her boats still on the booms. The captain had made every effort to find the survivors, but there were no signs of human beings on the iceberg. How came the vessel there?

A Greenland whaler out of Peterhead came upon the second mystery. In the Barents Sea she sighted a strange-looking derelict; the running gear and standing rigging were broken and flying loose; the canvas was in tatters, and the hull was terribly battered and weatherworn. The boats were gone. When men from the whaler boarded her they saw that she had been built early in the last century and had been icebound for many years.

Body of Woman
In the main cabin on the floor was the body of a young woman, perfectly preserved by the Arctic frosts. Sitting near her and not far from the long-dead fire was the corpse of a young man, still holding in his hands a flint and steel, which he appeared to be striking. In one of the cabins off the euddy was the body of another man; he was sitting in a chair, leaning back in a most natural position and had all the freshness of life in his attitude and expression. The sailors could find no clues whatsoever to the identity of the three.

In taking on this car, I have given the matter much thought, for the reason that I wanted the owner to get the most for his money that it was possible to obtain in a car. Realizing that the "upkeep" of a car was most to be considered, inquiry was made of Chevrolet owner's whether they were well satisfied, and if they were to buy another car, would it be a Chevrolet, and the answers were indeed wonderful endorsements of this great little car, and if you are interested in buying a new car phone 31 now as there will be a car shortage in May, some manufacturers report."
