The Car She Loves to Drive

Touring Car ·1995 5-Pass. Sedan

Like the thoroughbred - all-capable, yet loyally obedient to its mistress always - that is the Stutz Six. Gears move with finger-tip lightness. Pedals seem to know her mind. The clutch is velvety smooth and soft. The easy steering gives her command of every situation. Traffic and parking hold no terrors. Never was a mighty car so gentle to a woman's touch.

The comfort she should have is in the springs-100 inches long; in the fine balance, and in the luxurious upholstery.

And however exclusive the company in which this car finds itself, she will thrill with pride at what a great impression her car makes-in appearance and comportment.

For no car can do more than the Stutz Six when she asks it; nor do it so economically and safely. Its reserve is so great that she need not be an expert to have peak performance always. These are the things that make the Stutz Six of all cars the one she loves to drive.

LARGE IN THE U.S.

alue in 1922, $118,500,000 Report of Geological Survey; Building Stone In Good Demand

The stone production in the United States in 1922 amounted to about 81,000,000 short tons, valued at $118,-500,000, according to an estimate given out by the Department of the Interior from figures compiled by the Geological Survey. These figures show an increase of about 27 per cent in quantity and 11 per cent in value over the output in 1921.

There was a good demand during the year for nearly all kinds of stone but the production of monumental and building stone, paving blocks, curbstone, and flagstone was somewhat restricted by labor troubles, which caused the closing of quarries and cutting plants, especially at the principal granite centers in the New England States. Trouble was also experienced in getting transportation for crushed Sewing Machines stone and other stone products. The cost of quarrying was somewhat less in 1922 than in 1921, and prices were

Building Stone Building stone was in good demand, as is shown by an increase of 81 per cent in the output of limestone from the Bedford-Bloomington district, in Lawrence and Monroe counties, Indiana. This large increase was not shown throughout the country, but increases in other districts, in limestone, sandstone and marble, and to a less extent in granite used as building stone indicated an output of 23,000,- > 1922 of 35 per cent. The stone sold for monumental work was apparently about the same as in 1921, but there was a decrease in the output of granite and an increase in that of marble.

000 cubic feet-a total increase in

Granite for paving blocks decreased about 20 per cent in quantity in 1922 as compared with 1921. Increased Sales

There was an increase in the quantity of stone sold for curbstone, flagstone, and rubble, but a decrease in the quantity of that used for riprap.

The production of crushed stone, which represents over 50 per cent of the stone quarried, was estimated at 52,600,000 short tons in 1922, an increase of about 22 per cent. Crushed stone sold for use in road metal and in all kinds of concrete work increased about 24 per cent and stone sold for railroad ballast about 13 per cent.

GERMAN TOWN OF 400 LOSES PHONE

Once Had a "Central," But Now Must Depend on Mails for All Its News

In these days when every progressive farmer in the United States has his telephone and his flivver (and is busy installing his radio), it is almost impossible for an American to imagine a town of 400 people without telephone service of any kind. Yet, according to a dispatch to the New York "Evening Post" a community of this size in Germany has recently been deprived of its only telephone, so that it has neither any local telephone facilities, nor any access to the general telephone system of the country, which is operated by the German government. "A town without a telephone," says the Post, "is the dubious title acquired by Mehrstedt, a place of 400 inhabitants, situated in Thuringia. Up to recently Mehrstedt boasted at least the usual central toll station, but one day the mail carrier came along and officially carried off its sole apparatus. None of the residents feels he can afford the luxury of a connection, so all now have to wait for the mails to let them know 'how the dollar stands.' "
