OIL BURNER

No Electricity      No Gas Necessary

Put a Warm Heart inside your furnace

The Worthington Oil Burner requires no electricity, and uses no gas except for convenience in starting. Many people in Highland Park, with motor driven oil burners, are using from $10.00 to $15.00 or more per month of gas and electricity. That would buy 150 gallons of distillate or oil that we burn. During March and April our burner in the store did not use more than that amount of oil in two weeks. They claim operating expenses for Worthington Burners in Kansas City as 10% less than coal. Be sure and look at our burner before considering any other type.
