LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

THE NATION'S LOSS
The death of President Harding has shocked the American people as something more than a great public calamity.

It is fortunate that the man who is to succeed to his high office is no mere politician of second-rate ability, but a statesman who has shown capacity for firm and decisive action.

OCCUPATION FOR CHILDREN

Children are a big problem for many parents during vacation time. Those who can go to summer camps and work off their exuberance on outdoor sports and woodcraft are highly favored.

Every child old enough to take any responsibility ought to have some regular task. If nothing else is available, a little garden patch will be rewarding.

It is a great boon to these idle youngsters where playgrounds are conducted in an organized way, and formed into groups for their various sports.

MEMORIAL CONCERT AT RAVINIA PARK FRIDAY

The writer was one of the fortunate throng that gathered at Ravinia on the afternoon of Friday last, through the generosity of its management.

I cannot refrain from offering my thanks and expressing as far as I may the appreciation shared with others of the conception of such an occasion and its realization, so perfect in each detail.

The singers were upon raised seats at the rear, the orchestra in front. The program of a handsome simplicity asked the audience to refrain from applause.

I cannot describe the effect of the fine music by the orchestra as it gave the first number nor the appealing beauty of the Chopin march, expressing the feeling of the great concourse of listeners.

The sweet notes of the first Ave Maria were very beautiful and the full chorus and orchestration of the grand Inflammatus touched one heart at least, deeply.

The address was delivered by Hon. James Hamilton Lewis.

Let us all in this inadequate way pay our tribute to the fine feeling of the management, thought out and then carried out in the afternoon's program and to those whose music by voice and instruments took us into high places of experience.

It was a rare and beautiful form for a peoples' tribute to their honored and beloved dead.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT TRINITY CHURCH

The memorial service held last Friday afternoon at Trinity church was a fitting mark of respect for the memory of the late president, Warren G. Harding. There was large attendance and the addresses and music were marked by the spirit of mourning and sympathy which was universal upon that day.

When a man cleans up and beautifies his home place, some people regard it as an impertinent hit to the neighborhood.

The people who formerly used to put cough drops and suspender buttons in the contribution box, might now deposit German marks and Russian rubles.
