NATIONAL FORESTS SELL MUCH TIMBER

Amount Sold in Last Year Far Exceeds That of Any Previous Year

Sales of timber from the national forests during the fiscal year ending June 30 were greater than in any like period, the forest service, United States department of agriculture, has announced.

With the recent sale of 685 million board feet, mostly Douglas fir, from the Cascade national forest in Oregon, the total for the 12 months is between 2,500 million and 3,000 million board feet, according to preliminary figures. The estimated cut will be between 900 million and 1,000 million board feet, the latter figure representing an increase of nearly 250 million board feet over the cut of the preceding fiscal year.

Management plans for the national forests provide for the cutting and removal of the mature crop of timber in such a manner that reforestation of the cut-over areas will insure a perpetual timber supply.

From 40 to upwards of 100 years are required to complete the cutting and removal of timber from the usual working circle, thus providing for a new growth of mature timber by the time the sawyer returns to the starting point.

HUGE TANKER FLEET TRANSPORTING OIL

Late in 1922 a great new source of oil supply developed in southern California. Practically over night tankers formerly in the Mexican and other services appeared in Los Angeles harbor and loaded oil for Atlantic coast points. In the space of several months fleets of tank steamers were carrying California oil with clock-like regularity through the Panama Canal to the eastern seaboard—a distance of 4,920 miles, taking forty-three days for the round trip.

In the first three months of 1923 oil tankers, most of them carrying California oil, paid $1,279,000 in Panama Canal tolls. During the month of April approximately two-thirds of the intercoastal tonnage passing through the Canal was in tank ships. A year ago in April only one American tanker in intercoastal trade used the Panama waterway.

This California oil, coming from a remote field at the southwest extreme of our country, is being made available to markets in the east—3,000 miles away from the field—at the rate of 150,000 barrels a day, equivalent to the flow of eight land trunk pipe lines pumping oil at capacity.
