Much enthusiasm is felt for community causes when you can get the pretty girls to go out and sell tickets. The people are urged to "get down to business", but in the case of these sports that keep late hours it is more difficult mornings to get them up. Claimed the politicians should have more backbone, but they seem to have plenty of jawbone. Many people are unwilling to study the art of spending money, as they feel they can get rid of their cash all right without any help.
