NORTH SHORE LINE

On the Railroad Depends the Life of the Nation

LIKE a spider's web, a great net-work of railroad lines radiate from Chicago to the farther-most ends of the country.

On this web depend the life, prosperity and growth of our Nation.

Everywhere along the separate strands of this structure are great cities, enormous industries—big producing centers.

Their birth, growth and present wealth are due to the presence of the railroad. And because they grew and prospered, railroad service improved, progressed and expanded.

Numbered among the myriad threads of this great web is the North Shore Line which has proved an important factor in the industrial, civic and financial development of the territory from Chicago, along the north shore to Milwaukee.

Today, this territory is a thriving, prosperous section of more than 4,000,000 people and the richest, healthiest market in the world.

The North Shore Line is the direct route between the central business districts of Chicago and Milwaukee and intermediate points. Its fast, frequent service provides a most convenient means of transportation. There is a train whenever you want one.

CHINATOWN PHONE EXCHANGE IS NOVEL

SAN FRANCISCO FEATURE

Operators Are Chinese Girls and Building Is Built in Style Of Oriental Pagoda; Many Visitors

San Francisco's "Tower of Babel" is a telephone exchange set in the midst of its world famous Chinatown. This exchange is the only one in America devoted exclusively to Chinese patrons.

The exchange has 1,463 lines to serve the 10,000 Chinese inhabitants of the district. The operators are Chinese girls, 13 in number. All must speak, read and write English, but more important, they are familiar with several native Chinese dialects, for China, as a nation is a great unwieldy empire that is babel of tongues.

The 13 girls handle an average of 11,000 calls daily, nearly all inter-Chinatown service. The girls must remember names, numbers and addresses because the bulk of calls are made by name and not by number. All the girls are graduates of San Francisco schools. Loo Kum Shoo, the manager, was graduated from the University of California.

No Party Lines
Another peculiarity of the service is that there are absolutely no party lines in Chinatown. The recognized as scrupulously honest, the Chinese is very secretive by nature and demands an individual line.

The telephone exchange building is one of the finest specimens of Chinese architecture to be found anywhere, even China itself, with its pagoda-like tower and prow-like balconies. But the architecture is dictated by precedent. The several roofs were not added for ostentation, but because the Chinese consider that the dignity and social position of the inmates of a house are in direct proportion to the number of roofs sheltering them.

Description
The retrouse balconies are designed to shoot rain from the building and shelter it from direct rays of the sun. Supporting columns have no capitals or bases and are as round and red as giant firecrackers. Even concrete foundations correspond to the stone foundations upon which Chinese construct buildings as protection from dampness. The Chinatown telephone exchange is one of the district's great attractions for tourists. Several thousand visitors enter it every month of the year.
