OYSTERS MAKE BEDS; LIMPETS PROWLERS

Fish stories are important items of human experience, and the teeming life of the sea has ups and downs to match any fortune of the land. Young oysters, we are told, settle down to work after forty-eight hours of making a splash in their world. Some become pearl manufacturers, and others just hang around the bars—plain old soaks. Star-fish sometimes visit oyster communities and work the old shell game. Well, the oysters have made their beds—let them lie in them. And there are the limpets. They prowl around at night, but always in the morning they manage to find their own flats on the old home rock, and so save their faces in the eyes of the community. Ah, those sly, frolicking limpets.

And what armories of teeth—Whelks have from 220 to 250 each, winkles 3,500, and the umbrella shell about 750,000 to the set. What a time there must be when the little umbrella shells are teething. Whelks, mon!

Life at the bottom of the sea is a pretty serious business.

IMPORTS OF SILK SHOWING DECREASE

PRICE NOT MUCH CHANGED

Quarterly Report Indicates A Slowing up of Trade In This Material Over Last Year

Imports of raw silk during the first three months of this year amounted in value to $77,312,000, or 8.1 per cent of our total imports according to an analysis of American foreign trade for the first quarter of 1924 just made public by the Foreign Commerce Department of the United States. A statement by the department states that the "for he corresponding quarter of 1923 silk imports totaled $101,657,000, or 9.9 per cent of our imports. The decrease in value was 24 per cent. The decline in quantity was also 24 per cent, 9,877,000 pounds being imported during the first quarter of 1924 to 12,999,000 pounds during the same period of 1923. The quantity imported this year, however, was slightly greater than that brought in during the first quarter of 1922—9,353,000 pounds.

Imports of broad silks were 42 per cent lower in value and 45 per cent in quantity than for the January-March period of 1923, when 962,000 pounds, valued at $5,888,000 were brought in, as compared with imports for the first quarter of this year totaling 525,000 pounds, valued at $3,442,000.

Our exports of broad silks also showed a loss. During the first quarter of 1924 we shipped abroad 543,957 yards of broad silks, valued at $682,000, while for the same period of 1923 we exported 628,979 yards, valued at $889,000, a decline of 23 per cent in value and 14 per cent in quantity.

"On the other hand, our exports of silk hosiery increased from 93,630 dozen pairs, valued at $970,000 for the first quarter of 1923 to 126,309 dozen pairs, valued at $1,234,000 for the first quarter of this year—a gain of 27 per cent in value and 35 per cent in quantity."

DEMPEY PICTURE AT PEARL TODAY

First of the Famous "Fight and Win" Series Shown At Local Theatre

An epoch in motion picture presentation is reached today in Highland Park when the Pearl theatre offers the first of the Jack Dempsey "Fight and Win" pictures, one of each of which will be offered for ten consecutive weeks, every Thursday and Friday. Manager Pearl already has received hundreds of congratulatory messages many of which were in the nature of thanks for his foresight in booking this unusual feature for the theatre going patrons of Highland Park. Every indication points to capacity business at each performance today and tomorrow when the first of the series, under the title of "Winning His Way" will be offered.

The Jack Dempsey series contain every element that make for successful entertainment. They are clean, wholesome and entertaining. Plenty of comedy relief, heart interest, love and adventure are included in the stories especially written for the champion by Gerald Beaumont, and in each of the series Dempsey is seen in action in the ring. The champion, unlike some motion stars of the day, has not surrounded himself by a mediocre cast in order that he himself might shine, but has procured the best supporting company possible, to insure each one of the series of ten stories to be complete in every respect.

Wherever the pictures have been shown the press and public have been lavish in their praise. As many of the critics have pointed out the Dempsey pictures are suitable for everyone. There is absolutely nothing in them that might even the most severe critic might take offense. They are entertainment in the fullest sense of the word, and undoubtedly will prove exceptionally popular with Highland Park motion picture fans.

The second of the series, to be presented next Thursday and Friday, is entitled "A Society Knockout."

GYPSIES ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP BOY

Seize Son of Section Man At Prairie View, But Are Scared Away

The attempt of a band of gypsies to kidnap the little son of Louis Bublitz of Prairie View last week was frustrated by F. W. Stancliff, a farmer, who was working in a field nearby.

The boy was walking to the home of his uncle, William Horenberger, who lives on the Half Day-Prairie View road, when he encountered the gypsies who had stopped along the road a short distance north of Prairie View. Mr. Stancliff heard the screams of the boy and saw the gypsies pick him up by his hands and feet. When they saw Mr. Stancliff coming they dropped the lad and hurried to their vehicles and made a quick getaway before he could notify the authorities.

The Bublitz family resides in the section house at the edge of the village, the father being a section hand.

INTUITION SAVES WOMAN IN STORM

Goes To Home of Neighbor Just Before Bolt Hits House; Feared Injury

Intuition or a woman's natural fear of an electrical storm probably saved the life of Mrs. J. Dapkus at Round Lake in a recent electrical storm when during the storm which swept the county. Mrs. Dapkus had pronounced that she was not safe at home and went to her neighbors, Mrs. Charles Curschman's house. She had not been in the Curschman house a minute when a bolt of lightning struck the Dapkus home. The house and everything in it was totally destroyed by fire which followed the lightning.

Mrs. Dapkus, a resident of Round Lake, was at home alone as her husband had gone away early in the evening. The storm broke while he was away but not with any more ferocity than was noted in other parts of this vicinity. However, Mrs. Dapkus could not remain comfortable in her home. She walked from one room to the next and finally, in desperation, she sought company at the Curschman residence. The door had hardly closed on her when her own home was in flames.

The loss will probably aggregate $4,000 as the house and all the furnishings beside the families' clothing and all their belongings was totally destroyed.

STATE LIBRARIES ARE NOW COMBINED

Emmerson as Illinois Librarian Builds Up Strong Organization

Illinois now has one of the best equipped state libraries in the country. Under the direction of Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson, who is the state librarian by virtue of his office, the state library and the state extension library have been brought together in a comprehensive organization which is proving very efficient. There are approximately 34,000 volumes in the general library and 20,000 volumes in the library extension division, besides the large number of valuable documents and books in the archives division.

The state library was founded originally as a reference library for legislators and state officers. The scope of the collection has been enlarged as state government activities have increased and the library resources have been made available not only to legislative and state officers, but through liberal inter-library loans to libraries and citizens throughout the state.

Library Extension The library extension commission was organized in 1909 for the purpose of extending and perfecting the public library system in Illinois. Its books were used for circulating purposes.

By act of the legislature in 1921, the entire control of these libraries was brought under the secretary of state. The general library collection was established as a general library division and the extension library as the library extension division. To these was added the archives division whose duty it is to collect and preserve important public documents.

All three branches of the library are located in the State Centennial building where commodious quarters have been fitted up for them.

WORKS WAY ABROAD TO OLYMPIC GAMES

Shows Spirit and Gets Appointment as Chairman of Y. M. Department

A college boy athlete, who got a "charley horse" and was unable to make the American Olympic team of 1912, but showed his spirit and loyalty by working his way to Stockholm on a cattle boat and helping rub down America's winning athletes has just been chosen chairman of the Chicago city physical work committee of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., according to announcement of President W. F. Hypes. The new chairman is Dr. Charles E. Galloway, 822 Monticello street, Evanston.

Many of our chappies ought to feel quite safe on the water now with the water supply reservoirs, and all those athletic girl swimmers can't see why this ambition for cleanliness is frowned upon.
