SHOT THROUGH HEART, MAY LIVE, IS BELIEF
Story from Buffalo, If True, Is Most Remarkable, Say Physicians
Shot through the heart and alive. That is the experience of 13-year-old Charles Hartz of Buffalo, N. Y., according to a dispatch from that city. Three stitches, taken to close the gun shot wound in young Hartz's heart by Dr. Timothy Donovan, tell the story of why Hartz is alive with chances for recovery good.
Charles Hartz and Fred Rick were playing together. Boy-like they wanted to see a rifle which lay on a bench. When Rick handled it the cartridge was exploded and the bullet struck Hartz in the heart.
A baby's crying need usually is milk. In crossing a street, he who hesitates, wins.
Wanted - A man to pick chickens. Must furnish own flashlight.
Many a meeting has opened with a prayer and ended in a fight.

Sold Her Baby on Installment Plan

Mrs. Agnes Mack, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is held with Erwin Dathe, (both shown above) the man to whom she sold her 10-month-old baby for $800, fifty dollars of which was paid down, and the balance to follow in installments. The mother tearfully admits she wants her baby back.

Gas Rates Again Reduced

We take sincere pleasure in announcing to our customers that, effective August 1st, we are making another reduction in the price of gas.

This is the second voluntary reduction since the war, and is in keeping with the policy of the management to serve the residents of the North Shore District at the lowest possible cost. It is our unvarying policy to serve our customers well and to do so at the lowest rates which will enable us to continue the high quality of service which you have enjoyed in the past.

Please note schedule of rates on your bill.

SOLDIER BUGS ARE ENEMY OF TUSSOCKS

DESTROY CATERPILLARS

Should Be Protected as They Help to Keep Down Parasites Which Damage Foliage Trees

Soldier bugs, commonly called stink bugs in rural places, are multiplying in the Chicago district, according to Prof. Conrad E. Tharaldsen, of the zoology department of Northwestern university, and should not be destroyed as they are making devastating war upon the caterpillars of the Tussock and Gipsy moth.

Now Farm Woman

Social activities no longer interests Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, owner of many millions of dollars. She has turned to dairying and personally supervises the work on her big farm at Biltmore, N. C. "I am just a plain farm woman," she told custom officials.

How the Company Assists in Solving Home Problems

No. 16 in a series of statements about the Company's business

THE Home Service Bureau of the Company was organized to give authentic information on proper preparation of foods and to otherwise assist women in solving the daily problems of the home.

This bureau is under the supervision of Eva Hawkins Shanks, who will gladly answer any questions pertaining to home management.

You, perhaps, have heard Mrs. Shanks in one or more of her lectures and demonstrations before women's clubs, civic and other organizations. Practical cooking classes are conducted for domestic science students in the public schools by Mrs. Shanks and tested recipes are sent out and questions answered.

Inquiries relative to household appliances, that lighten household tasks and give you more time to enjoy the companionship of your family and friends, will be promptly answered.

Very important, this bureau informs you how to use gas and electricity in the home so that you will enjoy, in greater measure, the services rendered by this Company.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS
Serving 6,000 square miles—202 cities and towns—with Gas or Electricity

This announcement that the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois has been awarded the Charles A. Coffin Medal for 1923, is a tribute to the territory in which this Company operates as well as the service it renders.

This award was made to this Company in competition with the electric light and power companies of the United States "for distinguished contribution to the development of electric light and power for the convenience of the public and the benefit of the industry."

PROTECT THE BUG

Prof. Tharaldsen advised Mr. Hewitt to protect the soldier bug as far as possible as the destructive caterpillars are becoming extremely numerous and if allowed to thrive will decimate many of the fine shade trees of the Chicago and Evanston park systems.

"The so-called stink bug is a natural enemy of the caterpillars which are now starting to destroy our shade trees," said the Northwestern scientist. "Their work, too, is unnoticed unless very closely observed but is more vital in destroying the shade-tree pests than any and all artificial means. Insecticides that are apt to destroy the caterpillars also destroy the bug which is his natural enemy and these sprays should not be resorted to save in extreme cases."

"Where the Tussock moth hasn't gained too great headway, the caterpillars should be picked off by hand. It is very fortunate that the soldier bug has arrived here contemporaneously with the leaf-eating caterpillar. The department of agriculture at Washington is importing large quantities of the soldier bugs into eastern forests to conserve the trees."

SCOUT MOVEMENT GAINS EVERYWHERE

Thoughtful Citizens Should Be Kept Informed of Its Activities

No thoughtful citizen should fail to keep himself informed of the activities of the Boy Scouts of America. This agency which started only four years ago now numbers nearly half a million boys. An army of 152,000 men are so impressed with the Scout program that they are giving their time as leaders entirely on a volunteer basis.

The fourteenth annual report of the movement, which has just been issued by the government printing office, will be of value not merely to social workers, teachers and students, but to the average citizen as well. The high spots of the movement are brought out, and a record of the accomplishments during the past year. Many will be surprised to learn that colleges like Yale, Harvard and Columbia are offering courses in scout leadership. It is a matter of interest that the boys of America earned over 151,000 merit badges last year, indicating proficiency in some vocation such as plumbing, agriculture, mining, radio, carpentry, or some such healthful activity as hiking, pathfinding and horsemanship, or some other of the 63 subjects in the scouting curriculum. Over 200,000 boys enjoyed a vacation of one week or more in scout camps last summer.

TELEPHONE CABLES HOLD MANY WIRES

More than 2,000 in Some; Most of Them in Underground Conduits Now

A slowly revolving reel of large size, from which a lead-colored cable slowly disappears into an open manhole like a great, sluggish snake is a familiar sight on city streets.

Drawn by an invisible force, the cable passes out of sight down the manhole and into the tile duct that has been prepared for it, and when it has been spliced to other lengths of cable it becomes a part of the telephone company's transmission plant.

It may contain as many as 2,421 paper insulated copper wires, twisted into pairs and protected by a sheath composed of lead and antimony, the entire cable measuring but 2.5-8 inches in diameter over all. No thicker than a man's wrist, the new cable means that more than a thousand new telephone subscribers may be taken care of by the local company and additional trunk and toll lines provided to meet the telephone requirements of the community.

The growth of the underground cables in the Bell System is coincident with the development of the American cities. Of the more than 34,000,000 miles of wire in the Bell System at the beginning of the present year, nearly 23,000,000 or about 66 per cent is underground cable.

BAR ADVERTISING ON STATE ROADS

Campaign Started Throughout for Enforcement of Law; First Arrest

Advertising signs along all state aid roads in Illinois is prohibited by law. A campaign has been started in Lake county against the infraction of this law on all state highways. The state highway police have been instructed to swear out warrants against everyone who disobeys this law.

The first arrest was made in Winnebago county which took place a couple of days ago when Robert Myers, state highway department police, swore out a warrant for the arrest of L. J. Godfrey. Godfrey was brought before F. J. C. Krahn, justice of the peace, who fined him $10 and costs.

No signs of any kind will be allowed along the state aid roads in Illinois, except the road signs placed there by the state highway department's orders. The clearing out of signs along these roads prevents automobile accidents and makes these highways more sightly to the traveler.

Some auto drivers ought to have that three-mile limit applied to them.
