

MEDILL SCHOOL HEAD LIKES ENGLISH PRINCE

Director of Journalism School Studies Periodicals in Paris and London

Director Harry F. Harrington, head of the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern university, just back at his desk in Chicago from a trip abroad, has a high opinion of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. Prof. Harrington returned to the United States on the steamer "Berengaria" upon which the Prince travelled and had the opportunity of seeing him daily for nearly a week.

Prince of a Fellow.
"He is certainly a democratic and likeable young man," declared Mr. Harrington. "I noted, for one thing, that he participated freely in the various sports not because he felt he should but apparently because, as a young man of the athletic, out-of-doors type, he really wanted to. One day I saw him in a tug-of-war and while he was on the losing side, he seemed to have as much fun as the boys at the other end of the rope. I observed his dancing somewhat carefully too. He is most assuredly a master of all the modern steps and appeared to enjoy this form of diversion. He impressed me as being just what he is advertised to be by some of his personal admirers,—a prince of a fellow, vitally interested in life and delighted to have the opportunity to mix with plain average folk. That's the reason Americans like him."

Studies Newspapers.
Director Harrington studied the newspapers and periodicals of London, Paris, and of other cities in England and the continent during the summer, and addressed the Anglo-American press correspondents at their weekly luncheon at Paris. He says he saw little change in the foreign papers since his last visit a few years ago.

"I welcomed the sight of an American paper on my return," was his comment. "While many of the English journals are steadily improving, and while some are the equal of our papers with respect to illustrations, they fall far behind American papers as to range and treatment of news, headlines, general typography and, of course, in the equipment of their plants. Some of the French papers still utilize somewhat antiquated composing and press-room equipment, but labor is cheap and the publishers told me it is better not to add the latest labor-saving equipment when they can get workmen at present wages. In Paris is a new English newspaper, The Paris Times, conducted, I understand, by various former employees of the old New York Herald's staff. The Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune and New York Herald remain very popular and are widely read by the great army of American tourists who have been visiting Europe the past few years."

The people who object to the big silver dollars will not find any difficulty in getting rid of them.

EXHIBIT PRODUCTS IN BIG EXPOSITION

Illinois Products Exposition To Be Opened in Chicago October 9

Tremendous attendance at the Illinois Products exposition, to be held in this city in October, is forecasted by railroad men. Traffic experts already are preparing to handle a multitude of visitors from all parts of Illinois when the big show opens in a blazing Chicago welcome on Chicago Day, October 9.

Reduce Fares
Official announcement has been made by the Western Passenger Agents' association that reduced fares to Chicago from all points in Illinois, on the basis of a round trip for one and one-third fare, will be in effect on October 8, 9, 10, 11, 15, and 16, with return not later than October 20. Several lines also will be run special excursion trains on Sunday, October 12, Columbus Day, with a rate of one cent a mile.

Only public events of extraordinary importance are recognized in this manner by the railroads and their action is further evidence that the first Illinois Products exposition will be a milestone in the history of Illinois.

Will Begin October 9
The exposition will open October 9 in the new American Exposition Palace, 666 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, and continue ten days. While it is being produced by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, which numbers 118 local chambers within its membership, it is receiving the active support of the Chicago Association of Commerce and of the largest business interests in the metropolis.

Closer Understanding
Far-sighted Chicagoans view the Illinois Products exposition as a splendid opportunity to bring Chicago and communities in other parts of the state into a closer understanding, not only in a business way but in a social sense. Everything that the Chicago Association of Commerce can do to make the Illinois multitude feel at home during the exposition will be done.

The program of welcome will take the form, generally speaking, of a "prosperity jubilee," the first ever staged by Illinois cities in partnership with Chicago. Thirty-one cities outside of Chicago will have exhibits.

COLLECTOR SHOWS TAX AMOUNT DUE

Revenue Collector Sends the Taxpayers Bills Showing Balance Due

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue for the first Illinois district, is mailing to taxpayers bills showing the balance of income tax due from each taxpayer for the rest of this year, based on income tax returns for the year 1923, and calling for the September 15 installment from these taxpayers who are paying on the installment basis.

Attention is called to the fact that corporations were not granted any reduction by the 1924 tax law and bills to corporations do not reflect any credit on that account.

Set Reduction
Bills to individual taxpayers, however, do reflect the 25 per cent. reduction authorized by the 1924 act in addition to the installment paid in June. The last column of these bills is headed "unpaid balance." In this column are shown two amounts. The last or smallest amount indicates the balance due for this year. If the entire amount is paid on Sept. 15 there will be nothing further due. If it is desired to pay only the Sept. 15 installment and the March 15 and June 15 installments were paid in full all the taxpayer has to do is to pay one half of the last or smallest amount shown in the "unpaid balance" column on Sept. 15.

LEGION HELPS FILL OUT BONUS BLANKS

H. A. Hansen, commander of Dumaresq Spencer Post No. 145 of the American Legion announces that the local post is still carrying on the work of aiding the ex-service man in filling out his application for the federal bonus. Anyone desiring assistance should call 1014 any day or evening. The government is most anxious that all men who are entitled to same, have these blanks filled out as soon as possible and sent to headquarters.

If William Z. Foster ever gets to be president he ought to move the capital to Sing Sing. Then he would be close to his advisors. They now claim to have a machine that will measure the broadness of men's minds. Some of us ought to get through the infernal thing without touching the sides.
