SUDS AND DUDS
 of the DURMENT LAUNDRY

SUDS thoroughly enjoys his chosen vocation of washing clothes. He's clean minded through and through and it pains him terribly to see clothes become soiled and all muddled up. He likes to put them in shape again—and he likes to take orders over the telephone.

NUMBER 44 THURSDAY, JANUARY 1, 1925

PROTECTING THE INVESTOR

The national campaign for thrift, the education of the people to save their earnings and invest them safely, makes this a subject of vital importance. Consideration of the more important factors affecting securities, especially upon farm lands and city property, is of the utmost importance.

Capital is constantly accumulating in our country and is seeking safe and profitable investment upon real estate values that are constantly growing. More and more the bankers of our country are besought for information and advice that will protect investors against speculative securities. It can be safely set down that even under adverse circumstances, 90 per cent of the farmers of our country are solvent. It is admitted that farm mortgages are among the best forms of investment and they are securing the lowest rate of interest on long term mortgages.

CULTURE IN THE HOME

Millions of American homes are being very rapidly equipped with the service and entertainment supplied by radio. The home circle is made more attractive, family ties strengthened, and a higher grade of culture for the individual is being established for the American people.

Take an ordinary Sunday evening program, and it is safe to say the average American family never listened to a finer general cultural entertainment. Broadcasting stations are more and more demanding high class performers and many of them render the finest forms of high class compositions. Ordinarily on a Sunday evening there are renditions on the piano, vocal solos, quartets and orchestra numbers and first class band music. Nearly every broadcasting station in our country is now supplying at least one complete church service on Sunday and sometimes two or more. These religious services are on broad lines by preachers of all denominations. Further improvements in radio programs are proposed through superpower broadcasting stations working in conjunction with local stations.
