Remember that women are getting there with both feet, and if so some of them must make a big splash when they land on wet days.

The men complain that they can't get their wives past the attractive store windows, but they can do so by taking them inside and buying some of the nice stuff for them.

Many folks said to be living in a whirl, but the whirling is not always from the wheels of industry.

Claimed that school and college athletics should be abolished and the people who are trying to lure these young people into vicious diversions will not probably object.

READ THE LABEL

Although manufacturers are required by law to label all foods sold in package form, with few exceptions, so as to show the net quantity of foodstuff in the package, few purchasers give the labels serious consideration, is the belief of Dr. George D. Beal of the chemistry department of the University of Illinois, who contends that economy and safety are the rewards of label reading.

"When you buy food from your grocer in can, cartoh or bottle, do you make your choice according to the size of the package or the quantity as well as quality of the contents?" he asks. "Only packages are exempt from this label requirement, and their content may not exceed one ounce by avoirdupois or fluid measure, or six pieces if the count is given by number," he said.

"This information is plainly printed on every label. By its help you can decide between a small and a large package of your favorite breakfast food. Your thirteen cent package may contain twenty ounces, and the twenty-eight cent package of the same brand fifty-five ounces. The manufacturer has not attempted a fraud. He has been obliged to charge practically the same amount of overhead to each package. The cost of the container and the labor involved in filling and marketing have varied but little for the two packages. The purchase of a large package gives you in effect the benefit of a reduced price.

"If you take advantage of this legal safeguard in the purchase of your food, your attention will be directed to economies offered by the honest manufacturer and to implied frauds on the part of the unscrupulous one. Make your buying motto 'read the label; it protects you.'

NEW CULTURAL OPPORTUNITY

A new horizon has been opened up by radio to millions of families living in the country, the town or the big city, a new means of culture.

The world in its larger centers is offering programs of good entertainment and instruction to people in their homes both by day and night, the new marvel drawing families together.

Young and old, instead of wandering idly in search of diversion, can hear an orchestra, a band, a pipe organ, a religious service or a good play, in their own home, be it in a city, on a farm, or miles away in mountains or desert.

There are lectures for the serious minded all the way from literature to electricity and specialists give the latest ideas in dress, dancing, gardening or the various fields of scientific progress.

As broadcasting stations are enlarged to give better service over wider areas, radio will give still greater service to the nation.

DON'T CUT THE C. M. T. C.

The following editorial from the Chicago Tribune is commended to all who are interested in the development and growth of the Citizens Military Training Camp plan:

The severe cut in the citizens' military training camps recommended by the budget bureau is not justified. Forty thousand young men are expected at the camps next year. The budget allowance of $2,320,000 will provide for only 29,000 men.

In 1921 about 10,000 young Americans went to these camps; in 1922 there were 22,000; in 1923 there were 25,000, and in 1924 about 34,000 men. Next year at least 40,000 should be provided for. The cut to 29,000 men and a saving of $600,000 is not worth the cost in military efficiency and physical and social welfare that the extra training will bring.

The citizens' military training camps have values much greater than the education in military technique which their name suggests. They are training schools of citizenship and social discipline. This fact should be considered in apportioning the budget. They should be charged not merely to the military system but to the general national welfare.
