NEAR EAST ANNUAL REPORT SUMMARY

SHOWS ACTIVITIES COST Is Filed With Congress Every Year and Gives Complete Information Regarding Work

The state committee of Near East Relief has received from Washington a copy of the organization's annual report, which was laid before the senate a few days ago by its president, Vice-President Dawes, who happens also to be one of the national trustees of the relief organization. This report is filed with congress annually in accordance with the national charter of Near East Relief, and embodies a full account of the work done during the calendar year. The report says in part:

"In principle what the Dawes committee did in Europe in 1924, American philanthropy has attempted to do in the Near East. A demonstration of ways and means of international reconstruction was not only a prime essential of good relief, but it became peculiarly necessary in 1924 to enable American philanthropy adequately to round out its work.

Chain of Orphanages
"The chain of orphanages that Near East Relief has built up overseas is the most remarkable success of continuing charity that the American people has ever achieved; for the raising of money in a spurt after some great catastrophe is child's play compared with the continuous support, year in and year out, of children salvaged from death in such catastrophe.

General Policy
"The general policy in our work abroad during the year has been to confine activities, as largely as practicable, to orphanage and child-welfare work. In a war-ravaged, impoverished area, where 28 per cent of the population are refugees and where the wholesale exchanges of populations are still in progress with an inevitable accompaniment of suffering, reduction of the relief program has not been easy."

During the past year the service of Near East Relief abroad reached 554,978 persons, of whom the great majority were women and children. This service included food, medical aid, education, clothing and personal service such as the release of Greek military and civil prisoners and the supervision of refugee emigration. Children in orphanages numbered 41,062 at the beginning of the year; children supervised and subsidized in special schools were 1454. The institutions supported were as follows: 46 orphanage centers, 65 hospitals and clinics, and 23 special schools and other institutions. The report adds:

To Provide Homes
"Every effort is being made to re-institutionalize the orphanage and child-welfare work and to provide homes or self-supporting employment for all the children as rapidly as possible. The statistics reveal an unprecedented achievement in child placement. During 1923 a total of 14,159 children were placed in homes, apprenticed or otherwise brought into comparatively normal social and economical relationships. During 1924 an additional 12,000 were similarly placed. This means the placing out of one child every ten minutes of each working day throughout the two years. In every instance personal consideration is given to the individual child and the safeguarding of his future. Personal inspection and later supervision is required in every home or environment in which a child is placed.

Limit Reached
"When one notes that the largest child-welfare organization in America has placed only 3225 children in the prosperous homes of this country in 25 years' time, one realizes the task involved in finding homes for 12,000 orphan children in a single year in the midst of the social and political chaos of the Near East. In the opinion of some, the outpacing has been too drastic for the good of the children, but it has been necessitated by financial limitations. Apparently the saturation point has been reached, for the time being, in some areas."

The total disbursements during the year were $3,966,329, leaving a balance on the year's operations of $298,993, which has been applied to the deficit remaining from the Smyrna disaster. The balance sheet at the end of the year shows a remaining deficit of $298,229.

Total expenditures by the Near East Relief since its organization have been $90,337,820, of which $24,000,000 was spent in Armenia, $20,000,000 in Turkey, $11,000,000 in Syria and Palestine, $7,500,000 in Mesopotamia and Persia, and $3,000,000 in Greece. During the same period, the "national headquarters expense," including administration, publicity and supervision, was $4,586,000, or approximately five per cent, of which more than half was met by special contributions for expense and interest on bank balances.

REGIONAL PLANNERS GIVE ZONING ADVICE

Have Studied Court Decision And Urge Waiting Until High Court Acts

As a matter of service to the committee in the region of Chicago the committee on legislation of the Chicago Regional Planning association has given study to the effect of the recent decision of the Illinois Supreme Court in the Aurora Zoning case.

It seems that several of the cities and villages in Illinois are at work on amendments to the ordinance to make them conform to the decision. There is a divergence of opinion in regard to the exact meaning of certain parts of the decision.

A petition for re-hearing of the case is being presented to the Illinois Supreme court and will probably be acted upon at the April term. The court has before it another zoning case, this one from Evanston and a decision of this case is expected at the April term.

In view of the petition for re-hearing in the Aurora case and the pending Evanston case it is suggested that no final action be taken by city and village councils in amending existing zoning ordinances. It is also suggested to those cities and villages which are preparing ordinances that their final action be deferred until the pending cases are decided, but this should not be construed to advise delay in taking preliminary steps to prepare for the final enactment of such ordinances.

The city of Chicago is proceeding with amendments to its zoning ordinance so as to change all blocks containing non-conforming uses to the zone in which those uses are permitted.

The committee feels that most of the cities and villages of the region do not immediately need to go to the extent that the city of Chicago has done, and that the weight of advantage is in favor of delay until the decision of the State Supreme Court in pending proceedings.
