NEW GENERATION IS FACTOR IN EUROPE
IN DETERMINING FUTURE
So Says Executive Secretary of Illinois Committee of Near East Relief; Trained in American Ideals

The present up-coming generation in that section of the world known as the Near East constitutes one of the most important factors in determining the future of Europe. This was the statement of F. J. Michel, executive secretary of the Illinois committee on Near East Relief, in connection with a conference of state directors of the organization from the middle west held in Chicago this week.

Humanitarian Work
"Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the necessity of the humanitarian work being done by the Near East Relief in that section of the world, just now the central point of menace to world civilization as we know it," said Mr. Michel. "During the last three years the task of this organization has gradually emerged from refugee relief to a program for children. In our institutions we have nearly 40,000 of these boys and girls left orphans when their parents were either massacred by the Turks or met death through exposure and disease.

To Live Like Americans
"We are training these children now in our institutions to appreciate and live according to American ideals. We are giving them simple elementary education and instructing them vocationally in trade or agriculture, so that when they leave our institutions they will be self-supporting and self-respecting young men and women who will form the backbone of the citizenry that is to remake this war-torn section of Europe. If our hopes are even approximated the beneficial influence of this large mass will be felt for centuries.

Of Same Generation
"These youthful dependents upon American philanthropy are all of one generation and they are undertaking life's responsibilities at a time in the history of this section of the world when new social and governmental institutions are being developed, and when old traditions have been struck off like shackles. America must continue its humanitarian work for them. The Near East asks that continued support."

KENILWORTH CLUB HAS FINAL SESSION
The Neighbors Organization of that Place Elects New Officers

The Neighbors of Kenilworth closed their club year with a luncheon and annual business meeting. The social committee under its able chairman, Mrs. Otto Owen, completed the year's work by making this luncheon a most enjoyable affair. A resume of the work done by the club was given in the reports of the officers which were read following the luncheon.

The club has completed its quota of the state endowment fund and at the close of the year, has 226 active members, six junior members, and 29 non-resident members.

At the close of the annual meeting, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Harry Vissering, vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. A. Walter Knoop, recording secretary; Mrs. Roy Halbur, treasurer; Miss Barbara Erwin, chairman of art and literature; Mrs. Alexander Joslin, chairman of philanthropy.

Two vacancies have occurred on the board, by the resignations of Mrs. Ernest Fleichman, chairman of music; and Mrs. Otto Owen, social chairman, both of whom are leaving Kenilworth. The board has appointed Mrs. A. B. Spach as chairman of music, and Mrs. A. B. Adair, social chairman.

The opening meeting of the new year will be on Oct. 8.

Two camps are to be opened for the first time this summer, Camp Martin Johnson for older boys near Ludington, Mich. and Camp Wabash for colored boys near Benton Harbor, Mich. Other camps are Camp Hastings, Lake Villa, Ill.; Camp Duncan, Volo, Ill.; Camp Pinewood, Twin Lakes, Mich.; Camp Channing, Pullman, Mich.; Camp North Woods in the Lac du Flambeau Indian Reservation in Wisconsin; and Camp Nawakwa for men, also in the reservation.

Over 3,000 boys and men can be accommodated under canvas as individuals or groups for periods ranging from one to ten weeks and of course they are not run for profit.
