FEW ACCIDENTS IN EVANSTON IN JUNE

None Serious and No Fatalities, According to Records of the Police

Evanston had a quiet month in the way of accidents, and the accident book has no tale of fatalities, or even serious injuries to tell for the last month's smash-ups. There were seventeen accidents reported for the month, fourteen of which were traceable to motor vehicles.

Out of the fourteen motor vehicular accidents, only three occurred in business districts, and only one was serious. A curious feature is that out of the fourteen accidents reported on the station accident book only six happened after dark. Three of these were at midnight or after.

The favorite time seems to be from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, or at about 9 o'clock in the morning. Speakers during the month of July for the Sunday evening community services, sponsored by the Evanston churches, were announced recently.

BOY SCOUTS LEAVE FOR SUMMER CAMP

Evanston Contingent Hundred in Number Go to Resort in Michigan

One hundred Evanston Boy Scouts, under the supervision of Dr. E. D. Kelly, local scout executive, and his staff of assistants left Evanston early Monday morning for Camp Wabango, Mich. The first contingent will attend camp until July 18, when a second group of scouts will take possession of the camp.

Dr. Kelly and his ten helpers have been in Michigan for the last week engaged in making the camp ready for the scouts. Donald Boulton, camp manager, Frank Conley, activities director, and Jack Linguist, steward, will assist Dr. Kelly in the management of the camp. Other officers will be John Singleton and Jack Lewis, assistant stewards; Bert Fox, bugler and storekeeper; John Page, quartermaster; Al Welch, assistant quartermaster; Robert Maxwell, camp chief, and Charles Buresh, hostman.

In the course of their stay at the camp the scouts will care for the young forest of 10,000 Christmas trees which were planted recently in the camp area through the co-operation of the federal and state forestry bureaus. Income derived from the harvesting of the first next fall will be used to defray the expense of paving a road through the camp territory.

Pyramidal army tents for sleeping quarters, a large mess hall, store and postoffice help to make life comfortable for the boys. The camp contains 100 acres of beautifully wooded forest and dune land, extending for nearly a mile and a half along the sandy beach of Lake Michigan and the wooded shores of Duck Lake.

NEW POLICE CHIEF NOW IN EVANSTON

Wiltberger Installed Formally Last Week; Mayor Talks to the Force

"Co-operation or resignation" was the keynote of a talk given by Mayor Charles H. Bartlett to members of the Evanston police force at an inspection last week, the occasion marking the formal turning over of the department to Chief W. A. Wiltberger.

The mayor talked in plain terms to the men and in a few terse statements made it known that any signs of disloyalty to the force would result in changes in the department. "Only harmony among members can bring about results here," the mayor declared. "We insist that you men give Chief Wiltberger the co-operation he needs in putting over the program which the department has planned for the future."

FOUNTAIN SQUARE AT EVANSTON TO REMAIN

Evanston rose to the defense of Fountain Square last week following the threat of the city council to recommend the removal of the historic little park.

Even Mayor Bartlett, who remained noncommittal during the debate in the council over the matter, later came to the defense of the park.

The square with its shade trees and fountain never will be removed, the mayor declared.

"The council hasn't any more chance of removing Fountain square than it has the lake," said Mayor Bartlett. "The square is more dear to the hearts of Evanstonians than any other center in the city. It has been acquainted with Evanston history since 1876, when it was dedicated as a centennial marker. The council won't remove it if I can help it."

Mrs. Julian Goodhue of the Fort Dearborn chapter of the D.A.R. also objected to the idea of abolishing the square.

NEW ROW BOATS FOR BEACH LIFE GUARDS

Rowboats for the service of Evanston's life guards have been provided for all five city beaches. Nelson G. Wetting, head of the life guard service, announced last week. Up to this time the guards have been handicapped in equipment, but with one boat provided for each of the beaches there will be less danger of accidents, it is believed.

EVANSTON BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS MANY

OVER MILLION IN JUNE

Makes Fourth Month in Which This Sum Exceeded; City Record Earlier This Year; City Work

Building permits totaling $1,257,750 were issued at the Evanston city hall during June. The sum made the month the third largest since January in point of number of permits given, and the value of building represented.

One hundred and forty-two permits were taken out in June, ten less than in the preceding month. The permits, however, showed a $229,500 building increase over May.

By going over $1,250,000 last month, June became the fourth million-dollar month so far this year. January and February fell below the million mark, but in March construction picked up considerably.

In the month's summary twelve types of building construction were included. Forty-four single-family bungalows, ranging in value up to $35,000, made an outlay of $489,500. Seven two-family dwellings had a value of $98,000.

Two-family dwellings with stores attached come in for $28,000, while three apartment buildings amounted to $190,000. One of the apartments is scheduled for $140,000 and two others at $25,000 each.

There were two apartments with stores, valued at $88,000. One is to be located in the north part of Evanston, on Harrison street, and the second on Howard street in South Evanston.

A permit was issued for the construction of an addition to the First Presbyterian church of Evanston at a cost of $200,000. One public garage at $45,000 and fifty private garages costing $27,750 are to be constructed.

EVANSTON PLANS NEW CITY BAND

Thirty-five Musicians Attend Initial Meeting to Start Organization

First steps in the organization of Evanston's Civic Band were taken at a meeting last week of the bandmen with George M. Taylor, who will direct the players.

Thirty-five musicians attended the opening meeting and made plans for the future development of the band. It is being sponsored by the Optimists Club of Evanston.

Instruments and instructions will be supplied free to the bandmen until they learn to play. Mr. Taylor will teach each member of the band.

As soon as the band is thoroughly organized a series of public concerts will be held.

NOTABLE WEDDINGS FEATURE LAST WEEK

Madeleine Childs and William A. P. Pullman Married at Lake Forest

The marriage of Miss Madeleine Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Childs of Lake Forest, to William Allan Pincusson Pullman, son of Mrs. William Charles Pullman, of 199 Lake Shore drive, was one of last week's outstanding social events.

The service was read by the Rev. Dr. George Roberts in the First Presbyterian church of Lake Forest, and a reception followed at Shadow Lawn, the country place of the bride's parents at Lake Forest.

The bridal gown of ivory tulle was made with a full godet skirt and low-pearl girdle. The veil of tulle was caught in a close-fitting cap of tulle of rare old family lace. Sprays of orange blossoms fell in long sprays from either side of the cap almost to the waistline. The gown was made with long close-fitting sleeves, falling high in the back and a modest skirt in front.

The train of rare old family lace fell from the shoulders several yards on the floor in courtly fashion. The bridal bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Claire Childs attended her sister as maid of honor and wore a lavender chignon and a lavender hat. Her flowers were yellow roses and sprays of green.

The bridesmaids—Mrs. Thomas C. Demmey, Jr. (Miss Marion Warner), Miss Harriet Lowden, Miss Anna Carpenter, Miss Laura Thompson, Miss Helen Isham, Miss Louise Schell, Miss Ann Beebe and Miss M. J. Park Kaye—were gowned in green and lavender and carried green sprays and yellow roses. Peggy McVane and Anita Smith were flower maids and wore dainty green frocks.

Hale Holden, Jr., served as bridegroom as best man and the ushers were William A. P. Pullman, Richard Robertson, Clymer S. Bowen, J. Ogden Ketting, Thomas C. Demmey, Jr., Edison Dick, Samuel Inull, and John McVaine.

Mr. Pullman and his bride have gone on a two months' honeymoon to Honolulu.

EXPECT CROWD AT BIG CHURCH CONIC

Christian Congregation in Evanston to Have Annual Outing July 11

A large crowd is expected to turn out for the Sunday School picnic of the Christian Church of Evanston on Saturday, July 11, when school members are to spend the day at the forest preserves.

A varied program of sports and games, under the direction of Russell Crabbe, assistant physical director of the Evanston Y.M.C.A. is planned for the occasion.

There will be separate events for boys, girls, men and women. On the program are included the treasure medley race, dashes, slipper race and hunt, target throw, jump-shot, balloon blowing.

OLD PIRATE SHIP IS AFOAT AGAIN

FEATURE AT WILMETTE

Sank in Storm Last December But Raised After Month's Work; Will be Wholly Renovated

The Port o' Missing Men, a reproduction of an old pirate ship, is riding the waves in Wilmette harbor once again. After six months' sojourn at the bottom of the harbor the rakish craft was brought to the surface last week by a crew of divers and mariners who have been working on her for the last month.

She came up quickly after the pumps started. The lake gave her up suddenly, just like it took her away in the storm last Christmas eve, when the wind and ice combined to pound her timbers asunder and send her to the bottom.

And as she floats in the quiet waters of the harbor today there is nothing to indicate that the peculiar appearing hulk had been kept secure in Davey Jones' locker for months. Her in'tards are caked with mud, and a few of the bulkheads have been smashed, but otherwise she is sound and sturdy.

Workers Feared a Jinx. There were times during the last month when the men laboring to raise her from the deep were certain that a jinx or perhaps the ghosts of similar ancient craft were conspiring to thwart their efforts.

Repeated trials to bring the vessel to the surface recently have proved futile. Once the workmen had her partially raised with the water rushing from her hold, when suddenly one of the pumps broke and she again settled back on the bottom of the harbor.

But last week the task went through successfully. The pumps began their work of clearing the hull of water. As the water was emptied from her the boat began to rise slowly. Soon the front hatch, which had been coffer-dammed, was empty and the bow popped up. It was only a few minutes more then until the ship was once again back on the surface and the job was done.

Craft to Be Restored. Work will now get under way by the owners of the vessel to put her back in her original condition as the clubhouse of the Buccaneers' club.

The entire boat will be gone over and cleaned. A corps of painters and decorators will be put to work immediately to shine her up and fit her properly.

As soon as the boat is made ship shape once again the club will start its belated summer program of dances and parties which have been postponed until the craft was in readiness.

Former citizens are welcomed back to the Old Home Week celebrations, and it is not considered inappropriate if they make generous gifts to their former places of residence.
