SOCIAL & PERSONAL

The wedding of Miss Gwendolyn Purdy, daughter of John D. Purdy, Jr., of North Sheridan road to Sherwood Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Johnston of Rye, N. Y., took place on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Frank Pitt reading the service. The bride's gown was of white satin and crepe, with an embroidered panel down the front and back. The tulle veil fell from a crown of rare old rose point lace and the bridal bouquet was of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Miller Jordan, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a corn yellow chiffon gown and a garden hat of pencil blue horsehair braid trimmed with blue velvet. The bridesmaids, Mrs. W. W. Kimball (Dorothy Purdy), Miss Mary Kimball, Miss Agnes Sherwood (a cousin of the bridegroom), and Miss Josephine Faxon, were crowned in flowered chiffon frocks, corn yellow being the predominating color. They also wore hats of pencil blue horsehair braid trimmed with velvet. Ary Lamme of New York served as best man and the ushers were Austin Smithers, Francis Smithers, Leonard Winans, Wallace W. Kimball, Jackson K. Dering, Jr., Robert Shanley, and S. Miller Jordan.
