SOCIALIST CLAIMS ANSWERED IN BRIEF
UNITED STATES DIFFERENT
Morris Hillquist's Doctrine of Public Ownership Is Answered By Well Known Magazine
Why is the United States so different from any other country on earth?
Because the founders of this nation drew up a constitution and built a practical working form of government around the central idea of personal liberty for the individual unhampered by official red tape and bureaucratic control and regulation.
In spite of the prosperity in this nation, in spite of the advantages and opportunities offered the individual as compared with other nations, there is constant agitation to replace the time-tested and successful American policy which favors private initiative and enterprise with European forms of socialism which stand as rank failures in comparison with American progress.
In a recent debate, Morris Hillquist, national Socialist leader, attempted to show the advantage of public ownership over private ownership of industry. "The main tests of the comparative merits of the two systems may be enumerated under the following heads:" said Mr. Hillquist. "One, cost of service; two, its quality; three, position of employees; four, effects on public life. On all of these tests public ownership proves itself superior." Such statements should not go unanswered.
Cost of Service
As to cost of service: It is a generally accepted fact that where politics enters into the management of an industrial undertaking, cost of operation increases. But given the same management, the only saving a publicly operated property could make over a privately operated property would be through less interest it might have to pay by financing itself with tax-exempt bonds. This would not be a real saving because the tax load which the public property would escape would not be eliminated but simply shifted to the shoulders of other taxpayers. With state and government regulation of public utility industries as it exists today, and equally good management for each, the cost of service from public or private plants would be the same if both were self-supporting.

As to the effect on public life, re-Hillquist cannot point to another country in the world where the common everyday citizen has such service from electric light, telephone, street railway, gas and railroad companies, as he does right here in the United States. Even royalty cannot have it as good in most European countries.
When it comes to the position of employees, Mr. Hillquist's argument has not a leg to stand on. Under the leveling effect of socialism, what chance has a public employe to better his condition by long and faithful work?
Politics would rule the top positions and offer little reward for a lifetime of service.
Effect on Public Life
As to the effect on public life, resulting from public ownership of basic industries, it would paralyze initiative and ambition and remove the very spirit which the founders of this government wished to build up in the consciousness of the American people. What a race of dependents would be developed if all had to depend upon the government for a job. The paralyzing effect of socialism upon our public life is the greatest argument against it.
While Mr. Hillquist is endeavoring to turn private industry over to government ownership, private industry has been quietly turning itself over to the people. In other words, every large industry in the United States today is placing its securities in the hands of small stockholders, until millions of persons are now the actual owners of so-called Big Business which the Socialist would destroy. Every man, woman and child who has an interest in one of these American industries is interested in seeing it succeed. Success can only come to "their" property as it renders a good public service. Where the stockholders are also consumers, customers and employes, they are interested in both good service and fair profits.
How much greater incentive is there for an employe who is an owner than for an employe in a government industry who knows that no matter what he does he can own no share in that industry or its earnings, and that periodically the heads of the government institution will be changed by the political party in power.
Large Bank Deposits
Can Mr. Hillquist and his associates point to another nation of 110,000,000 persons occupying 3,700,000 square miles of territory and possessing wealth estimated at $300,000,000,000? Then why try to disrupt the American idea of liberty which offers encouragement to individual initiative? What other nation of similar population can show bank deposits aggregating approximately $40,000,000,000? Life insurance taken by its citizens to the amount of $70,000,000,000? Or 5,000,000,000 acres of improved farm lands valued at $77,000,000,000? 24,000,000 milch cows? 40,000,000 head of other cattle? 40,000,000 sheep and 60,000,000 swine? More than 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn, 1,000,000,000 bushels of wheat, $60,000,000,000 worth of manufactured products and 33,000,000,000 gallons of crude oil produced in a year? More than 250,000 miles of railroad, 250,000 miles of telegraph and 800,000 miles of telephone lines? 20,000 newspapers and other publications to disseminate information and to bind our people by ties of common knowledge and for a common purpose?

Why should advocates of socialism with their record of failure in all parts of the world, come before the American people and ask that our American system of government, which has given the individual the greatest freedom, opportunity, advancement and wealth of any country on earth be changed for a system which lowers the individual to a common level and makes him merely a pawn in the game of government?—The Manufacturer.

CUBAN TEACHERS STUDY AMERICAN EDUCATION
A vacation excursion of 84 Cuban educators, composed of teachers, school officials, representatives of the Cuban department of instruction and belles arts, and of the University of Habana, under the guidance of Dr. Francisco Gonzales Cuesta, is now in this country for the purpose of studying educational institutions and methods in the United States. According to advices from Frank Bohr, American consul at Cienfuegos, Cuba, the party is not official, but it is financed partly by popular subscription and partly by the individuals composing the party. A similar former visit of Cuban teachers in 1900 was productive in improving the organization of the public school system of the island, and Mr. Bohr expresses the hope that American school officials and private organizations will unite in making the visit of this party a memorable event.
