BROADER SERVICE PLANNED BY MOOSE
BRANDON GIVES PROGRAM
 Executive Secretary of L. O. O. M. Announces Some of the High Lights in Lodge's Plans

Stop the separation of families, make it possible for every boy and girl to get at least a high school education, service for babies in the slums and tenement districts, service for distressed girls and provide sufficient food for all school children, are some of the high-lights of a program for broader service by the Loyal Order of Moose, according to Rodney H. Brandon, executive secretary of the order.

Secretary Brandon said that plans are being made to enable every Moose lodge, and there are 1700, to procure acres of land at the edges of their respective cities, upon which are to be erected bungalows, so that emergency service can be given to all strikers families, whether or not they are in any way affiliated with the Moose order.

Most interesting thing in the world," Mr. Brandon said, "is a baby. The Loyal Order of Moose has a corner on babies. We have more babies under our wing at Mooseheart than any other agency. Over 100,000 babies a year in the United States are taken from their mothers and given out to institutions, and then adopted out, under numbers, until they get a new name, and they never again know their parents or brothers or sisters. Not one mother or father, if on a death bed would ever be willing to agree to such care for their own children, yet they permit it for others.

"The Loyal Order of Moose, in its short life of 19 years can pat itself on the back for its achievements, the greatest in history. It has collected millions of dollars and has expended the money in giving the best kind of homes to 2,000 children, several hundred mothers and hundreds of aged Moose and their wives.

Millions in Distress
 "There are millions of babies in distress and we must take the role of crusaders and look over the earth and save the army of babies who may be lost.

"We are working out a system, whereby men and women who are members of the Moose order will give service to all helpless babies in their communities and provide them with necessities of life and schooling, to help make good citizens of them. We are going to have Moose committees in every city rap on doors of school rooms and learn the identity of all undernourished children, and feed them. We are going to provide food for all hungry children, so that children whether or not their parents are members of the Moose, will be enabled to get at least a high school education. Under our system no child will have to leave school to help earn money for the family. We are going to eliminate poverty and economic reasons which compel children to leave school before they should."

SWITCHBOARD IS AN ESSENTIAL TO POLICE
 Members of Department Assigned As Headquarters Operators Have Hard Job

It would be hard to find a police headquarters in the whole country not equipped with telephone service. It may be only a single telephone instrument of the desk or wall type, or it may be that a private branch exchange switchboard with several operators is required to take care of routine and emergency calls.

Not only does each police department of any size have its own police signal system, but its headquarters switchboard is connected with the public telephone system, making it an important factor in the protection of life and property, the capture of criminals and the prevention of crime.

In handling emergency calls, the police headquarters operators become very skillful and their prompt and intelligent action often results in saving life. They can usually differentiate between the frantic appeals of over-excited individuals and cases of real need, but once in a while they get fooled.

In a large eastern city, sometime in the wee-wee hours of the morning, one of the headquarters operators received a call from a central office operator who told him that someone was being murdered. She cut in the police operator on the wire, and sure enough, there was a bedlam of shrieks and cries that fully justified the assumption that a brutal crime was being committed and that prompt action was necessary.

Two detectives hustled to the scene of the excitement which was the office of a junk dealer, and there they found, not a homicidal assault, but a fight of neighborhood cats, who had invaded the office and staged a battle royal during which the desk telephone had been upset, knocking the receiver from the hook and attracting the attention of the central office operator.

TWO NEW OPERAS IN ENGLISH THIS YEAR
 "A Light from St. Agnes" and "A Witch of Salem" on Chicago Program

A world premiere of two operas in English is one of the many definitely established items of interest that will feature the coming season of the Chicago Civic opera. These operas are "A Light from St. Agnes," and "A Witch of Salem."

The libretto of the former is by the well known stage star, Minnie Maddern Fiske, with music by W. Frank Harding of New York City. Mr. Harding is a composer, pianist and organist. He was born and raised in Boston, and as a boy sang in church choirs, after which he went to London where he studied at the London Academy of Music. After three years in England he went to Brussels where he studied for several years with Theo Ysaye, a brother of the well known violinist. After completing his European studies he returned to this country. He has to his credit over 100 published works.

"A Witch of Salem" has been composed by the well known composer of operas based on our own American Indians, Charles Wakefield Cadman. In the presentation of this piece the far east and the far west will meet, for Mr. Cadman lives in Hollywood, Cal., and the writer of the libretto, Nellie Richmond Eberhardt, lives in New York City.

THE EVOLUTION OF LIGHT
 You don't have to be so very old to remember when your mother counted as one of her daily chores the cleaning of the lamp chimneys, trimming of the wicks and the filling of the lamps with oil. You also remember, perhaps, the time when the gas mantle was the supreme light-giver.

When man went from the oil lamp to the electric bulb—sometimes in one jump, sometimes by way of gas, he made a bigger step forward in illuminating than in all his earlier history. Lighting had been a matter of oils and fats, lamps and candles, for unnumbered generations.

The whole history of lighting, almost, is told in the changes made in the first light-house built by the United States as an independent government. It's at Cape Henry at the entrance of Chesapeake Bay. John S. Conway, Deputy Commissioner of Lighthouses, recounts it in a little "Research Narrative" of the Engineering Foundation.

 When the United States finished the light house it used fish-oil. That was in 1792. Sperm oil was substituted in 1810. Our whale fisheries began to decline, and other oils were sought, first rapeseed or colza oil and later lard oil.

Then we began to realize our wealth in petroleum, and kerosene was used. In 1910 a great improvement was made. Wick lamps were discarded and vaporized kerosene, with an incandescent mantle, was installed. But it lasted only a dozen years, when an electric incandescent lamp was substituted.

There's a whole history of illuminants in 133 years: fish oil, whale oil, colza oil, lard oil, kerosene, kerosene gas, electricity!
