The book agents show us the value of acquiring works of literature, but they have not yet shown us how we can get a handbook.

The big cities shouldn't build their skyscrapers so high that it is dark in the upper stories on account of the clouds.

It is wonderful what a crowd you can get out to an entertainment by sending the pretty girls around to sell tickets.

It being claimed that the American people are neglecting recreation, a large number of people will consent to work only four hours a day to make up for this lack.

It frequently happens that the discouraged people who think business is going to be very bad, and that their own business at least is that way.

Claimed the idlers should be set to work, but this may be called illegal, on the ground that it is cruel and unusual punishment.

Being exhorted to "save until it hurts," many men will consent that their wives shall do it on their personal expenses.

TO RESTRAIN DRIVES

Just what legal difficulties insurance companies might encounter in attempting to carry out the suggestion of the Tampa Morning Tribune for prevention of motor accidents is a question, but the suggestion is worth considering. Here is what the Tribune says:

"A sweeping and effective reform in the driving of automobiles could be effected by the insurance companies by the adoption of a rule which would refuse liability insurance, for a term of years, to any owner of an automobile whose negligence in any manner contributes to an accident resulting in injury to any person."

"There is a close psychological bond between liability insurance and unreliability in driving. The man who settles back with the contented feeling that he is 'covered' may get careless and reckless, often without realizing it. The man who knows he is personally responsible for all consequences of his driving is almost invariably careful."

"The tide in the number of accidents and fatalities, increasing daily, will never be turned except by reaching the will of the man behind the wheel. Penalties, regrets, funerals, come at the wrong end of accidents to be effective preventatives."

TESTING ROAD MATERIAL

Three thousand lineal feet of the Lincoln highway immediately west of South Bend, Indiana, is to be used for the first real test of road building materials on this great national thoroughfare. Equal sections each of asphaltic concrete, sheet asphalt, emulsified asphalt, Kentucky rock asphalt, penetration macadam and reinforced concrete will be laid down. Careful check will be made as to the wearing quality of the different materials.

Contracts have been awarded as follows: 500 feet each of asphalt concrete and sheet asphalt at $1.43 and $1.57 per square yard respectively; 500 feet of emulsified asphalt at $1.15 a square yard; 500 feet each of Kentucky rock asphalt and penetration macadam at $1.40 and $1.10 per square yard respectively; 500 feet of reinforced concrete at $2.15 a square yard.

Taxpayers demand a road that will give a maximum amount of wear for a reasonable expense, as there are tens of thousands of miles of road awaiting paving in this nation.

TIME FOR GOOD READING

It is a common excuse among even cultured people that the summer season is too exhausting for solid reading, and hence the consumption of light literature increases in the warm weather.

However, now that the warm season is past, that excuse is not available, and autumn and winter provide ideal conditions for study of good books. Why not try to learn something during the months of cool weather just ahead? Try picking out two or three subjects that you would like to know something more about. One of them might appropriately be along lines affecting the kind of work in which the reader is engaged. Another could well be something about history, so that the reader might gain further knowledge of human progress through the ages. A third subject might be the science of politics and government to afford the reader clearer, better ideas of making a better country.

Every citizen who wants to become more useful ought to read at least half a dozen good books during the next six months. Read and assimilate them thoroughly. By so doing he will have something worth while to think about and talk about. When a person obtains broader intelligence he increases his capacity for successful work.

A very large number of people attended and many later accompanied the family to the service at the North Shore cemetery which was in charge of the military authorities, Mr. Seiffert being a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Mrs. Seiffert desires to express her appreciation for the splendid care her husband received at the Highland Park hospital and to thank the many friends who showed her kindness in these recent days.
